A Song for the Times.

Let hard times assail us,
Let poverty nail us
Like mystical locusts shoot in every old wall;
Let deep tribulation
And fierce desolation
Spread over all lands like a funeral pall;
Though empty our purses,
Though creditors curse us,
And quarters are squeezed till the eagles all howl,
Let's have merry faces,
And smiles for all places,
Remembering 'tis better to grin than to growl.

What though backs are breaking
And "big houses" quaking
Lest one day ousts all they ever have done,
Our crossness can't mend it,
Our weeping won't end it.
Why not take the bright side and call it all fun?
Will forbidden pleasures
Or imbecile measures
Bring back our lost confidence—lift the dark cowl?
No, no, to-day's sorrow
Brings no brighter morrow:
When things will go bad, let us grin and not growl.

But let us keep thinking
That though we are sinking,
We can't go much further,—cease it won't pay;
The old saw not forgetting,
That's cured lots of fretting,
"The hour is the darkest just before the day!"
Though vacant our purses,
Though creditors curse us,
Though quarters are squeezed till the eagles all howl,
Let's keep merry faces
And smiles for all places,
For surely 'tis better to grin than to growl.—Selected.

VARIETY.

A man, when he is "hard up," is mostly down in the world.

Ono.—That rivers should be so full just where they empty themselves.

When a girl hunts a husband, the engagement ring, to be in keeping, should be chased.

Teach your children to help themselves—but not to what doesn't belong to them.

Many institutions are improperly called seminaries, for they do not half teach anything.

An author should always be careful not to mistake voluminousness for luminousness.

"That's a flame of mine," as the bellows said to the fire.

May the person who makes one pound two a day, be said to double his capital?

Politeness is like an air cushion; there may be nothing solid in it, but it eases the jolts wonderfully.

A man will generally give you his advice without charge; but you will often be cheated if you take it.

Solomon says that the tongue is not easily bridled. But it is easily bit—though he doesn't say so.

A lecturer asserted that all bitter things were hot. "No," suggested Brown, "not a bitter cold day."

A HINT FOR CINCINNATI.—A humanitarian butcher, in Punch, proposes the use of chloroform in the business of killing pigs. As it has been introduced into hospitals, he thinks the same motives should cause its adoption in butchers' shops.

Question.—Who settled Virginia?
Answer.—John Smith.
Ques.—Who unsettled Virginia?
Ans.—John Brown.

We find the above going the rounds of the Republican papers. We submit the following in addition:
Ques.—Who settled John Brown?
Ans.—Virginia.

OYSTER SOUP (FINE!)—Take one quart of oysters and separate them from the liquor, wash them thoroughly in a pint of water, strain the liquor, add one pint of milk, some mace, nutmeg and pepper, with three crackers pounded fine, and one-fourth pound of butter to the liquor, boil all together about five minutes, take it off the fire; when about to serve up the soup put in the oysters and let it boil one minute. The soup will then be ready for the table. For each quart of oysters a pint of milk must be added, and every other ingredient in proportion to the quantity required. Three pints of oysters are sufficient for eight persons.

RATHER COOL.—"A scene occurred at our depot," writes a Missouri friend, "the other day, which for cool impudence, I have seldom seen paralleled. I was standing there on the arrival of the St. Louis packet, when a gentleman came up and addressed a man standing close by me, and evidently a stranger to him, with the common Western question,

"Do you use tobacco?"

"Yes sir," he graciously replied, and producing a plug of the largest dimensions, he handed it to the applicant, who, taking out his knife, cut off about one-fifth of it, with the observation:

"There's tobacco enough for any man, ain't there?"

"Well, I should think there was," was the indignant reply.

"Very well, you take it then," he coolly observed, and handing him the small piece, he put the plug in his pocket and walked away.—Harper's Mag.

FUN AT HOME.—Don't be afraid of a little fun at home, good people! Don't shut up your houses lest the sun should fade your carpets and your hearts, lest a hearty laugh should shake down some of the musty old cobwebs there! If you want to ruin your sons, let them think that all mirth and social enjoyment must be left on the threshold without, when they come home at night. When once a home is regarded as only a place to eat, drink, and sleep in, the work is begun that ends in gambling-houses and reckless degradation. Young people must have fun and relaxation somewhere; if they do not find it at their own hearthstones, it will be found at other less profitable places. Therefore let the fire burn brightly at night, and make the home-nest delightful with all those little arts that parents so perfectly understand. Don't repress the buoyant spirits of your children; half an hour of merriment around the lamp and fire light at home, blots out the remembrance of many a care and annoyance during the day, and the best safeguard they can take with them into the world is the unseen influence of a bright little domestic sanctum.—Life Illustrated.

RICH.—Mr. Carboy's particular friend, Dr. Baggs, has made a most wonderful discovery. He has concocted a remedy which will remove all the ills that flesh is heir to—and the hair, too. Mr. Carboy at once sat down and wrote this announcement. Here it is. The proprietors of the Atlas will please send the bill to Oscar Baggs, invisible Terrace, Myth street, Nowhere.

THE GREAT REMEDY!
COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SNAKETAIL BARK.
DR. BAGGS, M. D. A. S. S.,

Having accidentally and providentially discovered this truly great remedy in the innermost bowels of the Mammoth Cave, now offers it to the distressed and diseased public.

BAGGS' SNAKETAIL BARK

Cures the most obstinate cases of inflammatory catarrhus; distractions of the spiral nerves; low bridge on the abominable canals; bloody flummux; swelled spanals; constipated apoplex; vertical in the head; weakness of the appetite; repress irritation of the shiv and utensils generally; removes bunions, tan, freckles, corns and other extravagances from the face, neck and shoulders; spheroid fever and drum ager.

None genuine that doesn't come from Baggs. See that his cork is stamped on his name.

Be sure that "Snaketail Park" is blown into the bottle. Read these Certificates:

SPRUCE RUN, Nov. 9, 1859.

DEAR BIGGS:—Your snake tale bark has resolved by hole system, solar and all. Our family doctor and I had an animal cooley, he called it, in my surreptious, but he was rung, as usual. I took two bottles accordin to directshun, and have been wrcalm ever since. P. S.—I think I don's want any more, as my wife says she don't want to be a wider agin.

Yours, HO. YE AFFLICTED.

Mrs. Bulldead was entirely cured of an enraged cuticle by one bottle.

Seth Chaffer was so far gone with a pecuniary disease, that he could not be moved in his bed; took two bottles. The first bottle weakened the disease, the second relieved him from all further pain; he was lifted from his bed, and hasn't been in it since.

Smith O'Brash, by taking one bottle, secured a free passage through the gates of the Hoboken Ferry, which he had never had before.

Mrs. Demurrlerry gave her afflicted husband nine bottles, and she rejoicingly writes, "He is now beyond the reach of disease and sparrit doctors."

Mr. Sympel Tom, of Poodlick, Eight Corners, caught cold after being thrown into a violent perspiration by dodging a creditor. He gave the creditor a bottle of the Snaketail, and the cause of the perspiration and cold has not been heard of since.

Mister Karl had an unaccorbrated tenton in his eye; one bottle removed it to the other eye, and two bottles run it out.

The physicians all recommend it as a great aid to their practice. Several distinguished undertakers praise it highly; one of them writes: "I wish Baggs' Snaketail was in every house in the land!" livery stable keepers recommend it; Smith, the Morning Goody shrekkeeper, says it is an invaluable aid to his business. Price $1 per single bottle; five bottles for $2; ten bottles for 50 cents, and by the dozen in proportion. A liberal discount to the trade.
