We pulled the first ripe fig from our trees yesterday.

A gentle horse and good buggy for sale. Apply at this office.

Watermelons are ripe. Great excitement in certain quarters.

The Police Jury will meet on Wednesday, the 9th of July. See notice.

Our correspondents and contributors are increasing. The more the merrier.

The Methodist Sunday School will give a picnic at Old Landing next Saturday.

We had a fine rain last Tuesday, which was greatly needed by corn and garden truck.

Fine horses and cattle are rapidly taking the place of the common grades in our town and parish.

According to the weather report, last Saturday was the warmest day we have had, 101 in the shade.

The work of ceiling and flooring the Town Hall has been progressing all the week. Get ready for the dance.

Our livery men are keeping pace with the times, and their fine turnouts are an improvement on those of a few years ago.

The Knights of Honor have been in existence seventeen years, and during that time have paid out over $30,000,000 in death benefits.

District Court, Criminal Term, will convene next Monday, Judge Jas. M. Thompson officiating. All criminals are respectfully invited to attend.

Our thanks are due Mrs. G. W. Sully for the present of some golden dahlia bulbs and other floral plants, which gift is highly appreciated by us.

Strayed.—A light bay mare, from Mr. P. Hooley's place, Liberty Settlement. A suitable reward will be paid for her recovery. See advertisement.

We have had another week of very warm weather, which would be oppressive, but for the delightful breeze that is always stirring from some direction.

Several of our citizens left for New Orleans this morning to bid on the Sulphur Springs property, which will be sold at auction to-day. We couldn't go.

We learn that Capt. John Poitevent has gone North to negotiate for the sale of his vast railroad and lumber interests to a syndicate of English capitalists.

Marshal Dalton paid the sum of $366 04 into the town treasury this week, of which $68 29 were for the special railroad tax, and $197 82 for corporation licenses and taxes.

Hon. C. H. Hosmer, ex-Mayor of Summit, Miss., paid a visit to his relatives and many friends in Covington last week. Sorry we missed the pleasure of gazing on his genial countenance.

The public schools will close in a few days, as the three months are about up. Then commences the usual nine months vacation. This will all be reversed when the Lottery amendment is adopted.

St John's day, next Tuesday, will be celebrated by the Masons all over the world. The Covington Lodge should have a street parade and banquet, and observe the day in a fitting manner.

A young canary bird, a fine singer, for sale. Apply at this office.

RELIGIOUS. — We received a postal card from Rev. L. W. Wood, last Wednesday, in which he states that he has fully recovered his health, and requests us to announce that he will preach in Covington on Sunday, June 29th, at 11 A. M., Madisonville at 4 P. M., and Bonico at 6:30 P. M.

AUTOMATIC SEWING MACHINES!

Prices reduced. Every family now can have the best Automatic Sewing Machine in the market at reduced price. For particulars send for our new illustrated Circular with samples of stitching. Our Illustrated Circular shows every part of the Machine perfectly, and is worth sending for even if you have Machine. Ernst & Murphy Mfg. Co. 243 and 247 West 26th St., N. Y. City.

It always gives us pleasure to note the prosperity of our farmers, and show what can be accomplished here by industry and intelligent management. As an example, we refer to the model farm of Mr. Matthew Perry, about eight miles from Covington on Simalouse creek. His cotton is full of bolls, his peas are fine and bearing well, he has a fine crop of potatoes, plenty of corn laid by, and a large quantity of watermelons, etc. Mr. Perry is a thrifty and enterprising farmer, and his success should stir others to emulate his good example.

The 24th Anniversary of Doughty Chapel, A. M. E. Church, in Covington, was celebrated in grand style last Sunday. There was a very large attendance, and a number of speakers addressed the audience. The address of Mr. J. E. Daniels, on "Home and Enjoyment," was particularly fine. We will publish a full account of the proceedings in a future issue. It is now being prepared by the Secretary.

