October 25, 1851.

Thirty-Second Congress—First Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4, 1851.

Senate.—Messrs. Badger and Douglas appeared in their seats to-day.

The Chair laid before the Senate a number of Executive documents—being the lists of invalids, widows and orphans on the naval pension lists; copies of the accounts of the Treasurer of the United States; report of the Superintendent of the Coast Survey, and report of public expenditures by the Governor of Oregon Territory; all of which were read and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Underwood introduced a joint resolution, making land warrants assignable.

Mr. Clemens gave notice of a joint resolution imposing on Major Gen. Scott the brevet rank of Lieutenant General.

Mr. Gwin introduced a number of California bills.

Mr. Fish gave notice of a bill to establish a branch mint in New York.

Mr. Foote introduced his joint resolution expressive of the sympathy of Congress for Smith O'Brien and the other exiled Irish patriots. Also his resolution declaring the compromise acts a definitive settlement of the questions growing out of the institution of domestic slavery, which was made the special order for Monday next. Mr. F. announced that it was his intention to leave the Senate on the 20th instant.

Mr. Hale submitted a resolution, which was laid over, inquiring whether the law abolishing flogging had been violated by any naval officer.

The joint resolution providing for the reception and entertainment of Kossuth was taken up.

Mr. Foote said, as the resolution could not be acted on by the House in time, and as it met with unexpected opposition, he had concluded to withdraw it, and leave to do so was granted.

Mr. Seward gave notice of a joint resolution extending to Kossuth a cordial welcome to the capital and country.

After an ineffectual effort to go into the election of Chaplain, the Senate adjourned.

The House did not set to-day, having yesterday adjourned over until Saturday.

Dr. Kinkel and the Negroes.

The stimulus which the wild politics of the German Socialist professor has lent to the feelings of his fellow-countrymen in America, we foresaw, would be misdirected, and the confidence so easily given as easily abused. And here we have a specimen of his work, brought to light in a late number of the Cleveland Plaindealer, in the shape of a resolution adopted at a meeting of the German Political Club of that city:

"Whereas, The colored people, in their meeting held on the 17th inst., have expressed their sympathy with the German Nation by a resolution to actually aid the German National Loan, the German Political Club resolves:

"1st. To express its hearty thanks, and avails itself of this opportunity to declare the conviction that the German people, as soon as they shall have obtained the democratic Republic in the coming struggle, will use all means which are adapted to abolish Slavery, an institution which is so wholly repugnant to the principles of true democracy.

"2d. That this resolution shall be published in all the newspapers of this city."

Whatever may be thought of the policy of this proceeding, as a means of swelling the funds of the German movement, we are amazed at the boldness of the step. The socialistic reform is not only to be a general measure; it is not only to put the red cap upon the heads of all the republicans of Europe, and there upturn the whole existing state of things, through an abstract craving for change; but when affairs have been reduced to any thing like the requisite degree of disorder and disorganization abroad, we are to have their invaluable services in ameliorating the distasteful features of these American institutions of ours. There is to be at that millennial period, the addition of the Union and amalgamation to the doctrines of socialism, and with this two-edged sword they will doubtless be able to pierce to the dividing asunder of the Union. Would it not be well for our Garibsonian folk to invest their capital in Dr. Kinkel's revolutionary fund, on the understanding that it is to be received back at maturity in anti-slavery labors at the South? Will it not endanger the property of the great money scheme, to sacrifice the sympathy of our whole white population for the enterprise, and supply its place with the doubtful assistance of the colored race? [N. Y. Times.

The Treason Case.—A Philadelphia dispatch of the 4th instant, says:

The defence of Castner Hanway was resumed this morning.

There was a large attendance of ladies in the Court-room, and a number of members of the Anti-Slavery Society were also present.

After the testimony shall have been all submitted, it has been arranged that three counsel shall speak on each side. Mr. Ludlow will open for the United States. Some little disorder manifested itself when the Court-room doors were opened, by a rush of persons for admittance.

Judge Grier said, that the room would have to be cleared, if order was not preserved. This notice had the desired effect for a time; but a second rush was subsequently made, when the officers threatened to close the doors.

This threat succeeded in restoring order, and the trial proceeded. Mr. Stevens, for the defence, called up a number of witnesses, who testified to the general good character of the prisoner Hanway. The defence here rested their case. Mr. Ashmead, on the part of the United States, then introduced rebutting evidence to show the good character of Deputy Kline, and this testimony was being heard when this dispatch closed.

