CURB TRADING HAS A STRONGER TONE

Several Issues Record Large Gains—Industrial Stocks Generally Advance.

Although price changes at the close were irregular a decidedly stronger tone was in evidence in yesterday's curb trading. Strength was found in some quarters and several substantial advances were made from Tuesday's closing levels. In the oils Houston Oil was several points higher on light trading and Midwest Refining moved about two points higher. A new high was reached in Commonwealth Petroleum. The widest movement in the Standard Oil group was a drop of eight points in the price of Galena Signal.

Industrial stocks enjoyed advances generally, but several issues reacted from early highs. General Asphalt after opening lower advanced several points. There was trading for the first time in British American Chemical on a large scale. A loss of more than a point was shown at the close from the initial sale. Manhattan Shirt was strong and there was good demand for Anglo-American Commercial and Martin Parry, both of which gained fractions.

Mining securities as a rule were quiet and with mixed price changes at the end of the session. Nipissing Mines was strong and there was good demand for Alaska Mines in the early part of the session.
