The Supreme Court Hears an Attack on the Governor's Transition Period Judiciary Appointments.

In the Supreme Court this morning argument was begun by Attorney McClanahan in the case of George L. Hall, J. A. Kennedy et al. vs. the Wilder Steamship Company, a motion to vacate a decree in which the appellees claim the previous litigation pending between the parties forward, the decree of March and June, had been obtained according the money to which Judges Davis and Silliman, when appointments by Governor Dole, allegedly acted, were sitting on the bench. The affidavit was to part of follows:

That immediately prior to the 7th day of May, 1900, the Honolulu Advertiser, Daily and Semi-Weekly, in the capacity of the First Judge of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit of the aforesaid Territory of Hawaii, having been duly appointed to fill said office.

That the said Johnson Ferry on the 7th day of May, 1900, being in and was a physician and being resident and doing business in said Honolulu, and being well known to the said Judge Davis, and the said Judge Silliman, was a commissioner in the Federal Court, knowing that both of the above
