FINANCIAL NEWS AND COMMENT

Further Advance in Stocks, With Gains Fairly Well Maintained.

TO-DAY'S CROP REPORT

Wall Street Prepared for a Poor Exhibit—Politics and Money.

In all probability operations in the stock market yesterday were restrained by thought of the important crop report which the Government will make this afternoon. The tendencies of the share list were unmistakably upward, but trading was active only in the forenoon and the afternoon market was rather dull, but prices displayed underlying firmness. At the close substantial gains were shown by the leaders, among which Union Pacific and United States Steel held the foremost place. The early activity was characterized by a renewal of profit taking sales, but these were well absorbed, and indications that an unwieldy short interest may still exist in concentrated form in two or three prominent stocks help to explain the ease with which quoted values are advanced.

It is also beyond dispute that brokerage houses have been acquiring stocks lately, although the increase of public lines can hardly be of more than the most modest proportions as yet. The fact that there has been any such increase at all is, however, a token of the incipient success of whatever campaign for the rise has been under way and on whatever based. Appreciation of the influence which large deposits of Government funds in the banks may have has begun to play a part in the constructive side of the stock market. If the Treasury policy is in any way a measure of inflation, no matter what its intention, securities would naturally furnish the first reflection of it.

Apparently the briskness of forenoon business in stocks was stimulated by the overnight reaction of the grain markets. By the same token the strengthening manifestation in cereals in the late dealings may have retarded the stock market movement in the afternoon. It is hardly likely that to-day's crop exhibit will contain disagreeable surprises. The worst weather of the season has been experienced since the returns were made for this compilation. Again attention has been so much directed this month to the unfavorable nature of the crop weather that Wall Street is prepared for a pretty poor showing in the case of corn and other staples, although it looks forward to a gratifying estimate of wheat condition and yields. Under the circumstances of such improvement as has been discernible in the general financial situation at home and abroad, together with the various effects produced by the Treasury programme, it is possible that the impression of the crop figures on Wall Street sentiment may be of the most transitory nature only, unless the report should turn out to be unexpectedly favorable.

It was noted that the foreign markets seemed to be curiously indifferent to the further pacification of the Balkans. There was firmness at London led by consols, but the Continent was not remarkably enthusiastic over the fresh turn of political affairs, and Berlin was weak on the German trade and industrial reaction. Canadian Pacific's heaviness here was attributable to the Berlin depression, and there was not a little foreign selling of a scattered character, although the backwardness of such issues as New Haven and New York Central could not be ascribed to these transactions. Perhaps the failure of Europe to celebrate the third cessation of Balkan warfare was evidence of the general foreign unwillingness to anticipate the near future, which is loaded with problems of political and financial description. The weekly bank returns abroad were gratifying in the main, but the Bank of England is oddly unable to keep the provinces and the Continent from drawing down the gold, which the bank takes in from South Africa and South America.

The dangers of the Mexican crisis were practically ignored in the financial district. The unsettling trend of political effort at Washington in respect to fiscal matters was illustrated by the proposal of Senator Owen to convert all our paper money into greenbacks with a gold reserve, but finance is not disposed to cross bridges before they are reached, and it is believed that Washington's conceptions are likely to be clarified by the conclusions which will be reached at the national conference of bankers called to assemble soon at Chicago. A reflection of the forthcoming transfer of Government funds to banks in the South and West was discernible in a further weakening of the interest rates on collateral loans, although the relaxation was only in accommodations for the shorter periods.

EXCHANGE CLOSED TO BUNNELL.

Committee Refuses Admission to Former Member.

Irving Bunnell, a former member of the Stock Exchange who on July 10, after a brief career on the curb, bid $38,000 for a seat on the exchange, has been refused a membership by the committee on admissions. The seat for which he bid $38,000 has been sold for $41,000, an advance of $1,000 over the last price.

Bunnell, it is said, sold his former seat in the exchange for $65,000, which was supposed to be an advance of $5,000 over what he paid for it. He then became a curb broker and traded in that market for about six months, giving up his membership in that association the week ended July 12. On July 10 his bid of $38,000 for a Stock Exchange seat was announced, the seller being Edwin T. Maynard.

As a result of the committee's refusal to admit Bunnell Edwin T. Maynard is $3,000 richer by the sale of his seat, which was purchased for $41,000 by Rush G. Estee.

During the last few weeks the price of Stock Exchange seats has been advancing. Not long ago a seat sold for as low as $37,000, the lowest price since 1899, when $29,500 was paid. Since then there has been a sale at $40,000.