A large number of witnesses, in addition to those mentioned this morning, were examined with regard to Kline's character, who all testified to his veracity and general good deportment. The United States offered to show the state of feeling in Christiana long previous to the present disturbance; that armed bands of whites and blacks had paraded the country, to oppose the law of Congress. A long discussion arose on this point, and it was finally overruled by the Court. Another witness was called to show that the negro alleged to have been abducted was a runaway slave, and this was also overruled.

Harvey Scott, a negro, was called on to state what took place at or about Parker's house during the fight, and although he had previously made two affidavits in regard to the circumstances, yet when he came to testify positively, he denied having been there, and said he had made the statement through fear.

There are two or three witnesses yet to examine, when the counsel will commence their argument to the jury. James Ludlow opens for the U. States, and will be followed by Joseph Lewis for the defence. Mr. Brent will succeed Mr. Lewis, and will be followed by J. M. Read or Thaddeus Stevens, Esqs. Senator Cooper will conclude for the United States, when Judge Grier will charge the jury.

Commutation.—Jas. J. Orcutt, convicted of incendiarism, and who was to have been hung at Utica, N. Y., last week, was respited by Governor Hunt. The Governor concludes as follows:

"I therefore send you a commutation of the sentence of Orcutt, under which he will be confined in the State prison during his life. At the same time I deem it my duty to apprise him and his immediate friends that he must not expect from me any further mitigation of his sentence, and, when we consider the heinousness of his offence, it is not reasonable to presume that any future executive will feel justified in setting him at liberty."

Snow.—A heavy snow fell at Philadelphia on Thursday the 4th instant.

Foreign News by the Pacific.

NEW YORK, December 9.

The following items of foreign intelligence were brought by the Pacific:

England—Lieut Pim's Expedition—Large Fire—Bank Failure—Great interest is taken in Lieut. Pim's expedition in search of Sir John Franklin. Lord John Russell contributed from his purse five hundred pounds, and Lord Palmerston advanced sufficient to pay Lieut. Pim's expenses to St. Petersburg.

The cotton factory of Messrs. Dugald & McPhail has been destroyed by fire, and the loss is stated at one hundred thousand pounds sterling.

The Smithland Bank has failed.

Among the passengers by the Pacific are Mr. Rives, Minister to France, and Mr. Winthrop, bearer of dispatches from our Minister in London.

The steamer City of Glasgow arrived out on the 23d ult. The Europa had also arrived previous to the sailing of the Pacific.

France.—Lelevre du Rolf is named as the new Minister of Commerce, and Casabianca as Minister of Finance.

A bill relative to the responsibility of the President and Ministry—providing that, upon articles of impeachment being brought forward by two members, their functions shall cease until investigation may be had—will be introduced in the Assembly.

Hanover.—The new King of Hanover pledged himself to the most sacred observance of the Constitution, and his proclamation upon taking the throne gives great satisfaction to his people.

Turkey.—Latest advices represent the ministerial crisis as past.

Hungary.—Political affairs in this country are represented as being in a most unsatisfactory condition.

Prussia.—The Prince of Prussia is about to take command of the army of the Rhine.

Spain.—Much discussion by the public journals has attended the negotiation in progress in relation to the Cuban invasion, and subsequent demands for explanation, redress, etc.

Liverpool Markets.—Brown, Shipley & Co.'s circular states that there has been no advance in cotton, but that the market is active and firm. Henry quotes Good Ordinary and Middling at an advance of nearly ½d. Of the 25,000 bales sold during the three days, fully one-fourth was taken by speculators, and a small portion by exporters. The sales of the 26th ult. were 8000 bales at full prices.

Provisions generally were neglected. Bacon shoulders were two shillings lower. Lard had declined six-pence to one shilling per cwt. For Flour prices were barely sustained. Corn was in fair request—white 28s. 6d. a 29s.

Money was abundant, and Consols 98¼ a 99.

At Manchester business was active, and prices of yarn were tending upwards.

Messrs. Pryde & Jones, and Harnden & Co., of Liverpool, have failed. The liabilities of the latter firm are stated at about 80,000 pounds sterling. Those of the former are not stated. [Eve. Delta.

The Methodist Book Concern.

The court, in the case of the Methodist Book Concern, have ordered the share of the Church South to be placed in the hands of trustees or agents appointed by them to ascertain what form of transfer would be most convenient or advantageous to both parties.

