Nashville Union.

S. C. MERCER, Editor.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1862.

The Nashville Correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette makes the following statements. We will add that a highly respectable gentleman just from the vicinity of Vicksburg confirms the statement respecting the DAVISES. The President and "Joe" used great efforts to secret their cotton from the rebels, but to no purpose:

CONFLICTS IN THE CONFEDERACY.

The "patriotic planters," as I learn from late Southern arrivals, are not so anxious to burn their cotton as Southern newspapers have taught us to believe. Joe Acklin, of this place, who has about 2,500 bales, though a rabid secesh, so far descended from the level of Southern dignity as to confer with a Federal officer connected with the Mississippi fleet, in relation to the safety of his. He declined to ask protection, I understand. But this was prudential. It was understood a Federal force would be sent from the river by Col. Palmer, if any unusual smoke were seen. But before this conference was held, Acklin armed all his overseers and perhaps some of his most trustworthy slaves, and prepared to light the cotton burners, if they should make their appearance.

In a parish west of the Mississippi river, opposite to that in which Mr. Acklin has his possessions, the planters banded themselves together, and offered such resistance to the Confederate incendiaries that a conflict occurred, in which three of the cotton burners were killed. Afterward the burning was not repeated in that parish.

JEFF. DAVIS TRIES TO DODGE.

Joe Davis, brother of Jeff., by and with the advice and consent of Jefferson, no doubt, undertook to run the cotton belonging to both up Red river, and thus save it from the order of conflagration. But the fiery emissaries discovered his purposes, and pursuing, did their work of destruction.

PROSPECTUS

NASHVILLE UNION.

THE NASHVILLE UNION was commenced a few weeks since, for the purpose of opposing the Rebel Southern Confederacy, and of advocating the restoration of Federal authority, without any abatement, over all the States which have attempted to secede. It holds as friends all who support, and as foes all who oppose the Union of the States. It has no watchword but FREEDOM AND NATIONALITY.

With rebels and traitors it has no compromise to make. It contends for the Federal Constitution and the Laws made in pursuance thereof as the SUPREME LAW OF THE LAND, anything in the Constitution and Laws of any of the States to the contrary notwithstanding.

It contends for the Union of the States, because without it the preservation of our liberties and institutions and the organization of society itself are wholly impossible. Therefore, whatever stands in the way of crushing out the rebellion and restoring the Union must perish, no matter by what name it be called.

To the people of Tennessee, ever renowned for their devotion to Liberty and Union, until they were betrayed to the rebel despotism at Richmond by a perfidious Governor and corrupt Legislature, and who have felt so heavily the awful curse of treason and anarchy, we appeal for support. Let the names of rebel office-holders, Vigilance Committees, and Minute Men, who have filled our borders with mourning, be gibbetted before the world. Let those ambitious and avaricious men who have plotted our ruin for their own aggrandizement be fastened to the pillory of shame, no matter how high their position in society. Let it be shown how the self-styled defenders of "Southern Rights" are now leading marauding bands of free-booters and mose troopers over our State, kidnapping negroes, stealing horses and cattle, breaking into houses, burning railroad bridges and cars, and murdering unarmed citizens in cold blood. Let the truth, so long excluded by the Southern conspirators, now circulate freely through every neighborhood, and our cause will assuredly triumph. Will not loyal men everywhere aid us in the dissemination of facts and the advocacy of Free Government?
