

OREGON MIST.

Friday, August 10, 1906.

Earn the subscription price of this paper one year by sending us two new, cash subscribers.

Rev. O. E. Philbrook will preach next Sunday at Deer Island in the morning and in this city in the evening.

The apportionment of state school funds for Columbia county will be found in another column of this issue.

Each person who will send us two new yearly cash subscribers for this Mist will receive this paper gratis for one year.

The dedication of the new Methodist church at Seapooles will take place next Sunday. A pleasant and profitable time is anticipated.

The "good roads" question is of more importance to the people of this county than is "what shall we do with the Philippines"—Tillamook Herald.

Best brands of hams 11¢ cents; best brands of bacon 10, 11 and 12 cents; Union Meat Co. and Cudahy's lard, best qualities, 45 and 50 cents per 5 lb. pack at St. Helens Meat Market.

The Tillamook Herald says: "The man who clears land enough to feed one more cow adds $50 per year to the permanent wealth of the county, which equals an investment of more than $800 at 6 per cent."

It has come at last. Sidney Dell has announced through the San Francisco Examiner that he will be candidate for president of the United States in the Non Compos Mentis 16 to 1 platform. Ain't that hell.—Astoria Herald.

The Astoria Herald says: "Columbia county has not spent one-third as much money on county roads as Clatsop county, yet her roads are far superior to roads in this county." Wonder what the thunder they have down there?

We have decided to furnish the Weekly Oregonian and Oregon Mist together one year for $1.75, invariably in advance. Better yet: This Mist will be sent until January 1st, 1907. The price of the Oregonian one year is $1.50.

At the quarterly examination for teachers of our public schools, conducted in this city last week, there were twelve applicants, all of whom were successful in their undertaking. The board reports very creditable percentages in each instance.

The directors of this school district last week purchased twenty-two new single desks for the schoolhouse, besides a new desk for the teacher and four new chairs. This furniture will be in place before the fall term begins, which will be September 6th.

This has been an exceptionally clear season as compared with former years, when smoke from the dreaded forest fires obscured the view and made the atmosphere almost unbearable. The many showers of rain throughout the summer have been welcome visitors.

One of the horses of George Lemont's wood team fell through the floor of Muckle's wharf last Friday afternoon. The horse lodged on some beneath timbers after nearly half the body went out of sight, and after being pried up again, save numerous scratches, no severe injury is believed to have resulted.

It is not amiss at this time to suggest that people make use of a liberal quantity of chloride of lime in cess-pools and water-closets. This is the season of the year for typhoid fever and like diseases that thrive on filth. The axiom of "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" applies with double force at this particular time.

We who have been vainly longing for a cool retreat in "any old place" where we might escape the interminable heat, have our desires gratified by remaining at home. Temperature has been so fickle that thermometers are registering all sorts of conditions, and at press hour overcasts and umbrellas had become in evidence.

The lot joining the property of John Scott, in this city, has been purchased by the Methodists of this city, the transfer being made Tuesday, and the work of removing and remodeling the old church on the hill will be begun at once. It is a desirable property for such a purpose, and the building, when removed to its new location, will be in a much more convenient place.

The Rev. W. B. Costley, of Stock-bridge, Ga., while attending to his pastoral duties at Ellenwood, that state, was attacked by cholera morbus. He says: "By chance I happened to get hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and I think it was the means of saving my life. It relieved me at once." The Astoria & Columbia River Railroad Company have arranged to place a special train schedule in effect during the Astoria regatta which will enable visitors to leave Portland in the morning, see all the afternoon exercises and return the same day, arriving at Portland at 10:30 p. m. Trains leave Astoria for Seaside and all Clatsop beach points frequently during the day.

The contest for queen of the regatta at Astoria, which has been the center of interest in that city for some time, was brought to a close last Friday night. Mrs. Normie was elected, having received over 64,000 votes, with Miss Maude Stockton a close second, and receiving over 63,000 votes. Mrs. Harrison Allen, formerly of this city, was a candidate, but she received only about one-half as many votes as either of the ladies mentioned.

