DESTRUCTIVE FIRES.

TWO FIREMEN INJURED—LOSS ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.

About three minutes before six o'clock yesterday evening, as the night watch of the Fifth precinct were about turning out to relieve the patrolmen who had been on duty during the altern on, a column of smoke was seen issuing from a small shed at No. 18 Worth street, near the corner of Hudson. In an incredibly short time the fire was communicated to a five story building adjoining, occupied by Mr. D. A. Young as a packing box factory. A fierce wind was blowing toward West Broadway at the time, and before the arrival of the fire engines the flames had gained such headway that it seemed at that moment next to an impossibility to save any portion of the block. Nos. 12, 14 and 16 Worth street constitute an extensive brick shed-like structure, which was used for the storage of iron and steel rails by Mr. G. A. Whitney. On the easterly side of Young's box factory, and on the corner of West Broadway, stood a four story brick building, the first floor of which was occupied as a liquor saloon, the upper part being divided off into apartments and rented to several families.

That portion of the street where the fire originated is very narrow, and the firemen, notwithstanding their earnest efforts, had so many difficulties to contend against that it was only after a stubborn struggle with ladder and hose that they were enabled to gain the mastery of the element.

The fire attracted an immense crowd of people, and it was with difficulty that the police, under Captain Caffrey, cleared sufficient space for the firemen to work in.

Considerable difficulty was encountered in compelling the poor people to move out of the house on the corner of Worth street and West Broadway. All of their worldly possessions were there, and naturally enough they clung to the idea of saving their goods even in the face of great danger. Captain Caffrey finally found it necessary to send in five of his men, the squad being reinforced by Sergeant Joseph Haggerty and three of his patrolmen. Scarcely had the last policeman left the tenement house, driving the half-crazed inmates before them, when the wall fell over on it, completely demolishing the western corner of the building. A fireman named McGowan, a member of Company No. 5, narrowly escaped with his life. He sustained a concussion of the spine, the result of his having to jump from the roof of the burning building to the roof of a tenement house adjoining.

John Nolan, fireman, also a member of No. 6 company, had his hands and face badly burned while helping McGowan at the pipe. He was brought to the Park Hospital, where his burns were attended to by Dr. Smith.

The aggregate loss is estimated at $100,000. The buildings, Nos. 22 and 24 Worth street, where the fire broke out, are owned and occupied by Mr. D. A. Young, as a box manufactory. It is said that he is fully insured. Two weeks ago Mr. Young leased the premises to Messrs. Reed & Co., of Washington street, between Jay and Harrison streets, who were to commence a lard factory there. About 400 butter and lard drums, belonging to Messrs. Reed, were in the building at the time of the fire, causing the intense heat. Mr. John Purcell, of No. 482 Broome street, owned the four story brick buildings No. 60 and 62 West Broadway, and his loss is estimated at $15,000, the falling wall of the burning building having thrown down at least one-half of No. 62. Mr. Purcell is insured for $9,500 in the Continental Insurance Company. James Lowery, tin roofer, No. 62 West Broadway, loses $200; insured for $600 in North River Insurance Company. Richard Kearney, liquor dealer, occupied the corner store and first floor. Loss $2,000; insured for $2,500 in the Peter Cooper Insurance Company. Michael King, No. 60 West Broadway, loses $100; not insured. Nunnery & Ford, plumbers, No. 60 West Broadway, lose $150; insured for $1,000 in the Hartford Insurance Company.

Nos. 56 and 58 West Broadway, owned by a Mr. Clare, were slightly damaged by water. The rear of No. 56, a four story tenement house, was very much injured by the falling wall, the loss being about $5,000. D. R. Kinney, D. S. Salmon, P. Houlahan, Timothy J. Kane, Mrs. McGonigle and others residing at No. 62, lose nearly all they possessed.

The rear buildings of Nos. 40 and 42 Thomas street were also seriously injured. Nos. 18 and 20 Worth street, occupied as an iron and hardware store, were slightly damaged.

OTHER FIRES.

At about five o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out on the first floor of the three story brick building No. 258 Mott street, occupied by Thomas Ryan as a distillery. The loss is estimated at $1,200, which is fully covered by insurance. James Garland, who was in the building at the time, while attempting to escape fell into the alleyway, breaking his right leg. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital.

