THREE HEADS TO FALL.

SMITHIES, WOODS AND WIDEMANN ARE ROYALISTS.

They Confess Their Adhesion to Monarchy Openly and Will Be Promptly Dismissed From Office.

This morning a Cabinet council was held at the Executive building to take measures to rid the public service of Royalist office holders.

Three men were called before the Ministers who have been particularly objectionable. These were Carl Widemann and George Smithies of the Finance office, and Palmer Woods of the Customs House. Upon being questioned each avowed himself a Royalist, though he was not so particular about the return of Liliuokalani to power as about the restoration of the monarchical form of Government. Smithies wanted a sovereign with greatly curtailed powers.

When asked if they would defend the Provisional Government from attack, in case of an attempt to overthrow it, the three clerks answered that they would not; that they would remain neutral under such circumstances.

Under these circumstances the Ministry decided that Messrs. Widemann, Smithies and Woods should be removed from office as soon as their successors could be appointed.

FIREWOOD FOR THE LEPERS.

C. H. Dickey Has a Plan to Provide a Forest of It.

PAIA, 5 mil, Nov. 24 1893.

EDITOR STAR—Dear Sir: While politics are at a standstill I want to call the attention of the people of the Islands to a great need of our national wards at Molokai.

The Government is, I know, alive to the need, but it probably does not feel able as yet to do all it would like to.

The people of the settlement have to bring their wood from a long distance, often being obliged to scale the precipices to cut it.

Unless some change has been made during the past year, the wood when obtained is of the worthless variety known as kukui.

Now I propose that the people join with this Government this year in making the lepers a Christmas present of a forest of eucalyptus trees.

My plan is that a strip, say half a mile long and two or three hundred feet wide, to the windward of Kalaupapa, be plowed up and planted during the rainy season with eucalyptus trees. If necessary a narrow strip of castor beans could be planted to shelter the young plants.

As this is for the benefit of the lepers themselves I think that sufficient volunteers could be procured among them gratis to do the planting if the people and Government do the plowing and furnish the trees.

If the STAR will start a subscription list for this object I think that the people would respond liberally and the Government see the matter through.

Yours truly,
C. H. DICKEY.

HAWAII AND MAUI

Annexationists Will Fight for the Good of the Cause.

Within the last two days four letters have been received by a prominent attorney in Honolulu from the islands of Hawaii and Maui. They are all to the effect that both these islands are solid for the annexation cause and that if necessary the citizens of Honolulu can obtain aid from either in money, arms and men whenever required. A prominent member of the Kona Annexation Club writes that all Kona is very much excited over Gresham's proposed restoration policy. A few of the flighty ones are a little scared, but the majority of the members of the Club, which includes the best native blood in Kona, believe themselves ready to come to Honolulu on call and fight for the Provisional Government, and that their annexation principles are stronger than ever. This letter is from a native in Kona.

A letter to the same effect comes from Haonakua from a well known annexationist of foreign extraction; another from Maui is of the same tenor; still another from a native-born Hawaiian on Maui is enthusiastic in its determination to support the Provisional Government and to further the continuance of the cause of annexation.

None of the writers of the above letters hold any Government positions and are not applicants for the same.

THE HAWAIIAN EXHIBIT.

Fifty Tons of Materials Forwarded by the Australia.

The first installment of the Hawaiian exhibit at the San Francisco Midwinter Fair went forward by the Australia to-day. The shipment weighed about fifty tons and comprised cocoanut leaves, ohia poles, bamboo, coffee and taro flour. There were also two native canoes with outriggers, etc. The next shipment will go on the Mariposa and will include the bulk of the exhibit.

There is no truth in the report published in a morning paper that Geo. C. Beckley had offered $50 for the capture of a shark and that he had had a tank constructed for that purpose. The shark is wanted for the Exhibition Company, and the task is ready for it. Mr. Beckley is not in the exhibition business and does not want any sharks at $50 each.

"Turn the Rascals Out."

