A POLISHED DETECTIVE.

How the Mirror Plays an Important Part In Trapping Rogues.

A mirror played an important part in detecting a Parisian rogue. The thieves of the French metropolis are the cleverest rascals in the world, and positively elevate their villainy to a science. In no other European capital is one-half the ingenuity exhibited by this class. The famous Duval eating houses or restaurants are located in all parts of the French capital, though they are all run by the same company. The professed object of this company is to serve excellent food in good style and for a very moderate charge.

It has been lately discovered that a system of thieving was being practiced upon these establishments whereby they lost a considerable amount of small silver articles such as forks, spoons and similar tableware, but by whom taken it was difficult to find out. However, a careful watch was set, and with the following result:

It was found that a respectable looking person would enter the dining saloon and give his order for dinner, of which he partook. During his meal he conveyed one or more articles to the under side of the table, fixing them there by means of wax, with which he was provided for the purpose. Should the servant who waits upon him miss any of his spoons or other articles, the rogue is still in no danger, and offers himself to be searched with perfect impunity and an air of injured innocence.

Of course he is allowed to depart, but immediately after an accomplice enters, orders his dish, whatever it may be, seating himself at the same table, whence he removes the secreted articles to his own pocket, of course taking care that the waiter shall not miss any articles from the table as set before him. There is no reason for suspecting this individual, who quietly pays his bills and departs to share the booty with his waiting confederate.

A case of this kind occurred a few weeks since in the place de la Madeleine, where the superintendent suspected the trick, allowing the first party to retire after apologizing for searching him. He, however, sent for a detective in plain clothes and bade him watch that particular table. Presently, after the departure of the first rogue, his confederate entered, seated himself at the table in question, and while taking his soup began his work, little dreaming that the peaceable looking citizen opposite, with his back toward him, was watching every movement in the looking-glass through a hole in the newspaper which he held before his face and was pretending to read. It was almost as good as a play, and the detective was obliged to restrain himself or he would have burst into a fit of laughter.

No sooner had the rogue succeeded in transferring the last of the forks and spoons to his pocket than he rose very leisurely, walked to the cashier's desk and took out his money to pay for the meal. But at the same moment there was a hand laid heavily upon his shoulder, and the detective very bluntly slipped a pair of handcuffs upon his wrists. The missing articles were found in his pocket, and he was marched into prison.—London Million.

The custom at the funeral of a warrior of leading his riderless horse before the bier is of mediæval origin. In the old days a horse so led became the property of the church.

There are a great many homes having zinc lined Bath Tubs that are in good condition with this one exception, they lack the features of a porcelain lining. How to overcome this without going to the expense of getting a new tub has been a question that has worried a good many.

One pot of our WHITE ENAMEL PAINT will do the work, forming as it does a GLOSSY SURFACE almost equal in hardness and durability to that of Porcelain itself, being at the same time hardly distinguished from Porcelain.

Consult with your Physician and he will tell you by all means to paint your Bath Tub with ENAMEL PAINT.

The KEY STONE EGG BEATERS are little gems, try one if you want your Eggs quickly and thoroughly beaten.

We also call your special attention to our economical BARREL and CYLINDER CHURNS, they are easy workers, have all sizes and prices.

We have a handy CLOTHES DRIER having ten arms made to fasten on the wall, when not in use, by a simple pull these arms fold up like a fan, thus taking up but little room.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Perfectly Cured

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Dear Sirs:—I wish to testify to the great value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For some time I had been troubled with scrofula, which early last winter assumed a very bad form.

Feeing the Servants.

The custom of feeing the servants upon one's departure from a friend's house appears to be in questionable taste, but it has become almost universal, and principle must sometimes make concessions to popularity where the matter does not involve a question of serious right and wrong. In England an omission of this custom would be regarded as an evidence either of parsimony or of ignorance, and we are such an imitative race that we eventually believe whatever we know or imagine to be the usages of polite society in the "mother country."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Hard Lines.

