INDICTMENT OF NICHOLAS BIDDLE.

The following is the complaint made to the Philadelphia grand jury, and the presentment found upon it. We regret to see by the Philadelphia papers that it is doubtful whether the individuals presented will ever be brought to trial, as it is understood that two of the judges of the Court hold the doctrine that the grand jury are incapable of originating a criminal prosecution. One of the judges and the attorney general are known to hold a diff rent opinion.

[THE COMPLAINT.]

I charge Nicholas Biddle, Joseph Cowperthwait, Thomas Dunlap, Samuel Jaudon and John Andrews, with fraud and theft, in taking and using for their own benefit, and accommodating their friends, the money belonging to the stockholders of the United States Bank, which they were liberally paid to guard, and not to abuse.

My proof is the report of the Investigating Committee, made to the stockholders, in April 1841; as to the idea of the above being a breach of trust only, it is not so; it is too idle and insulting to be pretended or entertained for one moment. Away with it then, and for ever! These men, were servants, and paid for their services; so are your family domestics, to whom you give in charge your plate and other valuables; but if they appropriate it or them to themselves, they are unhesitatingly charged with, and proceeded against, as for theft, and why not N. Biddle and the rest?

AUSTIN MONTGOMERY.

[PRESENTMENT.]

To the Honorable Court of General Sessions:

The Grand Jury for the County of Philadelphia respectfully submit to the Court, on their solemn oaths or affirmations, the following statement of their proceedings:

On the twelfth day of November, 1841, a paper containing charges of a criminal nature against certain individuals, and which is hereto annexed, (marked B) was presented to the Grand Inquest, now inquiring for the county of Philadelphia, by a respectable citizen, who pledges himself to make good his charges, and be the prosecutor. An accusation coming in such a shape, the Grand Jury felt it to be an imperative duty to investigate, and accordingly subpœnas were issued for all the persons named as witnesses by the persons making the accusation, and for such others who, in the course of the examination, were found to be cognizant of any material facts having relation to the charges.

A full and searching inquiry has been instituted, and the deliberate opinion of the Grand Jury is, that certain officers connected with the United States Bank have been guilty of a gross violation of the law, colluding together to defraud those stockholders who had trusted their all to be preserved by them. And that there is good ground to warrant a prosecution of such persons for serious offences, which the Grand Jury do now present to the Court, and ask that the Attorney General be directed to send for the action of the Grand Jury bills of indictment against—first, Nicholas Biddle, Samuel Jaudon, John Andrews, and others, (to the jury unknown) for entering into a conspiracy to defraud the stockholders of the United States bank of the sum or sums of four hundred thousand dollars in the year 1836; and endeavoring to conceal the same by a fraudulent and illegal entry in 1840.

To sustain the above, endorsed Austin Montgomery, Captain Henry Mallory, Henry Horn, as accusers; Moses Hempton, Edward Coles, James L. Newbold, Joshua Lippincott, Jonathan Patterson, Thomas Taylor, and William Drayton, as witnesses.

The Grand Jury, on their solemn oaths or affirmations, do further ask, that a bill of indictment be sent to them against—second, Nicholas Biddle, Joseph Cowperthwait, Thomas Dunlap, and others, (to the jury unknown) for entering into a conspiracy to defraud, &c., the stockholders of the Bank of the United States, during the years 1836, 1837, 1838, 1839, and 1840, by which the stockholders have been defrauded out of a sum or sums of money exceeding three hundred thousand dollars.

To sustain this bill, endorse the same accusers, as in the first case; as witnesses, Moses Kempton, Edward Coles, James L. Newbold, Joshua Lippincott, Jonathan Patterson, Thomas Taylor, William Drayton, Joseph Cabot, Rodney Fisher, Richard Price, and George Handy.

