COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1865.

ANOTHER week has passed without an arrival from San Francisco, or from the Northern whaling fleet, and business has been unusually slack, particularly for the beginning of a quarter.

The arrivals from foreign ports for the past week, are the Hawaiian schooner Odd Fellow, Cluney, from Baker's Island; British ship Mandarin, Murter, from Shanghae, and the Hawaiian bark A. J. Pope, Geerken, from Bremen.

The departures have been the British bark Magnolia, Berry, for Shanghae; Hawaiian schooner Odd Fellow, Cluney, for Jarvis and Baker's Island, via Waimea, Kauai, and the British ship Mandarin, Murter, and Chilean bark Alberto, Broderson, for Valparaiso.

The D C Murray, of the Hawaiian Packet Line, sails to-day with a small freight for San Francisco.

The United States consular exchange, payable in gold, amounting to about $15,000, was taken up on Saturday last, at from two to seven per cent. premium, the bulk of it at five per cent. On Monday the Consul disposed of $5,600 exchange drawn on the Secretary of the Navy, payable in gold, at 4¼ per cent premium.

The following are the arrivals and departures of merchant vessels for the month of September:

CURIOSITIES OF TAXATION.—There are some very peculiar fluctuations noticeable in the returns made to the assessors of internal revenue, and the enormous difference in the income of one year over another are startling commentaries on the uncertainties of business. One man in New York who had no property to speak of in 1863, returns an income of $64,000 in 1864. He has evidently been successful in oil or stocks. One large mercantile house made sales to the amount of forty-two millions of dollars, and the leading partner's income was six hundred thousand dollars. A. T. Stewart in 1864, made sales to the amount of thirty-nine millions, on which he made only $300,000. In 1863 the same merchant returned an income of one million eight hundred thousand dollars.

These facts are remarkable not only as showing the immense business transacted, but also as evidence of the dizzy changes to which colossal fortunes are liable. Some of these merchants, no doubt, have acquired their wealth in the legitimate channels of trade. For many years they have shown rare ability and great discrimination in manœuvering heavy stocks of goods, as a general handles hundreds of thousands of men. But on the ocean where sails the ships of these merchant princes, multitudes of smaller crafts meet shipwreck every day. Then again there are seeming argosies, laden with silks and pearls, fair to the sight but dangerous on trial, they are overwhelmed at the first gale. There is something unhealthy and feverish in the idea of a man's growing into an income of eighty thousand dollars in a single year; and the result of such fortunes generally proves it to be true that real wealth is but acquired by patient industry.

The treasury of the United States has received some assistance in this war from many a golden bubble, shining in the morning sun but for a moment. Adventurers in pursuit of an heiress, men ambitious of social position, fast young blades who desired to astonish the world or to effect loans on doubtful securities, have returned large incomes and paid taxes accordingly. The fellow who dealt in lard, and who slipped away to Europe the other day with a half million of other people's property, was taxed for an income of $15,000 in 1863, and for twice as much in 1864, and this was a part of the false foundation on which he built up his credit. Such things are by no means new, but the tax collector brings them before us in a novel form, and people are thereby led to wonder and to moralize.—Boston Advertiser.

THE PACIFIC
Commercial Advertiser.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7.

OUR remarks of last week, concerning the administration of justice in the Police Court, have been pretty generally commented upon, and have caused some severe strictures to be passed upon the incumbent of that Court. It seems that several individuals have been cognizant of the stretch of authority exercised, but none saw fit to criticise, and thus save an unfortunate from imprisonment.

The question naturally arises, were none of the officers of His Majesty's Government knowing to the unwarrantable course of the Police Justice? It is reasonable to suppose that the Attorney-General should know of it, called upon, as he doubtless has been, to prosecute on behalf of the crown, and we have good authority for stating that he was knowing to the practice; and none can doubt for a moment that he also knew it to be illegal, and that it was his duty to protect any and all of His Majesty's subjects from unlawful imprisonment. We have heard it rumored that the Attorney-General did call the attention of the Police Justice to the illegality of the act, but that there was a difference of opinion in the matter, which should have been immediately referred to the Supreme Bench for a decision, but, probably owing to the more important private matters of the Attorney-General, the subject was overlooked and the mal-practice was continued. The liberty of every subject should be respected—but more particularly a class who, by circumstance of birth and education, have no distinct idea of their rights as guaranteed to them by the Constitution and laws of the kingdom—and by none more religiously than by those placed in authority over them. Imagine the same act of injustice and hardship perpetrated upon a foreigner, who had a full knowledge of his rights, and who had, through the badgering of an attorney, perhaps, from being misunderstood by an interpreter, been led to make some contradiction to his direct testimony, immediately snapped up by a Judge and told that he was guilty of perjury, and that it was a contempt of Court, and for it he should commit him to prison for thirty days. Would not the Judge be made to suffer in case the party was confined, even for a day? But we are knowing to a case of peculiar hardship, none the less so because the parties were natives. A man was brought up for an offence, for which, if found guilty, he could but suffer a fine of five dollars, and in his defence called upon his wife for her testimony, and for some misstatement of facts she was imprisoned for thirty days, or was so sentenced, but has not as yet served out the full period. Let the party be black or white, and grant that the separation of a native-born Hawaiian from his wife is no great hardship, still the principle is the same, and such reasoning is or should be foreign to the point at issue.

Is the Police Justice not liable to a suit for damages for false imprisonment, or would the Attorney-General go into Court with an armful of authorities, and pray their Honors of the Supreme Bench that the case be ruled out of Court on the ground of the offence being merely an error of judgment?