The decree granted, after reciting portions of the opinion of the court, that a reference be had to the clerk of the court to ascertain and report what was the amount and value of said property and fund known as the "Book Concern of New York," in pleadings immediately before the decision and organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in May, 1845, and of what specific property and effects (according to a general description or class specification thereof,) the same consisted, and what has since been the increase thereof; and of what the same now consists; specifying the profits derived from the "Book Concern" from the time of the General Conference in May, 1844, as reported thereto up to the time of said decision, as also the profits derived therefrom from the last mentioned date to the date of his report.

And also to ascertain and report what part, if any, of such profits have been applied to the use of the beneficiaries of the said fund in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church South, or to the annual conferences composing the same, and to the other beneficiaries of the said fund; specifying by general or average statements, the amounts to each class, and the time of the application thereof, respectively; and further, to ascertain the numbers and proportions of the beneficiaries, qualified according to the usage and discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, first mentioned before and at the time of the said division, to receive the benefit of the said trust fund, taking the proportion which the number of traveling preachers in the annual conferences which formed themselves into the Methodist Episcopal Church South, bears to the number of all the traveling preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church before the division thereof, as such numbers appear in the minutes intended as "the forthcoming minutes" in the resolutions of June, 1844; such minutes to be taken as correct so far as the same extend. And the clerk is further to ascertain and report in what form as to specific property, funds, money or assets, the transfer of the share to be set over as aforesaid, may, with much convenience and advantage to both parties, be made, with the suggestions from each party in relation thereto, which he may think fit to report to this court, in relation to such division; and it is ordered that on the reference and on the hearing before the clerk, the defendants are to produce on oath, all deed accounts, book of account, instruments, reports, letters, and copies of letters, memorandums, documents, and writings whatever, pertinent to the said reference, in their possession, power, or control; and the defendants may be examined on oath, on the said reference, and may have process of the court to compel the attendance of witnesses, and the clerk is to report with all convenient speed; and all equities and questions not disposed of in this decree, and which shall arise on the reference and on the report of the clerk, and all questions of costs, are reserved until the coming on of the said report, each party is at liberty to apply to this court on the footing of this decree, until the coming on of the clerk's report hereby directed. [N. Y. Courier and Enquirer.

Hanging too Good.—A fellow named Sam. Battiestie was recently committed to jail at New Bedford, Mass., on a charge of beating to death a woman named Mary Brown. The prisoner afterwards endeavored to hang himself in his cell, and was discovered just in season to save his life. Perhaps it is well, for hanging is almost too good for him.

Quick Work.—A complete translation of President Fillmore's message into the German language was issued from the office of the German Correspondent, Baltimore, in only four hours after the delivery of the message to Congress! This was certainly quick work, and the editor of that paper, Frederick Raine, Esq., is entitled to much credit for his industry.

The New York Tribune had the message in type in fifty minutes after its reception, and the Baltimore Sun in fifty-three minutes.

Black Noses.—A resolution has been introduced into the Kentucky Legislature which provides "that the keeper of the Penitentiary shall procure a suitable chemical dye, such as will stain the cuticle or outer surface of the skin perfectly black, so that it cannot be washed off, or in any way be removed, until time shall wear it away, and nature furnish a new cuticle or surface; and that with this dye he shall have the nose or each male convict painted thoroughly black, and renew the application as often as may be necessary to keep it so, until within one month of the expiration of his sentence, when it shall be discontinued for the purpose of permitting nature to restore the feature to its original hue, preparatory to the second advent of its owner into the world." The editor of a Kentucky paper is in favor of the resolution, with an amendment that the Sheriff of each county be required to catch every delinquent newspaper subscriber in his bailiwick, and black his nose and keep it blacked until he pays up. That editor must be a sensible man.

Damages for False Trade Marks.—At New York on Tuesday week, Paul Moubin and his wife, who is daughter of the late Louis Arsac Seignette of Rochelle, France, recovered a verdict of $100 against Messrs. Simpson, who had sold a quarter cask of brandy of inferior quality, marked "A. Seignette," which the plaintiffs proved was their special trade mark. Judge Oakley charged that when a person adops a trade mark, and has used it long enough to become known, and the goods are sought for with that mark, the court will protect him in its exclusive use as to his goods. A person, however, is at liberty to place the trade mark on any thing, provided the contents are actually those of the party the trade mark would imply.