The Grand Jury, on their solemn oaths and affirmations, do further ask for a bill of indictment against Alexander Lardner, Thomas Dunlap, Richard Price, Lawrence Lewis and George Hardy, and others, (to the jury unknown) for felonious liv, &c., conspiring to cheat and defraud the stockholders of the United States Bank of Pennsylvania of the sum or sums of about one hundred and thirty thousand dollars, in the year 1839. To sustain this charge, the same accusers as are the others; and as witnesses, are Moses Kempton, Edward Coles, James S. Newbold, Joshua Lippincott, Jonathan Patterson, and Thomas Taylor.

The Grand Jury would also inform the Court, that they (the jury) have before them another subject of much importance, and which involves a misdemeanor of the grossest character as committed by a Magistrate of Southwark, whose duty it is to protect the citizens and their property, instead of conniving with burglars and thieves, and taking their money, that they had stolen, and then allowing them to escape justice, and to prey again upon the community.

With respect, &c. &c.

T. B. TOWN, Foreman.

Grand Jury Room, Philadelphia, Dec. 10, 1840.

SINGULAR PHENOMENA.—The Lexington [Ky] Intelligencer, states that there is a young lady living in that vicinity, from whose thumb there have recently grown hairs, some of them twenty-six inches in length. The editor says that he has seen the young lady and can vouch for the truth of the story. The hairs grow from the inner side of the thumb and sometimes from under the nail; some of them are soft, others like bristles, and they vary in color, size and length. The growth is very rapid. A number of scientific gentlemen have examined this singular phenomenon, but can give no explanation of it.

DUTCH DINNER AT ALBANY.—The St. Nicholas Society of Albany, had an anniversary celebration at Congress Hall, on the 6th inst. Among the good things, which graced the overloaded tables, we notice those delectable delicacies: Supaan en Milk, Hoofd Kaas, Rooletjees, Hielijes en Pootjes, Krolle jees, Worst, and Gehuyt Pens.

It would seem, says the N. Y. Evening Post, that the honest Dutchmen of Albany have not entirely lost their ancient loyalty; for Mr. Yates of Schenectady, offered the following toast, which was drank with enthusiasm:

"Den 6den December. Wy, de afstammelingen van oud Nederland, vrye burgers der vereenigde Staaten van America, dezen dag verzameld tot aandenken van het vaderlandsch St. Nicolas feest, vieren inegelyks den verjaardag van WILLEM de II, soldaat en statesman, waardige voorstander der oud Batavische vryheden, vriend des volks, en voorbeeld der Souvereinen. Wenschen hem en Zyne nazaaten Zegen, en onze Nederlandsche broeders in het oud Vaderland. Fiat expand.

"Wie Neerland bloed in d'aderen vloeyt,
Van vreemde smaten vry;
Wiens hart voor Land en Koning gloyt,
Verhef den Zang, alswy."

The translation of which is—

"The 6th of December. We the descendants of ancient Netherland, citizens of the United States of America, this day assemble to commemorate the old country's festival of St. Nicholas, simultaneously celebrate the anniversary of the birth of WILLIAM II, a soldier, a statesman, the worthy vindicator of Batavian freedom, a friend of the people, and a model for sovereigns! Blessings on him and his kindred, and prosperity to all our Dutch brothers in the land of our forefathers!

"He in whose veins the Dutch blood flows,
In land of liberty,
Whose breast for King and Country glows,
Now join us in our glee!"

Woman.—Dickens, in his last number of Barnaby Rudge, gives us the following as a "maiden's vow," to "love, honor, and obey" her "true, but much injured lover:"—

"And now at last, if you were sick and shattered in your every limb; if you were ailing, weak, and sorrowful; if, instead of being what you are, you were, in every body's eyes but mine the wreck and ruin of a man; I would be your wife, dear love, with greater pride and joy than if you were the statelliest lord in England."

"Honesty's a fool, and loves that it works for."—Shakspeare.

"Well," exclaimed a newly made whig officeat, "I miss fool—I never love what I work for."

Exchange Hotel,

[CORNER OF FIRST AND DIVISION STREETS,]
EVANSVILLE, INDIANA.
GEORGE W. L. WHITE, Proprietor.

