Among the warmest friends of the one term principle are the convicts in prison.

Figures won't lie. Won't they? Does a fashionable woman's figure tell the truth?

Mutual admiration—as the season of picnics approaches, boys begin to feel gallant, and girls buoyant.

The stammering silk thief who was caught in New York owned up to the officers that he was a gone co-coon.

—Unfamiliar quotation—A rose by any other name would smell as well.

—It is thought that Siam may yet become civilized; the King has already learned to swear, and wears a shirt.

—It was an Irishman who wanted to find a place where there was no death, that he might go and end his days there.

The intelligent compositor has broken out in Natick, where, aided by the vigilant proof-reader, he enters into a conspiracy against a dead clergyman, and remarked: "Fraud after fraud departs.

Clough, in one of his recently published letters, tells a story of an aged Calvanist woman, who, being asked about the Universalists, said, Yes they expect everybody will be saved but we look for better things.

Josh Billings cannot see what women want any more rights for; she beat the first man born into the world out of a dead sure thing, and she can beat the last man with the same cards.

—It is rumored that young ladies who object to the word obey in the marriage ceremony, now hoodwink the guileless youths who lead them to the altar by glibly promising to love, honor and obey.

A college student being examined in Locke where he speaks of our relation to Deity, was asked: What relations do we most neglect? He answered, with the utmost simplicity, Poor relations, sir!

—A young lady in New Hampshire has just secured a position as school teacher upon the following certificate; This is to certify that Tamar Noyes stands on a medium with other girls of her age and sex, and, for what I know, is as good as folks in general.

It is related of Lessing that he was occasionally so absent-minded that once he knocked at his door, when the servant, not recognizing her master looked out of the window and said: The professor is not at home. Oh, very well, replied Lessing composedly walking away, I will call again.

There is a man in Hull, Massachusetts, who borrowed an umbrella the other day actually returned it on the next. He excused himself for violating custom by stating that the article was old, faded, played out and leaky, and that he was ashamed to be seen carrying it.

What a nuisance! exclaimed a gentleman at a concert, as a young fop in front of him kept talking in a loud voice to a lady at his side. Did you refer to me, sir? threateningly demanded the fop. Oh no; I meant the musicians there, who keep up such noise with their instruments that I can't hear your conversation, was the stinging reply.

—Josh Billings says: All you have to do to raise oats is to plow the land deep, then manure it well, then sprinkle the oats all over the ground, one in a place then worry up the ground with a drag all over, then set up nights to keep the chickens and woodchucks out uv them, then kradle them together with a kradle, then rake them together with a rake, then bind them together with a band, then stack them up with a stack, then thrash them out with a flail, then clean them up with a mill, then sharpen both ends of them with a knife, then stow them away in the granary, then spend wet days and Sundays trapping for rats and mice. It ain't nothing but phun to raise oats—try it.

The Cleveland police picked up a man a day or two ago in the streets who appeared to be laboring under great mental disease, but on applying soothing remedies he came to himself and explained matters. The Ledger says that when he left his happy home in the morning his wife kissed him good-bye, as is her custom when she wants any errand performed, and then asked him to go to the dress-maker and tell her that she (the wife) had changed her mind, and would have the watered silk made up instead of the poplin, and be sure to tell her, said the wife, that if she thinks it would look better with ten bias flounces without puffing, and box-plaited below the equator, which should be gathered in hemstitched gudgeons up and down the seams with gusset stitch between, she can make it up in that way, instead of fluting the bobinette insertion, and piecing out with point applique, as I suggested yesterday.

Hard on White Folks.

Sam Johnson, of New Orleans, was a great authority among his fellows, and one day he called his satellites together. Niggers, said he, if yer want to get rich yer must sabe yer money. Yer must hab a bank. Dat's de way de white folks does. The project was swiftly put into execution, and the earnings of the week were promptly forthcoming. Niggers, says Sam, I will be de cashier; yer must 'posit de money wid me, and when yer want any, yer must drew on it. Dat's de way de white folks do. All went merrily for a while, but by-and-by there began to be trouble. It was found easier to get funds into this model institution than to get them out again. It's all right says Sam, de bank's only suspended, and in a few days she will again resume; dat's de way de white folks do. This expedient lasted but a little while, however, the storm was about to burst on the great operator, when he found it expedient to gather once more his infuriated depositors. Niggers, said he, dar ain't no use a movin' about it! De money's spent, and de bank's broke; and dat's de way de white people do!

THE DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINE.

It has long been believed to be "impossible to produce a family Sewing Machine which is completely adapted to the lightest and the heaviest sewing," but we beg to state, and to satisfy demonstration to prove, that

"THE DOMESTIC"

IS FORMFULLY COMPETENT FOR THE ENTIRE RANGE OF WORK

FROM COWHIDE TO MUSLIN.

Although it requires the mechanism of a "Family" machine (for, if "Light manufacturing" machines [?!] to do this

"THE DOMESTIC"

Has a shuttle holding which carries about double the amount of thread that other "Family" Machines do.

Has twice as many feet to stitch the "seam" and the "presser foot," and needle twice as high.

Glazed cotton is good enough for the "Demonstrator," and it will use the coarsest numbers of it even in the hands of an ordinary operator.

It has no moving Needle Arm, with gears attached to come below the table to drive the needle, but the power is applied directly to the "Needle Bar," and hence running easier and with less noise.

"THE DOMESTIC"

May be seen in operation, and decide for yourself whether it can make good its claims, as stated above.

They are easy of administration, powerful in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the power of nature to repair.

In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, to young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been unequaled. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar quality of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Kindred Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative powers.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; purge it when you find it offensive in the pimples, eruptions and sores; purify it when you find it sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you find it foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands testify to the virtues of this most wonderful invigorating Cordial and Restorative.

These are always more or less characteristic of the type, a weakness and sensitiveness of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being evinced in the early stages of the disease, which if neglected or improperly treated, a dangerous, enfeebling or fatal termination follows.
