WIRELESS WORKLESS HAWAII IGNORED

TRANSPORT THOMAS WANTS TO KNOW WHAT IS MATTER WITH LOCAL STATION.

U. S. A. transport Thomas, in this morning from Manila and Nagasaki, tried all yesterday afternoon and evening, and last night, to raise the Honolulu naval wireless station, but without success. She had nothing of vital importance to communicate, as it happened, merely wishing to acquaint this port with the fact that she was approaching, but she might have been in dire distress and the lives of her passengers in danger for all the wireless station here knew.

Aboard the Thomas they want to know whether the wireless station here is an ornament or for use. It certainly was not for use yesterday or last night and if the Thomas had needed the U. S. S. S. Dragonis to row her in port, on account of broken propellers or other mishap she would not have received any help.

Atmospheric conditions may have had something to do with the local station's failure to respond, but the Thomas is the vessel which talked with the shore 1100 miles at sea from San Francisco on the outward trip a week ago. She has what is perhaps the best wireless equipment in the Army.

The opinion aboard the Thomas is that the local wireless station apparatus is "rotten," and as a matter of fact it has never made anything that became to be the shadow of a record. It has been thought that the difficulty in catching messages from ships coming the other way is because there is no girls on the mountain top, but its failure to catch the Thomas coming from a direction where there is no interference would seem to show that it is not much good in any event.

THOMAS TAKES THE COAST MAIL

TRANSPORT LEAVES FOR SAN FRANCISCO AT FIVE O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON.

From Manila and Nagasaki, having taken aboard 3,500 tons of coal at the latter port, the U. S. Army transport Thomas arrived this morning, docking at the channel wharf at 9 o'clock. She sails for San Francisco at 5 o'clock this afternoon, taking mail. She was ordered to go to the channel wharf, since the transport Ohio and the cattle stockyards and the barges used by the Ohio in discharging coal tend to the Navy slips.

The Thomas has aboard ten troops of the Fourth Cavalry, in command of Colonel E. J. Hoover, going home. Among them is Lieutenant C. E. Lyman, a well-known Honolulu man.

These troops number 505 enlisted men. The headquarters and band and two squadrons are bound for Fort Meade while the remainder will go to Fort Keogh, Montana. The transport also carries 103 marines, 41 cadets, 13 others, 8 prisoners, 2 insane and 9 Filipino and 5 Japanese servants, including cabin, there are 241 passengers aboard.

Military passengers are as follows: Colonel E. J. Hoover, Captain L. C. Schwerer, Lieutenant J. E. Brady, Lieutenant H. L. Stopler, Captain W. D. Vose, Lieutenant, L. J. Van Schaick, Captain S. D. Wilson, Lieutenant G. F. Wasah, Contract Surgeon H. S. Kneedler, Captain J. L. Griffin, Lieutenant, W. N. Haskell, Major Guy Carleton, Lieutenant W. H. Carter, Chaplain Joseph Clemens, Lieutenant E. L. Cox, Lieutenant J. H. Dickey, Lieutenant Frank H. Sawyers, Major S. D. Freeman, Captain Manus McCloskey, Lieutenant A. M. Milton, Lieutenant C. J. Bayne, Captain John O'Hern, Lieutenant J. J. O'Hara, Lieutenant H. C. Pirie, Lieutenant L. W. Fronty, Captain S. M. P. Rutherford, Lieutenant J. C. Blacker, Lieutenant W. H. Rosenquesen, Lieutenant W. C. Gardenshire, Captain H. S. Hawkins, Lieutenant A. G. Dixon, Captain J. S. Hughes, Major W. Lassiter, Major J. Lockett, Lieutenant H. B. Lyman, Lieutenant, W. S. Martin, Captain A. H. McClure and Lieutenant D. McC. McKell.

HAWAII IGNORED

SOME DOUBT AS TO WHETHER THE FLEET PLANS INCLUDE VISIT HERE.

Considerable local attention has been attracted to the fact that the various battleship fleet programmes being discussed and given out in Washington contain no mention of Hawaii at all, and there appears to be a question whether the fleet is coming here. Governor Frear on his present trip will attend the Muskogee session of the Trans-Pacific Conference and ask that the conference invite sending the fleet here.

Secretary H. P. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce, stated this morning in answer to an inquiry that the chamber had been given assurances that the conference would speak for Hawaii, both on this matter and regarding Pearl harbor.

The latest press accounts state that it is the intention to have the fleet spend about three months at San Francisco and then go to Manila and around the world. However, it appears to be the opinion of most of those who are best informed that at least a large part of the fleet will remain permanently on the Pacific.

LEADING CITIZENS TO PLAY BALL

A HILARIOUS GAME PLANNED FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY FOR YACHT FUND.

If Governor Frear were to be here on New Year's day he would be asked to dress up as a Drumb or something of that sort and play ball along with eighteen or twenty other prominent citizens. There is a committee interviewing prominent citizens just now, and it is signing them for what promises to be the wildest ball game that ever took place here.

The game is to open with a Fourodora Sextet of eighteen, which may be compared to the famous local quintette of eight. Every member of the two teams is supposed to take part in this opening practice, and after it is over the ball will be put in play. Most of the prominent citizens approached on the subject have made it a condition of their taking part that a soft ball be used. District Attorney Breckons is said to have agreed to umpire the game.

The game is to be for the benefit of the yacht fund. The committee in charge of the arrangements consists of Charles F. Chillingworth, chairman; A. L. C. Atkinson, George Fuller, H. Fohs, J. Soper, Sam Walker, S. Dalsimbery, H. M. Philips and Walter Hoyle.

All the players are to wear masks and disguises, but there is some chance of their being recognized from the grandstand.

A FLAT DENIAL

BERGANSKA CONTRADICTS CONFESSION STORY TESTIFIED TO BY MORMON ELDERS.

The defense in the Mormon case concluded its testimony this morning, and the prosecution has now begun its rebuttal testimony.

George Kekaoha, the defendant, was placed on the stand yesterday afternoon and was cross examined this morning. He has absolutely denied that he ever at any time or place had improper relations with Amia, the woman with whom he is alleged to have committed adultery. This morning he denied that he had ever confessed to having had such relations, thus refuting the testimony of several of the Mormon church officials who testified after the court had ruled that their testimony could not be withheld on grounds of "privileged communication" that both George and Amia had confessed their guilt in open church meeting at which a dozen or more persons were present.

The defense put on the stand the wife of Pol Kekaoha, the brother of George, who is under indictment for perjury, and she testified to things directly against the defendant, and contrary to what Attorney Perry had expected, from what she had told him in his office. She explained that she had just been "playing" when she had told Perry the other story, that she wasn't under oath.
