STABLE PRICES AIM OF BUILDERS

Efforts Are Being Made to Facilitate Contemplated Construction.

Important changes are to develop within the next ten days, according to the Dow Service Daily Building Reports, in the matter of facilitating architects and others in estimating new construction work as a result of efforts on the part of contractors, building material manufacturers and dealers alike to bring about a market that can be relied upon by those who contemplate construction. The building market at present is almost entirely stagnated by reason of strikes and lockouts of labor in the building trades, but there is a volume of prospective work on architects' boards that indicate a gradual resumption of construction running through the coming year.

The efforts to bring about more stable conditions in the building material price market has already brought out some commercial mortgage money, but speculative building financing probably will be deferred until after the first of July, by which time the volume of construction then moving may be determined. Space released by the Government is being snapped up quickly, which has had a strengthening effect upon the commercial construction market.

Common brick prices seem to be firmly established at the $15 level where they probably will remain until the end of the winter. Covering charges, representing approximately $1 a thousand are being carried generally by the dealer, who, to save expense is keeping them on barges instead of stacking brick in his yard under the present high cost of stacking.

The building year closes with many important changes in store, probably the most important of which is that of the merger of the various stone crushing interests. War time money is seeking new peace time channels for investment and the rugged conditions under which building materials have been handled in this market from manufacturing plant to consumer in the past, is likely to receive attention before very long from big business interests concerned with American industries.