The sun is hot. One day this week we greased our buggy, the stablemen and groom both having gone off on a picnic. Having loosened the wheels, we laid the wrench on the ground in the sun, and when we went to pick it up, shortly afterward, it was "as hot as h-h-h-h-heated iron" could be without melting. That's how hot the sun is.

Our summer visitors appear to be enjoying themselves riding, boating, fishing, bathing, etc. In a few weeks there will be an entertainment and dance, for the purpose of raising funds to complete our Town Hall, and we have no doubt they will assist us by their presence, and at the same time enjoy a pleasant evening.

We regret to learn that Miss Hattie Keen, daughter of Mr. W. N. Keen, who was severely burned by a lamp explosion nearly a year ago, is still a great sufferer from the effects of her burns. She is in New Orleans, under skilled medical treatment, and is in a critical condition. Mrs. Keen left for the city in the early part of the week.

Mr. G. C. Alexius, proprietor of the Abita Steam Brickyard, sent the first load of watermelons of the season to our town on the 7th inst. Last Sunday he presented the FARMER with two very fine ones, for which he will please accept a bushel of thanks.

A movement was inaugurated last Monday to erect an ice factory in Covington, and before night all the shares but one were taken. We hope the movement will be promptly carried forward. It will not only be a great convenience to our town and surrounding country, but will surely prove a paying investment.

We call attention to the card of Smith Bros., the enterprising Girod street butchers of Mandeville. They keep the choicest beef, veal and mutton, all the year round, at prices that defy competition, and respectfully solicit the patronage of the public.

FIRST BLOOD FOR THE ANTIS.

The election in East and West Feliciana, last Tuesday, resulted in a victory for the Antis, their candidate, Decker, being elected to the Senate. East Feliciana went against the lottery and West Feliciana for it.

The Antis committed three deplorable outrages in their zeal to carry the day. Last Sunday they hung George Swayzie, a prominent negro politician, for distributing circulars asking the negroes not to vote, but to let the white people settle the question for themselves. On election day, at Bayou Sara, they shot and killed Mr. Hilliard Richardson, a nephew of the late Senator Barrow, a popular young white man. On Wednesday they filled the doors of Dr. A. R. Holcombe's residence with buckshot. The doctor is treasurer of the Insane Asylum at Jackson. The Antis carried the day in East Feliciana by the negro vote, and it appears to be a part of their policy to murder those who do not think as they do. But we believe their bulldozing tactics will have the opposite result from what they anticipate, when the matter is in the hands of the great mass of people.

The Antis have drawn the first blood, but in the elections that have lately been held the Lottery men have carried three out of four. This ratio will be increased to at least nine out of ten at the next general election.

THE STANFORD MORTGAGE BILL.

[Thoughts suggested by an editorial in the Picayune, May 29, on the above subject.]

"The radical character of the measures proposed" by the present Congress suggest that we are at or near the time when "The Great Trust Epoch" might be initiated. Political changes are never effected instanter, but for years prior unnoted preparations go on. It is a reasonable conclusion, therefore, that such "measures" would not be brought forward, unless circumstances demand that laws or customs existing should de locum medioribus.

Every reform movement, no matter how beneficial, will meet with opposition and be derided by those who hold conservative ideas, or have vested interests that would be effected by such changes. Theory cannot be criticised with intelligence thoroughly; there must be a trial made before either its good qualities or defects can come to the surface and be seen.

The work of Mr. Bellamy, "Looking Backward," the Educational bill of Senator Blair, and the idea proposed in the bill introduced by Senator Stanford and others, tend to show which way the current of national affairs will flow.

Were such the course, and the Government took it upon herself to become the great educator and mortgage holder, Mr. Bellamy may have over-estimated the time when a modified form of his Socialistic theory shall have become a reality.

All reformers, and especially those who propose to loan Government funds to the farmers on arable lands, must be prepared for strenuous opposition from real estate agents, brokers and usurers, who, occupying positions similar to "Little Jack Horner," would reluctantly give up their plums.

If we are now drawing near the era of trusts, better far that the Government be the holder of our mortgages than that some alien syndicate buy up the innumerable petty concerns, together with those which boast of a firmer footing, and working for individual interests only and inspired by insatiable greed alone, become a menace alike to both national and private affairs.

