GENIUS WITHOUT CAPITAL.

Is No Good, as This Tramp Found to His Disadvantage.

"I say, madam," exclaimed the tramp, as he passed the window from which a woman was waiting to hail the strawberry peddler who was on the next block, "do you want yer front lawn mowed?"

"I don't know," she answered, "but what it needs it, if you'll do it for ten cents."

"I thought as how maybe you'd offer pie?"

"Pie you can have and welcome," she answered promptly enough.

"Some of your own making?"

"Certainly."

"Lemme see," he reflected. "I don't believe I've got any appetite for pie just at the present, but your pie would be a temptation. You'd give a quarter of a slice, wouldn't you?"

"Yes."

"At a restaurant you couldn't get pie for less'n ten cents a slice. That's common baker's pie. Your kind 'ud be worth twenty cents anyhow, and the gen'rus home-made style 'ud give it double the value. That's forty cents, ma'am—though if I was only hungry I'd rather have the pie."

"Forty cents for what?" asked the woman.

"For mowin' the lawn."

"Not much," she answered; "and you might as well hurry along or get ready to run a race with a large, able-bodied bull-dog."

He closed the gate behind him without a sign of chagrin, merely remarking to himself:

"There's no use talkin', financial genius is no good without capital, and that's all there is to it."—Washington Post.

SUBSTITUTIONS of well-known advertised articles seem to be the order of the day. We deem it only justice to our patrons to warn our readers against this form of piracy. When you want an article, ask your merchant or druggist for it and don't accept a substitute.

One of the prettiest shows in Marshalltown, Ga., is said to be a peach orchard of 6,000 trees planted by the compass in squares, well tilled, beautifully trimmed, and each limb gracefully bending under the precious burden of its blushing beauties.

French Guiana is said to have the most violent thunderstorms in the world. The thunder is almost deafening and the peals come in quick succession.

LAKE TAHOE.

It Is Destined to Become a Great Summer Resort.

It is becoming the general opinion, says the Carson Tribune, that before five years shall have passed away the shores of Lake Tahoe will be dotted with cottages owned and inhabited during the season by not only people of San Francisco and neighboring towns, but by dwellers of the Eastern States, who, by travel, have become acquainted with the salubrious climate of our mountain lake, and, instead of a few hundreds, thousands will make their summer home on Tahoe's shores. Should such prove the case, there will be little use for hotels, as in every separate location stores would be built, and the annual visitors accommodated with all the necessaries of life. A change like this would cause a large influx to the lake every year, and, instead of mere transient visits, those who visited the lake would remain the entire season, for the reason that by owning their dwellings, they could live at one-tenth the expense a residence at the Tallac, or some other hotels, would cost them.

It would be better for all parties, especially the owners of steam and other vessels, and as a railroad will almost certain to be built to the lake from Truckee within a year, the facilities for travel will be so greatly increased that a trip to Lake Tahoe will be entirely one of pleasure.

Several purchases of land have already been made on the shores of that inland sea, and many a snug residence will be added to the number already there, before another winter's snow shall put an end to travel in that direction. By increasing the number of residences, roads which are entirely closed during the winter months would be kept open, and hundreds will spend their winters there hunting bear and other wild animals. In fact, the days of Lake Tahoe's prosperity seem to be dawning rather than, as often spoken of, on the wane.

STATE HORTICULTURISTS.

Their Convention to be Held in Marysville in November.

The Sutter County Horticultural Society lately called a public meeting of the citizens of Yuba and Sutter Counties to make arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the fruit-growers of California who will hold their annual State Convention in Marysville from November 17th to 20th. MOUNT SHASTA.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Lawson's Ascent on the East Side.

The Mount Shasta Herald of the 2d contains the following account of the recent ascent of Mount Shasta by Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Lawson of this city, which was made on the east side of the mountain:

P. S. Lawson and wife, Miss Ruby Hawley and Miss Ada Higginson undertook the ascent of Mount Shasta from the east side last Sunday. They all reached the summitt but Mrs. Lawson, who stopped at Lunch Rock, which, by the way, is higher than Thumb Rock, and thinking it useless did not try to go farther, but when the party returned and reported that it took them one hour and forty minutes from where they left her, she was sorry she did not make the attempt.

Mr. Lawson says the ascent from that side is much easier and the scenery grander than on the west, and he arrived at the monument not the least fatigued, stayed there about an hour and saw a great many things that he had not the time to view on his other trip there.

At Lunch Rock they found twenty or thirty sticks of wood, left there by the surveyors, and they were as sound as the day they were left there.

They took a horse within sight of the monument, and but for two or three steep pitches they could have ridden all the way up.

This is the first party of ladies that have undertaken the ascent from the east side.

Spinal Weakness.

Henry J. Gallagher, 56 Prince street, N. Y., writes:

"Having been troubled with pains in back and chest during the last winter I was compelled to remain at home unable to attend to business, until I was advised by a friend to try one of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. After applying one to my chest and one to my back, in three hours I found relief which I had not got in over three months. I cheerfully recommend them to persons having spinal weakness and lung trouble."

Rheumatism

According to recent investigations is caused by excess of lactic acid in the blood. This acid attacks the fibrous tissues, particularly in the joints, and causes the local manifestations of the disease, pains and aches in the back and shoulders, and in the joints at the knees, ankles, hips and wrists. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive and permanent cure for rheumatism. This medicine by its purifying and vitalizing action, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, and also builds up and strengthens the whole body.
