The Twin Drops.

Once, upon an april-day,
Rain-drops twin chanced to stray
From the shower distilling Heaven.
Like children in their glee,
Wist with delight they bounded, and as free;
The rude Winds parted them, and drop from drop was driven.

The skies grew dark and cold;
A Cloud between them rolled;
They fled the airy fields, affrighted,
And sought the Earth at last.
One, where was spread a Desert lone and vast,
Upon an arid plain of burning sands alighted.

As a mother greets her child,
The panting Desert leaped and smiled.
Spring's bright vesta there!
And beneath that burning sun
The laughing waters soon uprose and run;
And virgin flowers perfumed the ever charmed air.

Thirsting, with lips aflame,
A dying traveler came;
Life, hope, and joy before him lies.
He saw! the blessed drop was there!
And, bending low, he drank it with a prayer;
Then laid him down and slept, and dreamed of paradise.

The other near the haunts of men
Fell, in a poison Fen,
And mingled with its crimson tide.
Came the innocent! a light
And sportive youth, who spied the waters bright,
Thirsted, and drank the drop, the cursed drop, and died.

Thus each its race had run;
Its mortal errand done;
And now, transfirred, transfigured there!
Freed from all stain of Earth,
Smiles in the Heaven that gave those Sisters birth,
Alike the glory of that Bow that spans the air.

W. S. H.

Honolulu, January, 1861.

VARIETY.

What goes most against a farmer's grain? His reaping-machine.

Somebody says that the best way to keep food on a weak stomach is to bolt it down.

How does a cow become a landed estate? By turning her into a field.

The prettiest trimming for a woman's bonnet is a good-humored face.

Shoemakers and mikmen make good sailors, because both are used to working at the pumps.

"So far, so good," as the boy said when he finished the first pot of his mother's jam.

When the Irishman first tried peaches, he said he liked the flavor but the seeds lay hard in his stomach.

Why should potatoes grow better than other vegetables? Because they have eyes to see what they are doing.

It is said that a watch-dog is not so learge in the morning as at night, because he is let out at night and taken in in the morning.

"Why, John, I don't think you like liver"

"O yes," said John, "I like it very well for fifty or sixty meals, but I don't like it as a steady diet."

The old lady cooked something else for the next meal.

Victor Emanuel, according to a recent rumor from Italy, is again to be excommunicated, his name being this time specially mentioned in the Bull. The previous excommunication included all who favored the schemes against the Papal power, and if effectual, has, it is estimated, consigned no less than 12,000,000 of Italian souls to perdition.

"Mother," said a little urchin the other day, "why are orphans the happiest children on the earth?"

"They are not my child; but what makes you ask that question."

"Cause they have no mother to spank'em!"

STRIKE PUNISHMENT.—The Rev. H. W. Beecher, formerly an advocate of Sharp's rifles, has recently became a convert to the breech-loading principle, as may be seen from his "advice to parents," in a late sermon: "Never strike a child on the head. Providence has supplied other and more appropriate places of punishment.

There is something imposing in silence; it is poetical—sublime. But purposeless speech is disgusting; it is only like the throwing of ballast out of a balloon—dead matter flung from a bag of wind.

ANSWERING TWO QUESTIONS AT A TIME.—"Here, Biddy, darlint, what's the time o'night, and where's the pertaty pudding?" "It's eight, sir."

The man who yearns for an immortality of fame is most likely to be forgotten a week after death; it is awarded only to him who works on patiently, and leaves his work to reap what fame they will.

THE DATS OF THE WEEK.—The following is a pretty version of acertain Devonshire superstition, which, from its language, appears to be connected with the North:—

Monday's Bairn is fair of face;
Tuesday's Bairn is fu' of grace;
Wednesday's Bairn's the child of woe;
Thursday's Bairn has far to go;
Friday's Bairn is loving and giving;
Saturday's Bairn works hard for his living;
But the Bairn that is born on the Sabbath day,
Is lucky, and bonny, and wise, and gay.

HOSON AND CREDIT.—One of our emi nent lawyers, of Irish descent, was engaged some time since, to defend an Irishman who had been charged with theft. Assuming the prerogative of his position, the counsel in a short private interview with his client, said to him, "Now, Patrick, as I am to defend you, I want you to tell me frankly whether you are guiltly or not. Did you steal the goods?" "Faith, then," says Pat, "I suppose I must tell yez. In troth, I did stale 'em!" "Then you ought to be ashamed of yourself to come here and disgrace your country by stealing!" said the honest counsel. "In troth, sir, may be I ought then; but if I didn't stale, you wouldn't have the honor and credit of getting me off!"—Boston Journal.

PERMANENT INVESTMENTS.—We find the following commercial dissertation in the financial column of the Independent:—

Investing in champagne at $2 a bottle—an acre of good government land costs $1.25.

Investing in tobacco and cigars, daily, one year, $50—seven barrels of good flour will cost $49.

Investing in "drinks," one year, $100—$100 will pay for ten daily and fifteen monthly periodicals.

Investing in theatrical amusements one year, $200—$200 will buy an excellent library.

Investing in a fast horse, $500—400 acres of good wild land costs $500.

Investing in a yacht, including bettings and drinkings for the season, $5000—$5000 will buy a good improved country farm.

Panics, hard times, loss of time, red faces, bad tempers, poor health, ruin of character, misery, starvation, death and a terrible future may be avoided by looking at the above square in the face.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart. The absence of content, the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress, the cheerless home, the forbidden scowl, and deserted hearth—these, and other nameless neglects, without a crime among them, have harrowed to the quick the heart's core of many a man, and planted there beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh, may woman before that sight arrives, dwell on the recollection of her youth, and cherishing the dear idea of that tuneful time, awaken and keep alive the promise she so kindly gave. And though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgottenand not the forgetting—a happy allusion to the hour of peaceful love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love, to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of selfish man, will soften to her charms, and bid her live as she had hoped, her years of matchless bliss, loved, loving, and content—the source of comfort and the spring of joy.