The Government, through Senator Stanford's measure, does not threaten a blow at the prosperity of properly conducted banking establishments, nor does she enter the "lists" as such; but seeking to benefit a class that deals least of all with them, conducts matters in such a manner as to succor those who need help, without in any way courting detriment or danger to herself. With private corporations the advantages are necessarily local, and for a great part confined to city real estate, or that which by its proximity to such is too valuable for profitable farm lands, and is more susceptible to changes in value, whereas this bill proposes to deal exclusively with arable lands, regardless of locality, distributing capital uniformly over all quarters of our country, and not, as is often the case, having one section glutted and another suffering with a dearth of it, at the same time.

Of the numerous private institutions thus engaged, many are unreliable and are becoming incompetent to meet the demands of the time, the resultant effect being the consolidation of similar branches of business into syndicates or trusts, handling and controlling the work and wages of thousands, and demonstrating, even to opponents, the thorough efficiency and economy of such a "one-headed hydra."

The general result of such a course would be that small and irresponsible concerns, together with multitudes of land sharks and usurers, would be swallowed up, the fittest surviving; capital would be distributed; mortgage interest lessened, and wealthy incorporations be established on such a firm basis as to stand all competition, and be satisfied with equivalent gains.

FROM PEARL RIVER STATION

PEARL RIVER, June 10, 1890.

EDITOR ST. TAMMANY FARMER:

I thought I would write a few lines for your interesting paper, if it is acceptable.

We have a brickyard about two miles south of Pearl River Station, on the Northeastern Railroad. It has been building since December last, and is now in running order. Four masons were working on the kilns last week. It is owned by Messrs. McCurran & Sons.

We will soon have a first-class bar-room at Pearl River Station, and also a meat market. I think the market will be very convenient for our little town and the surrounding country. The proprietor is Mr. Joe Jeppe.

Mr. C. A. Lagrue is still running his store and bar-room here.

Yours truly, DICK-A-PADDIE.

THE VERDICT.

"Gentlemen, what is your verdict?" asked his honor in a western court room.

"Wel," responded the foreman of the jury, "'leven on us wants to hang the prisoner, but the twelfth man sticks to it he ain't guilty, spite of all we can say; so bein' as the twelfth man is a no account fellow, anyway, in order to make the verdict unanimous, we've concluded to hang 'em both."—EX.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The bribery resolution was defeated in the Senate by a vote of 22 to 12.

The report presented by Gov. Nicholls, that there were only 9 indigent insane people in the State was completely demolished by the report of the Attakapas Medical Association, showing that there were 1236 insane persons in the parishes, who could not gain admission to the Asylum, which now has 500 inmates.

The Antis have presented two propositions to the Senate, from Northern and foreign capitalists, offering $1,250,000 for the Lottery franchise. It is believed that this is only a ruse to delay the vote on the Morris proposition.

Judge Bossier's bill, to remove the capitol from Baton Rouge to New Orleans, has been reported on favorably.

The bill to establish a State Weather Bureau failed.

The bill making the abduction of women a crime finally passed. Hereafter any thief who steals a women will go to jail.

An act to provide for the sale of bale cotton by net weight finally passed.

The Sunday law will be amended so as to exempt all cities of 25,000 inhabitants or over. So far as Covington and New Orleans are concerned, the latter city will be the only one of the two that will be affected by the change, owing to population.

The new license bill proposes to increase the lowest bar-room license from $50 to $200.

A bill providing for the election of Assessors and Police Jurors, was indefinitely postponed.

MANDEVILLE ITEMS.

MANDEVILLE, June 19, 1890.

EDITOR ST. TAMMANY FARMER:

The past week we have been enjoying most beautiful weather. A refreshing breeze in the daytime, and at night and early morn a light north wind, caused by the summer showers, made the mornings most agreeable for riding and driving.