Joseph Gaston, of Gaston, Washington county, was in town Tuesday. We heard him remark while here that in 1884 he visited St. Helens for the purpose of purchasing the townsite with a view to extending the West Side portion of the Southern Pacific here and making this the metropolis of Oregon, but his plan failed (we have observed that it did) because the owners refused any and all offers that were made. Mr. Gaston is now quite an elderly gentleman, and he has an extended knowledge of the history of this city, and his recitation of the reminiscences of the early settlement of this section are very interesting.

H. B. Borthwick, the millman of Goble, passed up on the Lulline Sunday evening. Mr. Borthwick cuts about 50,000 feet of lumber per day, and carries on an extensive piling, wood, and towing business. He has rented the Michigan mill at Vancouver, and will start it up in about 60 days. Mr. Borthwick has a contract for supplying 1,000,000 feet of lumber for the new O. E. & N. dock being built at Albina. Mr. Borthwick is a live, progressive citizen, and deserves all the success he attains.—Cathlamet Gazette.

Just because a stranger appeared at the courthouse Tuesday morning and asked to see the county treasurer in order that he might pay his tax, he was at once decreed to be insane. He was an elderly gentleman, and his actions may have been a little peculiar, but we believe he possessed all his faculties. He resides in Washington, where taxes are payable to the county treasurer. He was unjustly judged, but those present are excusable from the fact that at one time in Columbia county's history it was a rather crazy proceeding to pay taxes.

Avon lodge, Knights of Tythias, celebrated its fourth anniversary last Tuesday evening in a neat and fitting manner. After conferring the second rank on two admirable candidates, the lodge-room was thrown open to friends—ladies and gentlemen—and a light lunch of coffee and sandwiches and ice cream was served. During the evening a short resume of the history of the order and lodge was given by two prominent past chancellors, and other appropriate remarks made by members of the order. The evening, up to midnight, was spent in a most pleasant manner, when the friends departed, wishing the lodge continued prosperity.

A. J. Johnson, of Astoria, says there are numerous and extensive fires through the woods in Southern Oregon and Northern California, where he has just been, making it very disagreeable to settlers and very destructive to timber. It is claimed that hunters after deer set most of these fires, but there are so many ways of fire getting out that it is impossible to tell how they are started. No one has been arrested and there seems to be no one whose business it is to look after such matters. If the forests of Oregon, which are one of its greatest sources of wealth, are to be preserved, some legislation must be enacted very soon and stringently enforced.

Reports from parts of the Willamette valley are to the effect that the late long spell of hot weather has injured late-sown grain in a few places. This damage has, however, been offset by the complete extermination of aphid and hop lice, which the hot spell effected. A hopdealer who has been looking through a number of hop yards in various parts of the country says: "Oregon this season produce the cleanest lot of hops harvested for 10 years, no matter what hopgrowers may say." When improvements in harvesting machinery and other things render it possible for farmers to get all their wheat sown in the fall and winter, there will be no late grain to be injured by aphid or hot weather.

Miss Beasia Hackleroad, of Seapooles, met with a very painful accident while boarding the southbound Northern Pacific passenger at Houlton last Friday evening. Her left foot was caught between the bumpers of the smoker and following coach and crushed apparently to a jelly. The air was on and it seemed almost impossible to separate the cars enough to allow the foot to be taken out, but after the lapse of seven minutes the foot was extricated. Dr. Cliff was summoned and replaced the shattered bone. The young lady was removed to Mrs. Scott's private boarding-house, in this city, when the foot was placed in a plaster-of-Paris cast, and the physician now is of the opinion that no deformity will result from the fracture.

A railroad built over a lake. Such is practically the condition of a portion of the Columbia River and Astoria line, where a small chunk of the road sank Saturday night. The passengers were transferred around the park. A large gang of men who were put to work now have repaired the road. The sinking of the road was curious. It happened near Clatskanie. At this point the road skirts the edge of a bog or marsh. Saturday evening when the last train went over the place it was perfectly level. Sunday morning a chunk of the road 300 feet long had sunk to a depth of six or eight feet. A train passing after the sinking would have been telescoped. Some of the officials say there is a lake underneath the bog. The sod and grass has formed a bridge above they think.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about, and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer county, W. Va. For sale by Dr. Ross, druggist.

