AN essential of a filing plan is that it should adapt filing principles to existent conditions and not seek to alter operation of business to accommodate any preconceived scheme.

If it is revealed by a careful analysis by an experienced filing man that abuses have grown up through lack of co-ordination in your establishment, you will naturally want to reform them.

Many filing plans are arbitrary inventions. They do not apply the unalterable principles of filing to the individual organization.

Amberg Filing and Indexing is based on the filing laws discovered by W. A. Amberg and proved by over fifty years of application in over 62,500 concerns.