Our town is still booming. The following families have located here for the summer: Mr. L. Laroque's, Mr. Quirk and family, E. D. Duplantier's, E. D. Daboval and G. B. Galonger.

Our honorable Mayor has a gang of workmen on the breakwater and bridges. The second Monday in August seems to have a little influence on the City Fathers.

Our stores are lowering their prices, and the butchers and bakers are vieing with each other as to who will have the best.

The new rendezvous of Cunin has been named the "Jewell," and the "shingle" was hung up last week. Beverages of all sorts, strong and mild, are of the best brand.

At Paul's Exchange the run on the "grippe cure" is gaining in popularity. Paul always has a "smile" for his customers.

The fishing is always good, and croakers and crabs are abundant.

No lack of vegetables and strawberries, and we can say that Mandeville is the Brooklyn of New Orleans.

Our town would flourish as the seashore towns do if we had railroad and telegraph communication with the city. Where would Abita and Covington be if Poitevent & Favre had not established a branch of the Northeastern Railroad to those places? Our town authorities ought to look into the matter and take the necessary steps, and consult with Capt. Poitevent to extend his road to Mandeville from Abita or Florenville. Should they succeed, property here will increase two-thirds in value, and immigrants would fill our land. A word to the wise is sufficient for them.

The Zatarin property was sold at auction last Saturday, and brought the handsome sum of $1875 cash, which speaks well for our town property.

Master Judson Allen left to-day to attend the bicycle tournament in New Orleans. Jud. took all his paraphernalia with him, and is sanguine of success. We wish him luck, and his many friends hope he will return covered with laurels.

That "quick-silver" mechanic, Major Covell, of the New Camelia, is hard at work with a score of men repairing the steamer wharf. He is registered at the Crescent.

Hon. F. A. Guyol, Mayor of your town, passed through here on his way to the city, and registered at Columes. He showed his science while here in cuning 4 balls at his will, and was the champion of the town.

Last Sunday Mr. Roubion, with his fine wagonette and four splendid horses, visited our town with a party of ladies from your place numbering 17 and the driver. Leon handled the team as though he had done nothing but that all his life.

The Paquette gas at the Crescent Hotel is a perfect success. From the pier head and bath house it looks like an enormous beacon, extending its rays far out in the Lake.

We are sorry to hear that before long the mail will be taken away from the Smith Bros. They were always on time in all sorts of weather. The community in general regret the change. TRAVEL.

Written for the FARMER.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE PEOPLE GOING TO THE BOAT?

When the New Camelia whistles,
As with flying down of thistles
All the air is filled with flutterings of the fair.
And the dainty little patter
And the merry maiden chatter
Of their fairy feet and voices fill the air

With such music that I'm certain—
Be, indeed, boys, they're not flirtin',
Not a thought of you in all their pretty heads—
Yes, I'm sure that all you gallants,
With the Chesterfieldian talents,
(It takes talent to make such a how divine,)
Must feel each his heart of oak
Beat with a sledge-hammer stroke,
When the whistle calls this beauty into line.

And that very self-same note
From the self-same brazen throat
Tells the business man its time he was afloat.
So he takes his own umbrella—
Not that of some other fellah—
And he hustles down the wharf way to the boat.

There's the madame, sailing stately
As a gray goose who but lately
Left her brood, and now don't think of them at all.
With a grand and lofty air,
And a blank and icy stare,
That makes ordinary mortals feel so small.

There's the man who walks on eggs—
See him gently lift his legs,
As tho' the walk from under him were going to slip.
There's a swarm of pickaninnies,
Each one eager for the pennies
Of the passenger with bundle and with grip.

There's the "gentleman of colah,"
Who will bet you half a dollah,
He's as chic as any dude in Mandeville.
And in point of style and tone
He does fairly hold his own,
With his elegant spring hat,
Stunning collar and cravat.
Of as chon dude he surely "takes the bill."

There's the cyclist, gay and festive,
Whose steel steed always grows restive
When a certain little damsel is espied.
Then the riant steed he leads,
As he gallantly proceeds
Down the promenade to amble by her side.