It is asserted that every prominent Government official on the island of Maui, with the exception of Sheriff Chillingworth, is a Royalist. Judges Kepoikai and Daniels, and Mr. Sheldon, the Port Surveyor at Kahului, are particularly mentioned as being opposed to the Provisional Government. Under the resolutions adopted at the last session of the Council these gentlemen should be afforded an early opportunity to prove their loyalty to the Government that pays them, not only in the present but in the past.

Band Concert.

To suit the wishes of many of the residents in the neighborhood of Thomas Square the Hawaiian band will play at that place this afternoon instead of Emma Square, commencing at 4:15. The following programme will be rendered:

1. March—"For My Country" ..... Ackerman
2. Overture—"The Armourer," Lortzing
3. Gavotte—"Daisy" ..... Barrett
4. Finale—"Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
5. Waltz—"The Gondoliers" ..... Sullivan
6. March—"The Life Guards" ..... Hilge
"Hawaii Ponoi."

Hotel Arrival.

Late arrivals at the Arlington are: E. Halstead, wife and maid, Waialua; C. A. Willis, Lihue; H. C. Shaw, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. R. Blaney, Kahului, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott.

C. R. BISHOP'S GIFT.

He Consists His Molokai Property to the Kamehameha Schools.

Hon. C. R. Bishop has again shown his charitable nature in another princely gift to the Kamehameha schools. It consists in this instance of the whole of his Molokai property. This includes nearly one-half of the total area of the island, the property extending from a point five miles east of Kamakakiai to the western end of the island, and from the seashore to the pali back of the deepest settlement and up to the mountain tops. The extent of the gift may be better imagined when it is known that the land deeded includes 150 square miles or about 96,000 acres. The land is used now as a cattle range and is well stocked with cattle, sheep, horses and other stock, all of which go with the land. Very little of it is arable land, owing to the scarcity of water, but should artesian water be found the greater portion of it could be utilized for sugar cultivation. The deed has been made to the trustees of the school and the property is to be held by them for the benefit of the school.

Mr. Bishop has supplemented the above gift with a cash donation of $20,000, which sum is to be used in erecting the buildings for the new girls' school.

Both of the above gifts are separate and distinct from any former ones, Mr. Bishop having announced his intention of making them about October 1st last. The trustees had the necessary deeds prepared and forwarded to him for signature. They were returned on the last mail and are now of record.

WILLIS ANSWERS DOLE.

THE AMERICAN MINISTER ON GRESHAM'S LETTER.

He Says Cleveland Will Frame his Hawaiian Policy after Reading Certain Dispatches.

Some days ago the Provisional Government addressed a formal note to Minister Willis, calling his attention to the Gresham letter, asking him if the press report of its contents was practically correct, and if so, what might be the intentions of the American Government toward the Provisional Government of these Islands.

To-day Mr. Willis' reply reached President Dole. In it the Minister said that Mr. Gresham's letter was in the nature of a report to the President of the United States and could only be regarded as a domestic matter for which the American Minister to Hawaii was in no sense responsible, and which he could not assume to interpret. Mr. Willis stated further that President Cleveland was anxious that the Hawaiian troubles should be speedily settled and that he (the Minister) was confident that the President would come to a conclusion as to a policy after receiving late important dispatches. The letter closed with the usual polite assurances of good will.

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOL.

Its Monthly Concert Last Evening a Fine Success.

The Kamehameha School gave a monthly concert last evening which was attended by a large audience, including the Misses Allen and other musical people. The Cadet band, which has had but a monthly practice, played excellently. Following is the programme.

1. "Hamlet to the Players" ..... Kahanu
2. "Letter to Jack in the Pulpit" ..... Daniel Kaloi
Music.
3. Reproduction of Story—"Kit Columbus" ..... Fred Wenner
4. Recitation—"We Boys" ..... Charlie Arnold
5. Composition—"A Good Character" ..... Ed. Montgomery
Music.
6. "The Story of An Apple" First Grade
7. Declamation—"The American Soldier" ..... W. Beers
Music.
8. Composition—"Thanksgiving" ..... John Custino
9. "Autumn Leaves" ..... Charles Baker
Music.
10. "The Chambered Nautilus" ..... Levi Joseph

The hit of the evening was W. Beers' declamation, "The American Sailor."

