"Your husband says he leads a dog's life," said one woman.

"Yes, its very similar," answered the other. "He comes in with muddy feet, makes himself comfortable by the fire, and waits to be fed."

HANAPEPE SCHOOL EXPRESSES ITS GRATITUDE

The following extracts from a communication by one of the Hanapepe teachers is indicative of the interest taken in the late Bulletin School contest, as well as the improvement in the GARDEN ISLAND:

Hanapepe August 19, 1911.

DEAR MR. BRIDGEWATER:

I feel quite proud and happy over the fact that two of our boys carried off first and second prizes. First going to Willie Y. Nim and second to Lau Yee Awai. I am enclosing one of the letters written to one of the boys, which I think is a fine letter and worth publishing if you have room for it, as it may prove inspiring to other pupils.

I want to congratulate you on the improvement in THE GARDEN ISLAND. You may well (and all Kauaians) be proud of it.

Sincerely yours,
C. B. B.

Honolulu, T. H.,

Mr. W. Y. Nim
Hanapepe, Kauai.

Dear Mr. Nim:

I enclose you herewith check for $15.00, the same being the prize offered by the Bulletin for excellence in scholarship among the public schools. Your name is handed to me by the Department of Public Instruction as the winner of the first prize for the Island of Kauai. I beg to congratulate you upon your success and trust that you will continue to strive to gain a high standard in all your educational work and make good use of it when you start out to make your own living.

I want to remind you that in winning this prize, you have not only gained honor for yourself but reflected credit upon the school that you attend and the department having control of the public schools of the Territory. You will do well to bear in mind that when you grow up, the same rule holds true. Your own success will be not only a pleasure to yourself but a contribution to the welfare of the community in which you live.

Yours truly,
W. R. FARRINGTON.

JUST TALKING TO GOD.

The other day, as he was walking up the street, the wind blew Hugh Murray's hat off and it went rolling along the pavement revolving so rapidly that it resembled one of the wheels of Taylor Estes' automobile when he's hittin' 'em up on a good stretch of pike. Mr. Murrey cut a caper or two in an effort to head off his lid, much to the amusement of a little girl who told her mother of the occurrence. "I hope you didn't listen to what he said," the mother remarked.

"He didn't say a word to me," the little miss replied, "he just walked off talking to God."—Lebanon, Ky, Enterprise.