There's the man who makes "it" tremble,
Walking leisurely but nimble,
All ungraceful haste he scornfully ignores.
Well he knows that boat must wait
Till he comes to give the freight
Pouring cityward in volumes from our shores.

There he comes—as sure as fate!
That's the man who's always late.
Now his movements growing faster as the bell begins to chime.
With a funny little canter
That a goat would take as bantor,
But he gets there with the gang-plank every time.

There's another dude that's late.
He staid swinging on the gate
For one last word with his darling, don't you know.
Or, perhaps to part his hair.
Or to don a different pair
Of unmentionables. And
Half way out, now see him stand.
As the boat pulls out he shows,
And unless he's good he swears,
Or at least says something tetse.
That's not meant for ears polite;
But no smile is on his face,
As his steps he doth retrace,
Trying to look as if he didn't care to go.

Yes, there's lots of funny fun
For an idle looker-on,
If he chooses now and then to take a note.
It's as good as Barnum's show,
Just to watch the people go
In their different moods and tenses to the boat.

STRANGER.

Mandeville, La., June 7, 1890.

The anti-lotteryites declared that they did not want the negro in politics, yet it is reported in their own ranks here that Swayzie was lynched because he advised the colored voters to abstain from going to the polls.—City Item.

A bill has been reported upon favorably in Congress which precludes aliens from owning land in the United States. The bill proposes placing aliens under the disabilities of the civil law as to all future attempts to acquire land in this country. In other words it declares against absentee landlordism. It declares all foreign-born persons who have not been naturalized incapable of taking the title to lands anywhere in the United States, except a leasehold not exceeding five years. It also contains a provision which will compel alien owners to cease to be such or to become citizens of the United States. English titled men own 21,000,000 acres of land in the United States. If the strict letter of the bill is carried out, those English noblemen will either have to sell their American property or else come and live here as naturalized citizens.

The trial of John L. Sullivan will take place at Purvis, Miss., next Monday. He is accused of having in some manner had something to do with a prize fight which took place in that vicinity last year, but his friends claim he can prove an alibi.

"THE ROAD TO HEAVEN."

A WONDERFUL BOOK.

The Road to Heaven, A Golden Casket of Unique, Brilliant and Beautiful Christian Treasures, gathered from the Richest Mines of Religion, Science and Philosophy; Richly Embellished with a Superb Galaxy of Royal Steel Plate Engravings.—Globe Bible Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

This magnificent literary production represents a Superb, Unique and most Remarkable New Book. The Author whose mind is strong in imagination, happy in word painting, sprinkles the glittering pages of this unparelled work with the most chaste and beautiful gems of thought, jeweled with all that is Great, Good, Pure and Noble, in the glowing freshness of living reality.

When he writes of God and the Soul, of Heaven and the ineffable bliss, he touches heights of unsurpassable magnificence that makes you feel like Moses's Peri, as if you stood looking through the bars of the "Pearly Gates." Though he leads to mountain heights, he has also the daintiest dells of restful and tender experience, full of Hearts'-ease and Violets, where the simplest minds and quietest natures may rest and drink sweet draughts from the River of God's Love.

Through the whole book rings the happy laughter of Cheerful Christianity, and Moral Anecdotes, thick as stars that fleck the frosty blue of winter's midnight sky, shine out on every page. These Anecdotes, fresh, thrilling and delightful, dealing as they do with every phase of Human Experience, bring out the Author's meaning most beautifully. They are carefully gathered from every History and Language and scattered through the book like pearls on a Royal Robe. In fact, the entire book is a wonder of value and interest, such as was never seen before.

This magnificent volume, comprising over 700 massive octavo pages, is printed from large, clear, new type, suited to every degree of vision, on extra fine super calendered paper of admirable finish. It is elaborately illustrated with the most charming Steel Plate Engravings, designed and engraved by Artists of world renown, at an expense of many thousand dollars. This very valuable work is sold by subscription only, and Mr. John Peters, who is the authorized agent for this locality, is now canvassing for it.

We cordially commend it to our readers.
