IN BANCO, JULY TERM, 1871.

ALLEN, C. J., HARTWELL, J.

The King vs. A. C. Buffum.

Exceptions from the last April Term. The defendant was convicted before the Police Justice of Honolulu of violating the provisions of the 4th Section of the Act of July 23, 1868, Ch. 88, Compiled Penal Code, viz.: "Every licensed physician, druggist or apothecary who shall compound, sell or deliver any prescription containing any poisonous drug, or substance deleterious to human life, to be used as medicine, shall enter upon his books said prescription written out in full, with the date thereof, with his own name appended thereto, or the name of the physician who prescribed the same, and the person to whom the same was delivered; and no such prescription shall be compounded, sold or delivered, unless the name of the person compounding, selling or delivering the same, or the name of the physician prescribing the same, be appended to the prescription in full, and every such prescription shall be preserved; and said books and prescriptions shall be subject at all times to inspection of the Minister of the Interior or his agent."

The defendant appealed, and at his trial asked the Court to instruct the jury that the above Section "was designed to apply to written prescriptions only, and not to remedies administered by a licensed physician in the emergencies of medical practice; because the druggist or physician who compounds the prescriptions of another is not to be presumed to know the nature of the disease or remedy, or to whom it is to be administered, and is not responsible for it; but the physician who administered the medicine is presumed to know this, and is responsible for mal-practice if the remedies are not adapted to the disease, and ill consequences result."

The presiding justice declined to give this instruction, and instructed the jury, that "if the doctor administered a poisonous drug or substance deleterious to life, in such quantities as are unusual in the ordinary course of practice, he should have entered the same in his books, which should have been open to the inspection of the Minister of the Interior."

A motion for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against law and evidence, and the instructions, was denied. A motion in arrest of judgment, for error in refusing the instructions prayed for, was denied. A second motion in arrest of judgment was denied, which alleged the following grounds: "1. That the Police Justice had no jurisdiction to render final judgment. 2. If there was jurisdiction, there is no record in this Court of such judgment. 3. There is no record in this Court of any charge against the defendant, showing the time, place or acts constituting any offence against the laws of this Kingdom. 4. That a violation of the Act of June 23, 1868, is not a criminal offence on which a judgment of conviction for a fine can be rendered. 5. That no action can be brought under said Act to recover the forfeiture except by civil process in the nature of a qui tam action."

Exceptions were taken and allowed to each of the above rulings.

W. C. Jones for defendant:

1. The jurisdiction of the Police Justice in civil actions is limited by statute, and is only extended in specified cases of crimes and violations of license laws. The remedy for a forfeiture under the statute is in the nature of a civil action, and must be brought in a Court having jurisdiction specially conferred by statute. The 5th Section of the Act provides, "That any person violating the provisions of this Act shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars for each offence." No form or tribunal is specified, but it must be a competent tribunal.

2. The jurisdiction of inferior tribunals must be shown affirmatively. Crepp vs. Durden, 1 Smith's Lead. Cases, pp. 991, 994, et seq.; Williamson vs. Berry, 8 How., 495. A new statute liability is confined to the words of the Act creating it, and must be construed strictly. 33 Cal. 212; 1 Barb., 647; 1 Coke, 37 a; 5 Mass., 514; 4 Ib., 44; 1 Met., 533; 2 Ib., 55; 4 Pick., 232; 16 Wend., 220; 1 B. & Ald., 850; 3 Hill, 412; 1 Ad. & Ellis, 667; 7 Barb., 337.

S. H. Phillips, Attorney General, for the Crown.

OPINION OF THE COURT BY HARTWELL, J.

The act complained of is termed an offence by the statute itself, Sect. 5, p. 263, Penal Code; and is defined as a misdemeanor. Ib., Sect. 2, p. 1. For an offence within the jurisdiction of Police and District Magistrates, a criminal complaint like the present is the correct procedure. Const., Art. 7. A violation of statute requirements concerning licensed physicians is a violation of a license law within the meaning of the statute which makes all offences of violating license laws cognizable before the police and district justices. Ib., p. 127, Sect. 9, and of pp. 141, Sect. 47, 142, Sect. 51, Civil Code, p. 7, Sect. 11.

The statute plainly requires medical prescriptions containing any poisonous ingredient to be recorded. The instruction prayed for would set aside the statute, and the one given was extremely favorable.

The record is sufficiently full for statute requirements, although if requested at the trial, further specifications would have been required to be given and recorded. Rex vs. Gillingham, 2 Haw., p. 760. The records show a conviction and a judgment before the Police Court.

Exceptions overruled.

[The Attorney General then moved for judgment, which was pronounced by the Chief Justice, who tried the cause,—$150 fine and costs.]

THE Bedford News says: "A Lawrence county man planted a tree in front of his house and named it after his wife. Soon the tree died, and the wife lived but a day or two after. Now you would be surprised at the number of men that are planting trees in front of their domiciles and naming them after their respective if not respected wives—and the sickliest-looking trees that can be found, too—trees that, with the tenderest care, can not possibly live more than two weeks! The dodge is too thin. The women see through it, and have resolved not to die."