Shortly before twelve o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the second floor of No. 474 Grand street, occupied as an oyster saloon and dwelling house by Aaron Van Name. The damage to stock is estimated at $2,000 and to the building at $200; not insured. The fire was caused by Mrs. Van Name accidentally throwing a lighted match among a lot of rubbish piled in a bedroom.

FIRE IN BAYONNE, N. J.

A magnificent dwelling house on Third street, Bayonne, was burned down on Tuesday night. There is no fire department in that city worth the name, and the flames had uncontrolled sway. The building was erected and formerly occupied by Mr. Griswold, but a few years ago it passed into the hands of Mr. Einstein, a wealthy New York merchant. The structure was the most attractive in the vicinity of Bergen Point. It was unoccupied, and the family were just preparing to return to it for the summer. The loss is about $16,000, on which there is an insurance of $10,000.

OILCLOTH FACTORY BURNED.

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 21, 1875.

The extensive oilcloth factory belonging to the Eastern Manufacturing Company, of which E. G. Brown is President, took fire at half-past eight o'clock this morning and was entirely destroyed. The loss is $100,000; insured for $25,000 in Newark and New York companies.

A LADIES' SPELLING MATCH.

FORTY YOUNG LADIES OF THE NORMAL COLLEGE UNDER A SPELL.

The young ladies of the Normal College gave a morning entertainment yesterday and introduced a spelling match as the chief feature in the programme. It was quite a holiday for the young ladies, and several hundred guests were also present and took pleasure in witnessing the proficiency displayed by the students in spelling the very difficult words that were selected by the lady teacher who examined them.

The exercises commenced at half-past nine A. M., and the forty lady spellers were marshalled and divided into two sides of twenty each. Some 350 words had been written out by Mr. Fuller, the headmaster, but with very few exceptions they were spelled correctly, and as the opposing ranks were thinning very slowly it became a matter of question whether to continue the match until night or subject the contestants to the very severe alternative of selecting from Greek and Latin proper names and geographical names. As some of the elderly parties present were anxious for lunch, it was decided to commence the slaughter of the innocents at once. The first poser selected was "Mityleue," but it did not take even a moment's thought, and was rattled off as easy as if it had been "ice cream" or any other familiar word. "Hippocrates," "Polybius," "Phocion," "Cappadocia" and others were all spelt without an error, and finally the examiner, waxing desperate, gave "Merthyr Tydvil," down in Wales. That proved a setter, and a blonde and brunette went to grass together, as the victorious examiner gave out in rapid succession Aschylus, a Greek poet; Vercingetorix and Van Diemen's Land. It was really painful to see the cruel havoc that those few words made, as only a few stragglers stood up against them. The first prize in the match was finally awarded to Miss Mary E. Merrington, a young lady who really defies Webster. Miss Susie Tower took second honors, and Miss Marguerite Merrington, a sister of Miss Mary, was awarded third place. Mr. James W. Farr, Chairman of the Commission on Normal College, presided during the match, and Commissioners Fuller, Traud and Herring, of the Board of Education, were also present. After the spelling match was over Commissioner Herring delivered an eloquent address, in which he complimented the young ladies on the extraordinary proficiency they had displayed under the severe tests they were subjected to. It was estimated that only three per cent of the words given were missed.

Miss Roberts read a satirical composition, that was written with great ability, and Miss Dennison delivered a pleasing and interesting address. The exercises concluded with a species of burlesque charade, in which some ten or twelve young ladies took part. In the last scene a short poem was read, giving a description of the battle of Lexington. The parts in the charade were cleverly represented, and the visitors left shortly before one o'clock P. M., much pleased with the morning's entertainment.

THE WAR IN CUBA.

VALMASEDA'S HEADQUARTERS AT COLON—INSURGENT RETALIATION BY INCENDIARISM—MAXIMO GOMEZ IN FORCE—THE CAPTAIN GENERAL HESITATES TO GIVE BATTLE.

HAVANA, April 17, 1875.