We have heard it stated, as a reason for this course on the part of the Police Justice, that it was useless to send a native on an indictment for perjury before a native jury; that he would be acquitted nine times out of ten; and that consequently the officer constituted himself Judge and jury, and thus robbed a subject of His Majesty of a sacred right, that of trial by jury, as well as depriving him of his liberty. Granted that the witnesses do perjure themselves, two wrongs never made one right.

Whether the Police Justice be fortunate enough to escape a suit for damages or not, a reprimand from the Supreme Bench would not come amiss, and would prove to His Majesty's subjects than when offences are committed by a public servant, and complaints made to those having authority, they will receive the consideration and attention which they have a right to expect.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

☞ We notice at the photograph gallery of the Weed Brothers, excellent photographs of the bark D. C. Murray and ship Ceylon. These vessels are excellent specimens of American naval architecture, and are deservedly objects of pride to their captains and officers, who display great skill in keeping them trim and neat. We were the recipients of an invitation to a small lunch party on board the Ceylon, on Thursday last, when a party of children, ladies and gentlemen were courteously welcomed by Capt. Woods and his first officer, and shown over the ship. Some two hours were pleasantly spent about her roomy decks where with awnings spread, and the cool breezes of the valley, a desirable retreat was found from the dust of the town. A lunch was partaken of, which was highly creditable to the culinary department of the ship, and especially enjoyed by the children, after which the party were rowed round the Arctic, of the same line, whose flags were displayed in honor of the occasion, and landed much pleased with their entertainment, and wishing prosperity to the Ceylon and her Commander.

☞ We learn that a foreigner—a Frenchman, the natives say—died at Waialua last week. The story goes that he left this city on horseback, and was thrown from his horse at Kalihi; that he remounted and rode as far as Moanalua, where he was again thrown, and the horse got away from him. He then walked to Waialua and went into a native house, where he died. His neck and shoulders were considerably bruised and quite black.

THE WAIMANALO MARKET.—This market was opened on Saturday last, and some splendid specimens of meat displayed. When we say that the stock is to come from the celebrated Waimanalo ranch, and that Price is to be the manager, anything farther would be superfluous.

☞ A native was killed at Kualoa last week. He was driving an ox team, and was knocked down by an ox, and before he could recover himself the heavy cart-wheels passed over his head.

☞ The late cool nights and excessively warm days, have brought on the influenza pretty extensively, among both foreigners and natives.

☞ While landing the cattle from the Kilauea, on her last trip, a native was seriously injured by a steer, whose horn penetrated his bowels.

ARRIVAL OF THE A. J. POPE.—This fine bark arrived on Thursday last from Bremen, bringing a large assorted cargo of merchandise, consigned to Messrs. Hackfeld & Co. Through the courtesy of her officers we have obtained the following memoranda of her voyage. Left Bremen on the 9th of May; was 50 days to the line; crossed in 29° 36 W.; experienced light weather to the line; from the line to 50° S. was 32 days; had squally weather, during which sprung fore and main topmasts; from 50° S. in the Atlantic to 50° S. in the Pacific was 16 days; had good weather off the Cape; was 30 days from 50° S. to the line, crossing in 120° 52 W., and from the line to port was 21 days, making the passage in 150 days.

☞ We again publish a list of letters detained in the Post-office, for want of sufficient stamps, and would suggest that parties sending letters abroad from the other islands, should put their initials or full name in pencil on the corner of the envelope:

Mrs. James King—San Francisco, California.
Mrs. T. Barry—San Francisco, California.
Wm. S. Scott—San Francisco, California.
Rev. D. Bellows—San Francisco, California.

Mrs. R. W. Carter—San Francisco, California.
Mrs. B. Godfrey—San Francisco, California.
Mrs. W. H. Gilson—New York City.
S. C. Bigelow—San Francisco, California.
Mrs. L. H. Hitchcock—Durant, Cedar County, Iowa.
Mr. T. B. Bevans—San Francisco, California.

☞ We hear it rumored that His Majesty will give a reception to Mr. G. M. M. Desnoyers, Commissioner and Consul for France, to-morrow, for the purpose of receiving the Insignia of the order of Guadalupe, forwarded by His Majesty the Emperor of Mexico.

☞ M. Desnoyers, Commissioner and Consul for France, requests us to say that he has letters in his office for James Canny, which can be obtained on application.

☞ We are requested to say that Mrs. A. W. Allen will address the Dashaways, on Saturday evening next, at half past seven o'clock.

☞ The mail by the D. C. Murray, will close at nine A. M.

WAR AND RUMORS OF WAR.—Vague reports are current that a French priest on Maui, has had some difficulty with a country magistrate, in the matter of a decision rendered by the Magistrate, that the case had been referred to the Circuit Justice in Lahaina, and that he had confirmed the decision. We may expect to hear of the arrival of a French ship-of-war in due time, when of course the matter will be settled.

☞ Two accidents occurred at the Honolulu Iron Works the past week, by one of which a man suffered from a compound fracture of the index finger of the left hand, and a lad, son of H. L. Sheldon, Esq., had two fingers of his left hand so badly crushed as to necessitate the amputation of the first joint of two of them.

☞ Mr. Wyllie's illness still continues, more alarming features having developed themselves the past week. We learn that little or no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

☞ The Annie Laurie has had her steam machinery taken out, and will be put on her old route as a sailing vessel, as soon as the necessary alterations are made.