A BOSTON TRADER called at a house in Maine some time ago to buy cheese, but when he came to look at the lot, he concluded he would not take it, it was so full of skippers. As he was going off, the farmer said to him: "Look here, Mister, how can I get my cheese down to Boston the cheapest?" He took another look at the cheese, and seeing more and more evidence of its being alive, replied: "Well, let it be a day or two longer and I guess you can drive it down."

Riot in New York.

Governor Hoffman, on the night of the 11th of July, issued the following proclamation:

"Having been only this day apprised, while at the Capital, of the actual condition of things here with reference to the proposed procession to-morrow, and having, in the belief that my presence was needed, repaired hither immediately, I do make this proclamation: The order heretofore issued by the police authorities in reference to said procession, having been duly revoked, I hereby give notice that any and all bodies of men desiring to assemble and march in peaceful procession in this city, to-morrow, the 12th, will be permitted to do so, and they will be protected to the utmost extent possible by the military and police. An escort will be furnished to any body of men desiring it, on application to me at my headquarters in this city, at any time during the day. I warn all persons to abstain from interference with such assemblage or procession, except by authority from me, and I give notice, that all powers at my command, civil and military, will be used to preserve the public peace, to put down at all hazards all attempts at disturbance; and I call upon all citizens, of every race and religion, to unite with me and the legal authorities in this determination to preserve the peace and honor of the city and State. Signed, J. T. HOFFMAN."

NEW YORK, July 12th.—The day opens cloudy and sultry. A dense fog overhangs the city. At seven o'clock the streets presented a moving appearance, not unlike the days of the draft riots of 1863. Soldiers in fatigue uniform are hastening in every direction to report for duty at the armories of the respective regiments. Mounted police patrol the streets. Heavy squads of police are moving to designated points in the city. Extraordinary precautions are being taken to preserve the peace, and the authorities appear to be working with harmony and energy. Printed secret circulars, containing the plan of the proposed attack on the Orangemen, have fallen into the hands of the police, and they have a perfect knowledge of the intentions of the rioters.

At a late hour last night a number of Hibernians got into a row among themselves, in their Hall on Prince street, and a number of them were severely pummelled. All the regulars at Governor's Island, Forts Hamilton and Schuyler, and other forts in this vicinity, have been placed under arms and ordered to hold themselves in readiness to march at a moment's notice. Gen. McDowell has promised a hearty cooperation with the State authorities. The First, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Seventeenth, Twenty-second, Seventy-first and Eighty-fourth Regiments of the National Guard (State militia), are now assembled at their armories. General Schaler and Staff have just arrived at the Central Police office, where their headquarters will be during the day. Governor Hoffman and Staff have established their headquarters at the Clarendon. The revocation of the order of Superintendent Kelso, and Governor Hoffman's proclamation, are received by citizens of all classes with expressions of the liveliest satisfaction.

11 A. M.—The Catholic laborers on the Boulevards have suspended work, and are marching down in a body. Inspector Jameson, with 250 men, has been sent to intercept them. The National Guard are out in full force, each regiment stationed at its own armory. A battery from Castle Garden Park has gone up town. Another battery of twelve-pounders is now crossing from Brooklyn. The marines at the Brooklyn Navy Yard are under arms.

11:30 A. M.—All the streets of the up-town districts have the appearance of a holiday. Groups of loungers were on nearly every corner. Squads of men are seen going towards the western part of the city. The aspect of affairs is very threatening. The men of the marble and stone yards along the East River have nearly all left work, it is supposed for the purpose of opposing the Orange parade.

12:15 P. M.—A riot has commenced at last. The mob began in the vicinity of Eighty-Third Street and Third Avenue, and are driving people from the streets. Two hundred and fifty picked men under Capt. Hedden of the Fifteenth Precinct have been sent there. Prince Street is alive with men speaking in whispers, who, when they observe a stranger approaching suddenly become silent. There was a report that fighting was going on at Hibernia Hall, but before the police reached there everything was quiet.

12:40 P. M.—Fighting is now going on in the Tenth and Eleventh Precincts and along Bleecker Street. The Militia have been ordered to Eighth Avenue and Forty-second Street, where an attack has been made upon Judge Heisen's residence. Large bodies of police have left in stages also.

1:50 P. M.—Severe fighting is going on; several soldiers were wounded and two Ribbonmen killed. The telegraph wires up town have been cut, and the mob have pressed the conductors of street cars on the Eighth Avenue into their service. The troops are firing on the mob in Avenue A, and two of the soldiers have been killed. Harper's building was attacked by the mob who were repulsed.

The police seized 200 stand of arms at the rooms of Fenian Hall, Avenue A, between Nineteenth and Twenty-first Streets, and brought them to police headquarters. The mob did not wait to learn the business of the police but fled at their approach. About 300 men obtained arms from Hibernia Hall and proceeded to the west side of the city, no doubt intending to intercept the Orange procession. A large body of police were sent in pursuit of them.

A man named Conrad Freeman was knocked down and beaten in a most shocking manner. He was taken to the Fourteenth Precinct station house and attended by the police surgeon.

The Governor on learning that it was the intention of the Jersey City Orangemen to parade here, ordered the boats from that city to be stopped and none of the men allowed to cross over, as he did not intend to protect citizens from other States.

The police, backed by the Eighty-fourth Regiment, made a raid on Hibernia Hall, when the mob ran like sheep. A large number were arrested and locked up, revolvers and pistols being found upon their persons. The arms were removed and taken to