THE GOVERNMENT POLICY.

How It Accords With That of the Annexation Club.

To the platform of the Annexation Club sent to the Government some time ago a formal reply was made by the Attorney General, of which these are extracts:

"In regard to your resolution against propositions of a compromise which may have in view temporary or permanent restoration of the monarchy, we need only say that the resolution states fully the policy of the Government on this point."

"Thanking the members of the Annexation Club for their expressions of loyalty and sympathy with the fundamental purpose of the Government and for their pledges of moral and physical assistance to this end, we remain," etc.

REV. S. E. BISHOP'S SIX.

HE WRITES A GOOD LETTER ON THE SITUATION.

He Points Out That Liliuokalani Can Be Kept on the Throne Only by American Force.

PORTLAND, Nov. 14.—If the dispatch concerning Secretary Gresham's report to the President, published in this morning's Oregonian, is correct, as it undoubtedly is, the American public must doubt the fitness of the President's secretary for the position he occupies, for the opinions expressed there and the reasons given must be the either of stupidity or partisan malice. The question of the government of the Hawaiian Islands is one in which Oregonians should be actively interested, for there is opportunity near for a flourishing trade in the products of both countries. It has seemed to me that the condition of affairs there has been misinterpreted here, and I should if there are more than three persons in Portland who can give a statement of the political history of that country during the past twelve.

Knowing many of the leading men of affairs there, and having had constant and direct sources of information, I ask a little space for a brief resume of the course of affairs there, for I believe that it is a matter of local as well as national importance that our Government should act wisely.

In 1887 the parties who now constitute the Provisional Government of the Islands compelled King Kalakaua to proclaim a new constitution, which was later ratified by the legislature. This constitution deprived the throne of much of its previous power, which had been abused. The late Queen Liliuokalani has ever since taking the throne attempted to regain that lost power. On this point she was in constant conflict with the legislature, which last year finally refused to pass the appropriation bill or do any important business until she ceased appointing her own tools as Ministers and gave the country a Cabinet satisfactory to the representatives of the people. She fought the issue long and persistently, appointing a series of Cabinets, each of which was rejected by the legislature, one of them holding office only four hours.

Finally she seemed to yield, and fifty men were placed at the head of affairs. As soon, however, as the appropriation bill was passed, a bill chartering a lottery company was passed, which company was to pay the Government $500,000 a year, the portfolios of the Ministers recalled and given to a new set, and the legislature immediately prorogued. A few hours later followed the attempted proclamation of a new constitution, which was to give the throne complete power over every department of the Government, even the Supreme Judges being removable at the will of the sovereign. But here even her subservient ministry would not sustain her, and the attempted coup d'etat failed. Upon this the citizens of Honolulu assembled in a huge mass meeting and appointed a committee who, supported by the militia and volunteers, organized a Government and took possession of the Government house on the following day. With the Government offices and Treasury in their possession, and supported by a force of some 200 armed white citizens, the Provisional Government held the key to the position, and resistance by the regular army, composed and officered mainly by natives, was not thought of. The same army had tried a battle with the militia in the Wilcox emeute a few months before, and had no intention of testing their strength again.

There was danger, however, in the excitement of the times of disturbances about town by which Americans and their property would be injured, disturbances which, under the circumstances, could not be controlled by the local authorities, and for this reason the presence of the Boston's men land at the Provisional Government had complete control of the situation and the only resistance they had met was the chasing by a policeman of a wagon loaded with arms destined for the volunteers assembled at their armory. At no time was any force called out by the Queen against the Provisional Government, though at the time they took possession of the Government building they had no armed force with them, there having been some delay at the armory. It is true that the United States forces assisted the Provisional Government in maintaining order by their mere presence on shore, and in so far as the maintenance of order helped to establish the Provisional Government, they did assist. But they did not help to dethrone the Queen, for she was powerless some hours before the United States troops landed, and in fact never attempted any resistance. This is the simplest statement that can be made of the facts.