No forward movement has been made by the Spanish forces since Valmaseda made Colon his headquarters. The volunteers from all parts of the island are concentrating at Colon, Las Cruces and Cienfuegos. Another regiment of volunteers—the engineers—leave Havana on Monday for the seat of war.

INSURGENT INCENDIARISM.

On the 14th the insurgents burned the sugar estates called the Colmena and Anton and destroyed all the buildings and machinery. These places are in the jurisdiction of Colon and are about twenty miles from Valmaseda's headquarters.

SPANISH MILITARY SYMPATHY WITH THE REBELS.

The engineers who were employed on these estates and who arrived here last night report that the insurgents numbered 700 and that 800 Spanish soldiers and volunteers refused to give them battle.

AFRAID OF THE PATRIOTS.

Maximo Gomez is on the Caletales, at the gap of the Siguana Mountains, the country township of which is Yaguaramas, at the head of 5,000 cavalry and 1,000 infantry, and awaiting Sanguily's arrival with another strong force to give Valmaseda battle.

THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE ALFONSIST COMMANDER.

Valmaseda is still at Las Cruces, in a small hut, defended by stakes driven into the ground and surrounded by his bodyguard. He dare not advance upon Villa Clara, because Macagua and Colon and the Potrerillas are open to attack, and this explains his delay in Las Cruces and the assembling of his forces back of Colon, which are calculated to-day to exceed 25,000 men, including volunteers.

SKIRMISHING ALONG THE LINE.

Since he reached his present headquarters eighteen sugar estates have been burned, and he has been powerless to suppress the conflagrations.

In the small encounter (or what is called battle) of the Camarones some ten days ago, the Spanish column lost 218 killed.

The insurgent loss is not given.

To-day two regiments of volunteers (the Second artillery and Sixth infantry) started for the front. They number 1,000 men each.

THE VALUE OF ROYALIST PLEDGES.

The following news is extracted from a letter, received here from Santander, Spain:—"General Calixto Garcia, who was brought here while Concha was in command in Cuba, and was promised good treatment by him, is now confined in the Castle of San Antonio, in Santander, and subjected to the most ignominious treatment."

THE CUBANS IN NEW YORK—"LA SANTA TEA."

Great excitement reigned in Cuban circles in New York yesterday afternoon upon the arrival of news in the city, by steamer, from Havana. The Cubans were delighted at the reports of the wholesale burning of sugar plantations by the "Santa Tea" or Holy Torch of the patriots.

Information was received of the burning of San Rafael plantation, belonging to an American citizen residing in New York, worth $800,000, and that all its mills, &c., had been destroyed.

EMBARGOED ESTATES.

It was reported on best authority that agents of the Havana authorities in this city are offering to release the embargoed estates in Cuba on the payment of a small sum of money. Among the Cubans who have recently thus recovered their property is Mr. Bacheller Morales, of Havana.

CUBAN SUCCESSES IN THE FIELD.

Among the other items of news discussed by the Cubans yesterday was the fact that a battle had taken place between Valmaseda's forces, at Las Cruces, between Villa Clara and Cienfuegos, and the patriot forces commanded by Maximo Gomez. After this success Gomez proceeded to the west. He met the repeating orders at Palmyra, in Cienfuegos district, near the boundary of Colon. Here a sanguinary engagement took place, in which the Spaniards were routed, after a twelve hours' engagement.

TREASURE TROVE.

A QUANTITY OF GOLD COIN FOUND IN A CESSPOOL AT FACTORYVILLE, STATEN ISLAND.

As a HERALD reporter stepped ashore yesterday afternoon at Factoryville, Staten Island, he was saluted with—

"Hallo! are you come to pick up some more of our hidden treasure?"