The second raft of the season to be constructed at the Inman, Poulsen & Co.'s mills is now about half completed. It is not quite so large as the first one, as it will contain only 4,500,000 feet. It differs slightly in construction from the first one, and it is believed that it will make the trip to San Francisco without any such mishap as occurred to the initial raft. It is expected that the raft will be started on its voyage to San Francisco about September 1. The huge raft constructed at the North Pacific mills, which was moored off the Willamette Steam mills property for a while, has been moved to the east side of the harbor in front of where the old coal bunkers used to stand. It was expected that this raft, which contains 5,500,000 feet of lumber, would have been started for San Francisco two or three weeks ago, but there has been delay in getting the tugs.

Ed K. Waite, representing the Pacific Jurisdiction Western Library Company, is in this city with a view to establishing a section of his co-operative club library here. Twenty members are required.

We are in receipt of a folder announcing the third annual session of the Clatskanie High School, which term begins August 29, 1906. The past two years have been productive of successful work in that school, and the people are beginning to appreciate good learning institutions as is evidenced by the number of country people who move to Clatskanie each fall to give their children the benefit of a first-class school.

The county court will meet in adjourned session today to discuss, among other things, the matter of purchasing a portable sawmill for the improvement of county roads. There is one in the city which can be purchased at a very reasonable price, and a committee of the Progressive Association will wait upon the court with a view of purchasing it. As the necessity of making some permanent improvement to highways in the county is apparent to everyone interested it is probable the court will decide on buying the portable sawmill.—Friday's Astorian.

The White Collar Steamer Line will sell round trip tickets for the price of one single fare from any point on the Columbia river to Astoria, and return during the Astoria regatta. Tickets sold on August 15, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23. Parties buying tickets must get them after bought, but can return up to August 24th inclusive. This will enable all parties living along the Columbia river to take in the regatta at Astoria. The committee having the regatta in charge promise a performance of the like of which never was. These tickets are interchangeable with all boats.

About a year has elapsed since Andrew and his balloon started from Spitzbergen, for the North Pole, and no authentic word has been received from him and his two companions. The silent front regions of the north will probably never give up the secret of their fate. Somewhere the drifting snow covers all that is mortal of them or the dark, cold water gives them a winding sheet, and three more names are added to the list of those who have perished in the attempt to wrest secrets from the Arctic regions. But others will not be deterred by their tragic fate. Many good men and true have lost their lives in Arctic snows since Sir John Franklin led the vanguard.

Some of the Portland and Astoria people have been worrying over the increasing scarcity of spruce logs along the Columbia river, and a prominent sawmill man of the latter place has been over on Shoalwater bay hunting for available timber to supply his mill with these logs. He thinks the logs from over there will have to be shipped by rail. The people of Astoria need not go out of the state to secure such logs. There are great bodies of the finest spruce timber on the Nehalem and along all the five rivers flowing into Tillamook bay. All of this country is tributary to Astoria—or at least it must be made so before that city need aspire to assume metropolitan proportions. A railroad from Astoria to Tillamook bay and on through to Salem is what Astoria needs. Then the spruce timber question will settle itself.

The new mail contract with the Astoria and Columbia River Railroad Company, which went into effect last Friday, will give excellent service between Astoria and Portland, and double service between Seaside and Astoria. The mail agent leaving Portland in the morning will run through to Seaside, distributing local mail en route and returning from Seaside to Portland; returning from Seaside in the afternoon he will handle local Astoria mail, and will go back to Seaside the same evening, spend the night there, and go on the through train the next morning to Portland, handling through and local mail all the way. Two mail agents, making these same runs, will thus give daily local mail service over the whole line. The night trains out of Portland and Astoria will handle pouch mail only. This gives Astoria double mail service in both directions.

A large black bear, shot by Mrs. P. F. Tappendoff, of Seapooles, was exhibited in a game market in Portland Monday. One of the men on the Tappendoff place came across the bear first and took a shot at it, but as the brush was thick did not follow up the animal to see whether it was fatally wounded or not, but went to the house and told what he had done. Mrs. Tappendoff seized a loaded gun and started out to see what had become of the bear. She soon found it, and when it saw her it set up on its haunches and looked at her as much as to say: "Well, if ever; what next, I wonder." The next thing was that Mrs. Tappendoff took deadly aim, fired, and the bear tumbled over dead. The animal was in very good condition, but, of course, its fur was not very thick at this season. Mr. Tappendoff, however, is going to have the skin tanned and made into a rug as a trophy for the prowess of his better half.