It is not for our Government or for any other to go back of these and inquire into the reasons of the revolution. Our fellow Americans, owning four-fifths of the property and paying most of the taxes, have taken charge of things in the interest of good government and are now asking us for help, and to answer them with a threat to undo all that they have accomplished in the past ten months, and to place them again under the rule of a corrupt Queen and her subservient followers; to threaten them with misrule and financial ruin under the plea of justice to a traitorous and selfish ruler, savors more of villainy than of stupidity. If this Government uses its power to oppress its citizens in Hawaii as Secretary Gresham recommends, it will be one of the most outrageous acts ever perpetrated by one nation on another, and we may rest assured that though the whites there may submit to the superior force of our war vessels, yet Liliuokalani's throne will be safe only so long as Uncle Sam's bluecoats stand at its side.

PROGRESSIVE HAWAII.

An Elegant Photographic Display to Be Sent to San Francisco.

By the last mail, Photographer Williams received instructions from those in charge of the Hawaiian exhibit at the San Francisco Midwinter Fair to prepare a number of photographs of "Progressive Hawaii." The subjects to be included are the electric light works, the Fire Department, public buildings, schools, colleges and institutions generally, the object being to show that Hawaii is not behind the age in the march of improvement. Particular attention will be given to the Fire Department and various views will be taken showing the interior of engine houses, the engines and other apparatus. Some dirty views will be prepared in all and framed in one picture, of which about a thousand copies will be struck off. One of these will be sent to each of the prominent newspapers in the United States, the object being to show that progressive civilization exists to-day in Hawaii in place of a semi-barbarous state of affairs with which we are commonly credited.

In addition to the above Mr. Williams will take by the next steamer a large quantity of Island views and photos for which his gallery has become noted. It was his intention to have left for the Midwinter Fair to-day, but the new order for "progressive" photos will delay him until the next steamer.

FIFTY-ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS For Selling Pure Gin Within Five Hundred Feet of a Church.

Judge Robertson's fine has largely taken up in the District Court this morning with examining the case of Kamoua, a native of the Fontaine goodies, who was charged with selling a pint quality of gin at an exorbitant price without having first procured Mr. Hassinger of the Interior office and obtained the necessary permit to do so. The Court found her guilty and mulcted her in the sum of $100, with an additional assessment of $4 for costs. C. W. Ashford for the defense.

Ah Ler was the next victim to be hauled up from the depths below the station house. He pleaded not guilty of the charge of invading into the dwelling house of Wong Yin on the night of December 7th with intent to commit a felony. After hearing the testimony for the prosecution the defendant took the stand in his own behalf. He said he was gloriously drunk on the night in question and remembered little of what occurred. He had a very distinct recollection, however, of meeting a couple of boys and asking them for a drink of water. The boys let him into the house and locked him in the kitchen, and that was the reason he was in the predicament the officers found him. The Court concluded that his statement was somewhat "fishy," and order d that he be held to answer to the Circuit Court. In default of bail he now languishes in durance vile, and will probably continue to do so until the February term of the Circuit Court.

The California Feed Company

Are now located corner Queen and Nuuanu streets in the premises recently occupied by J. F. Colburn. We have been compelled to make this change on account of our ever increasing business. We now carry a very large stock, as we import by the ship load, and do our own buying. We will still keep our old place at Lahaina. The Hawaiian bark Marina Ala will be repaired December 1st, 1893, with another full cargo of selected Hay and Grain for us. We think our friends for their liberal patronage in the past three years. We hope to attract attention to the wants of our patrons to merit a continuance of the same. We will keep in stock the SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN and CHRONICLE. We do not want the earth, only a small portion will do us. Give us a trial and we will treat you right. If you want good fresh Hay and Grain ring up 421 on both telephones.