"Prisoner," said the judge, "you have been found guilty of posing as a blind man and obtaining money on the street from passersby when you can see as well as I can. The sentence of the court is three months in the county jail."

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Good Work done by the Professional Women's League.

From its beginning the Professional Woman's league has had a noble growth. It was organized some three years ago in New York city by Mrs. A. M. Palmer. Perhaps for this reason actresses were among the first to swell its ranks. The aim of its founder was to benefit professional women socially and financially. It speedily formed committees to take in hand cases in which actresses were cheated out of their pay by unprincipled managers. For lack of a stiff union among the trical people they have hitherto been swindled with extraordinary immunity. The Professional Woman's league righted the wrongs of many a girl who had been cheated out of her earnings. It established a fund to lend money to women temporarily in need. This has been done in many cases of which the public does not know and never will know. It was done privately and quietly. Mrs. Palmer tells me that the grateful girls, with no obligation binding them beyond their own word and sense of honor, have in nearly every instance repaid the loan. One of the most unpleasant features in the life of the average actress is that when she is out of an engagement she is usually obliged to obtain assistance from some man. Women do not have money. If the loan is forthcoming, the man too often takes it for granted that the lady, being an actress, puts herself under obligation to him in a way revolting to womanhood. There are stories simply heart-rending that confirm this. Furthermore, the coarse, ordinary man seems to take it for granted that the actress who is forced to borrow money from him gives him a power over her everlastingly. To dispel this illusion the provident fund of the league was formed, and it has brought freedom from humiliating financial dependence to many a talented young woman. Last winter during the bitterest of the hard times the organization kept open a lunchroom, with low prices for food. Women who could pay did so; those who could not were welcomed and trusted till they could. The league now has 500 members. Actresses throughout the country are joining it, and it offers protection and help to all professional women. Classes for instruction in art, languages, music, dancing, fencing, physical culture, drawing, dramatic art and sewing and millinery are now open to members.

A lady writes me of the solid work done by the girls at the Lucy Cobb institute, Athens, Ga. She says the bright eyed young women students study all the political and economic questions of the day and hold debates on them, "quoting Jefferson, Hamilton, Jay, Calhoun and Webster." Miss Rutherford is principal of this fine, progressive school. Not long since Senator Patrick Walsh lectured to the young ladies on the tariff, and Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith gave them an address on the silver question. I am glad indeed to hear such good news from the Lucy Cobb institute. This is the kind of study that girl students greatly need. In all parts of the country both girls and grown women are taking courses of instruction in political and economic science and in the history of civil government. It is a splendid sign of these glorious times in which we live. But when the writer of the Georgia letter tells me that the girls of the Lucy Cobb institute do not want to vote and never will want to vote she is dead wrong. A time is near at hand when they and the women all over this big country will want to vote and will have to vote. Shall we polish up a Toledo blade to the finest point of sharpness and then put it away in its sheath to rust out, never using it?

The women helped beat Tammany anyhow.

Among the eloquent and successful Republican campaign speakers in Indiana and Illinois it is pleasant to recall the name of Miss Mary H. Krout of the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Sometimes you are so weary of beating your soul's wings against adamantine bars that you long to lie down in a corner of your cage and die. But don't do it. Get up and peg away.

The call is out for the second triennial session of the National Council of Women of the United States. This council is composed of the federated societies and organizations of women throughout the country. Its object is to bring together women in all lines of work, philanthropic, educational, industrial or otherwise. It now has a membership of 700,000. Some of the things the council is striving for are equal pay and equal opportunity for women, dress reform and patriotic teaching, the appointment of women on all state commissions to investigate or change marriage and divorce laws. It will thus be seen that the National Council of Women has its hands full of work. May Wright Sewall of Indianapolis is president. The next council will open Feb. 18, 1895, at Metzerott's Music hall, Washington. It will continue its sessions two weeks.