The querist showed the way to the "church with the town clock in it," on the corner of Dongan street, opposite to which is situated near the mansion formerly occupied by Charles Windsor, once cashier of the Mercantile Bank, in Broadway, New York, and President of the Staten Island Street Railroad Company. In the summer of 1864 Windsor became a defaulter to the amount of $150,000 or $160,000 of the funds of the Mercantile Bank and fled to Europe, where it is thought that he still resides. His beautiful villa, which is yet known as the Windsor mansion, has a well kept lawn, surrounded by a small grove of spruce firs and ornamental trees. It is a large two story building. At its rear is a water closet. While this was being cleared out Tuesday last a considerable amount of

was discovered. It appears that the premises have belonged since Windsor's departure to his sister, formerly Mrs. Williamson, and now married to Mr. Albert Bodine. During the family's temporary absence their gardener, a man named John Regan, was instructed to have the water closet cleaned out, while other repairs were going on about the house. Isaias Harry, an old-an German, took the job of cleaning it for $18. To help him Harry had his son John and a youth named McLaughlin. On Monday afternoon, when the two young men were down to a depth of fifteen feet underground in the cesspool, and old Harry on the surface, they lighted upon a certain sum in gold coin, the precise amount of which will hardly ever be ascertained. Old Harry admits that the boys found money, but says he never saw any of it. The boys concealed their discovery from him, and it was only when they got on a spree on Tuesday that the finding became known. The old man states that on Monday evening they all knocked off work at the usual hour, and the place was left unwatched until Tuesday morning, so that those knowing of the discovery of money could have come there and have fished out whatever portion of the treasure might still have been

CONCEALED IN THE CESSPOOL.

John Regan, the gardener, says that, to his certain knowledge, the water closet was cleaned out about five years ago. He heard that some $6,000 were taken from the finders and lodged in the police station. He had seen but one piece of the money, in value $20.

The carpenters, painters and other workmen around the house looked completely mystified, and seemed to know nothing at all about the matter. A visit to the police station, not far off, found Captain Blake, Chief of the Staten Island police force, in consultation with his local officers concerning this mysterious treasure trove. The captain was old with the importance of the case, and would divulge none of the facts in his possession, alleging as a reason that the case was not "sufficiently worked up to give to the public." He had heard rumors that from $500 to $16,000 had been found. The money was loose in the dirt, and was picked out at different times. The boys had not been under arrest. McLaughlin's father brought to Captain Blake the amount of coin now on deposit with the latter. The Captain into saying how much the sum is, but to a question as to the denomination of the pieces replied that "they are big, sir, big." As a smart looking turnout was at the door it was asked if it required a buggy and pair to move the bullion. Captain Blake said yes, "it had come in that buggy." He also informed the reporter that the Windsor Mansion had been occupied, after the flight of its owner, by a New York merchant named Green. This tenant left the place three or four years ago, and never was known to have had either financial or domestic troubles. The officer further said that there was nothing apparent thus far that could connect the name of Windsor with the money found. No claimant has as yet turned up to ask for the money, nor has any clew been found by which the rightful owner can be discovered. A long tramp to Staten Island police headquarters at Stapleton elicited no further information as to the affair. Captain Blake believes that this afternoon he will probably be prepared to give publicity to the data now in the possession.

THE RAILWAY WAR.

PRESIDENT GARRETT REPORTED TO BE VICTORIOUS OVER TOM SCOTT.

It was reported yesterday that President Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, had overcome the impediments which Tom Scott had thrown in his way, and had procured means of communicating with New York city independent of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad. This means was said to be the New Jersey Southern Railway, whose northern terminus is at Sandy Hook, and whose southern terminus is at Cadmen, N. J., opposite Philadelphia. It is by no means certain that yesterday's report is true; but if it is true the management of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway will have procured means of transit for passengers and freight from New York to the West in despite of the opposition of Tom Scott.

THE COURTS.

In the great railroad bond forgery case, being tried before Judge Sedgwick, of the Superior Court, all the testimony on both sides was submitted yesterday. Counsel will sum up to-day, and every effort will be made to reach a verdict this week, a verdict that, from the nature of the case, will be looked forward to with great interest.

The jury of the United States Circuit Court, in the case of Libermann against the Germania Life Insurance Company, to recover the amount of a $12,500 policy on the life of one Rosenthal, who insured his life to cover a debt due the plaintiff, and subsequently committed suicide in San Francisco, failed to agree on the point of insanity and were discharged. The jury, it is understood, stood five for plaintiff and seven for the company.