Raymon Moore, the sweet voiced tenor who made the fame of the song "Sweet Marie," has had a new ballad written for him by two women. It is called "When the Rain Is Falling" and is most musical in words and tones. It is perfectly adapted to that tenor voice with which women fall in love. The words of the new song are by Edith Sessions Tupper, the music by Lillie Mahon Siegfried.

The outdoor athletic craze has overtaken even the German girls. There is a flourishing and enthusiastic woman's boat club at Berlin. The young women who belong to it threaten to rival in rowing and sailing even American college girls.

Give woman all her rights, and she can afford to do without privileges.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A Good Catch.

The boy was sitting by a very diminutive looking stream, over which passed a small bridge, and he was evidently fishing. A suburban policeman passed by.

"What are you doing there?" he asked.

"Fishin," said the boy, intently watching the water.

"There's no fish there," ventured the officer.

"I know it."

"What are you fishing for?"

"Suckers that ask questions," replied the boy, "and I've ketched a even dozen in the last hour."

The dozenth one hadn't anything more to say and thoughtfully moved on.—Detroit Free Press.

Breakfast Tea In Bed.

A New York lady born in the purple and educated in Japan has a cup of tea in bed every morning of her life. This "bracer," as she calls it, is seasoned with a slice of lemon and sweetened to taste. The drinker has the complexion of a peach, skin as smooth as satin and health that is positively fragrant.—New York Advertiser.

WAUKEGAN CHIEF.

THE NEW WAUKEGAN BARBED WIRE.
Made only by Washburn & Moen Mf'g Co.
We have been appointed Agents for the above Company, and have just received per Steamer "KEAUHOU" the first shipment of this famous barbed wire. We sell the "Waukegan" 4 Point with barbs 3 in. apart, and it measures 16½ ft. to the pound. You cannot build a fence with any other make of barbed wire as cheap as you can with "Waukegan."
Take the following makes for instance, all 4 point, barbs 3 in. apart:

N. and M.	15.30 ft.	to 1 lb.	or 7.81	per cent.	in favor of	Waukegan.
Baddock Wire Co.,	12.62 ft.	to 1 lb.	" 30.75	"	" "	"
Ross,	12.44	" 1	" " 32.64	"	" "	"
Roebling Co.,	11.99	" 1	" " 46.15	"	" "	"
Cleveland,	11.83	" 1	" " 39.48	"	" "	"
Indiana Wire Fence Co.,	12.87 ft.	to 1 lb.	or 28.21	per cent.	" "	"
Burnell,	13.77	" 1	" " 19.83	"	" "	"

Waukegan Barbed Wire is as strong as the strongest, contains just as many barbs to the rod, and yet weighs less per rod than any other style of barbed wire.
This result is accomplished by using a half round wire in the barb, instead of a full round wire as in all other barbed wires; then it is twisted out once around one of the main wires, thus saving the weight of additional twists. This wire is thoroughly galvanized, something much needed in this climate.
We also sell a special wire stretcher and galvanized steel staples for Waukegan Wire.
All orders for the above, or for plain Galvanized or Black Fence Wire and Staples will be promptly filled at lowest prices by E. O. HALL & SON.

KRAJEWSKI'S
CANE CRUSHER
THE HONOLULU IRON WORKS COMPANY having secured the EXCLUSIVE AGENCY for the Hawaiian Islands for the Krajewski Patent Sugar Cane Crusher, are now prepared to receive orders for the same, to be delivered in time for the next crop.
This machine, which has been invented but a few years, has been adopted by a great number of cane sugar manufacturers, especially in Cuba, where it was first put to trial and where it became extremely popular. Nearly one-third of the whole sugar crop made in Cuba is being made with the assistance of these crushers. These crushers have also proved a great success in other West Indian Islands, and Louisiana, as can be seen by testimonials on hand.
These crushers when attached to any cane mill will increase its capacity by from 50 to 100 per cent; will improve extraction, will regulate feed of the mill. We have three of these machines in the way. For further particulars enquire at the