Thomas Radcliffe, who was arrested some time ago for subornation of perjury in inducing certain persons to personate property owners in going "straw" bail, was committed yesterday by Commissioner Shields to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Frederick Evers, who formerly kept a sailors' boarding house and who shot James Curran, the keeper of a rival establishment, was, as will be remembered, convicted of felonious assault, with intent to kill, before Recorder Hackett in the Court of General Sessions, and sentenced to State Prison for three years. He now applies for bail on a writ of error on appeal. The case will be taken up in a day or two by Judge Barrett.

William W. Tillotson, treasurer of Booth's Theatre, gave bail in the sum of $500 yesterday, before United States Commissioner Davenport, to await an examination on the charge of violating the Civil Rights bill by refusing a parquet ticket to William Davis, a colored man.

Judge Blatchford, of the United States Circuit Court, yesterday rendered his decision in the habeas corpus proceedings on the attachment issued out of the Circuit Court of the District of Columbia against Charles A. Dana, who failed to appear in answer to a subpœna on March 19. The decision discharges Mr. Dana, the petitioner, from the custody of the Marshal of this District.

The trial of Henry L. Farris against William G. Fargo, of Wells, Fargo & Co., and one of much interest to the holders of stock in joint stock companies, was tried yesterday in the Supreme Court, before Judge Lawrence. The jury after a short deliberation returned with a verdict in favor of the defendant.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

BOSTON VS. NEW HAVEN.

Notwithstanding the extreme cold weather the Boston and New Haven clubs played yesterday at New Haven in the presence of a large number of spectators. The Bostons walked right away with their weaker adversaries, winning the game by the following score:—

Clubs.	1st.	2d.	3d.	4th.	5th.	6th.	7th.	8th.	9th.
Boston	0	0	3	1	3	0	1	1	5	—14
New Haven	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	2	—3

Umpire—Mr. Avery.

PHILADELPHIA VS. CENTENNIAL.

The Philadelphia and Centennial clubs were to have played their first game last Monday, but the inclement weather prevented. Yesterday, however, they met at the Quaker City, and the result was a sharp, well-contested game, much to the surprise of the base ball community, who imagined the Philadelphias would welcoming annihilate the other boys.

The result was as follows:—

Clubs.	1st.	2d.	3d.	4th.	5th.	6th.	7th.	8th.	9th.
Philadelphia	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	1	4	—7
Centennial	0	1	0	1	0	0	1	1	0	—4

Umpire—Mr. Clapp, of the Athletic Club.

NOTES AND GOSSIP.

In the Boston-New Haven game last Monday, Geer, of the New Havens, made three base hits, his club getting out five total.

To-day the Athletics play the Philadelphias at Philadelphia. Pools on the game will be sold at No. 101 Bowery, and at Johnson's, corner of Broadway and Twenty-eighth street, where telegraphic reports of each inning will be received and posted in sight of all.

ARRIVALS.

REPORTED BY THE HERALD STEAM YACHTS AND HERALD WHITESTONE TELEGRAPH LINE.

Steamer W A Scholten (Dutch), Hus, Rotterdam April 3, via Plymouth, with mdse and 63 passengers to Funch, Edye & Co. Left Plymouth April 9, 2 PM: had a favorable trip to lat 44 07, lon 49 17, on 15th April, when we met a 7.30 PM, with some floating ice, which increased so suddenly that at 9:30 we were surrounded by heavy fields, with bergs west as far as the eye could reach, with an opening at SW and slowly steered that direction as much as the openings in the ice would allow us. At 11 however, the ice increased, some cakes being 20 feet thick, with a surface of 5,000 square feet, we were surrounded by icebergs, some of them estimated at 80 feet high and 600 feet long; we dared scarcely advance, and it was only next morning at daylight that we ventured to go on and steer SSW, when we saw the only opening in the ice and escaped the greater part of the ice fields. We found propeller damaged, all four blades having a piece off; the bow was stove in and fore compartment filled with water; finding no water in the forehold, after continual soundings, we went on, but only slowly on account of a heavy fog, which cleared up at 1 PM April 16; at 3 PM we saw the last berg; at 4 PM, in lat 42 51, lon 50 36, exchanged signals with a Cunard steamer steamer bound east, and warned her of the ice.