THIS Establishment is now the largest living lately had large additions made to it, and most comfortable in the Sou hern part of the State. It is situated in a pleasant part of the town near the steamboat Landing. Persons arriving from the interior and wishing to pass either up or down the river, will be sure to meet with the first opportunity, as a Porter is always in attendance to notify travellers of the arrival of boats and convey their baggage on board. The Exchange is also the Stage Stand for the Wabash country, consequently travellers wishing to pass to the interior, will find it convenient to stop at this House.

The Proprietor is determined that the Exchange shall be second to no house in the State, and he hopes by an entering attention to the comfort of the guests to receive a liberal share of public patronage.

Improved Cheap Timepiece.

JUST received, one dozen small metallic time keepers. These clocks are constructed entirely of metals, thereby preventing contraction or expansion by cold, heat, or moisture, which so commonly obstructs the regular movements of those made of wood. They are warranted to keep the best of time when put in correct beat, or no pay. They are admirably suited for stores, offices, shops or kitchens. For sale at the low price of $6, by W. H. TALBOTT,

15—y Opposite Washington Hall.

TO PRINTERS--RARE CHANCE.

THE establishment of the "South Western Sentinel," at Evansville, Indiana, is for sale very cheap. The paper, which is now suspended, was for nearly a year and a half published by the Junior editor of the State Sentinel, and averaged during that time, about 1000 subscribers. The materials are all nearly new and in perfect order. The location is no doubt as good as can be found elsewhere in this State. Further information will be given on application to the editors of the State Sentinel at Indianapolis. Letters on the subject must be post paid. 11—tf

INDIANA OFFICERS' GUIDE AND FARMERS' MANUAL.

THE sale of the entire first and second editions of this work and the numerous and continued calls of those in want of a copy, have induced the publishers to offer to the public a new, enlarged and, it is believed, much improved edition. Some alterations have been made in the arrangement of the work, and a considerable amount of matter that is of but little use has been omitted, and an addition of new one hundred pages of new and useful matter introduced. A concise treatise upon law of Evidence and Partnership has been prepared and introduced, which will be useful to Justices, who are almost daily called upon to decide embarrassing questions of law, which arise upon these subjects, also, a Table of Interest, calculated from one day to twelve months inclusive, which will be found useful to every man.

The publishers are enabled to give an assurance that this work has been prepared and gotten up with great care and labor by a gentleman of the best qualifications, and as far as changes have been made in the statutes since the publication of the last edition, and so far as they come within the scope of this work have been carefully noticed and introduced in their proper places.

It is a safe and sure guide to direct the office holder in a proper and legal discharge of his duty, and give aid to the farmer, mechanic and business man in the daily transactions of business in drawing Deeds, Mortgages, Leases, Bonds, Wills, Checks, Notes, &c. &c. This work is printed on good paper and in a superior style, and bound in a neat law binding. Retail at 125 royal duodecimo pages.

The price will, IN ALL CASES BE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS for a single copy. A reasonable deduction made to those that purchase to sell again. Address letters post paid to HAMILTON COUNTY PROBATE COURT, NOVEMBER TERM, 1841.

Estate of Alfred Fortner, deceased.

NOW comes Daniel Crull, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, and files his memorial herein, shewing clearly and succinctly the condition of said estate, real and personal, and that the same is insufficient to pay the debts due from the same, and praying generally for relief. Whereupon it is ordered by the Court, that the creditors of said estate be notified of the filing and pendency of this complaint, by publication for six weeks successively in the INDIANA STATE SENTINEL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Indianapolis, Marion county, Indiana, that unless such creditors notify said executor of the existence and extent of their respective claims by filing the same, or a statement of the nature, date and description of the contract or assumpsit upon which the same may be founded, in the office of the Clerk of this Court, previous to the final distribution of the estate of said deceased, such claims will be postponed in favor of the claims of the more diligent creditors. 23-6w Attest: JOHN G. BURNS, Clerk.

DEPOT HOUSE.

THE subscribers would respectfully announce to the travelling community that they have taken the above stand at the northern end of the

M. and I. Rail Road, and the above establishment having undergone as thorough repairing as circumstances would permit, they flatter themselves that they will be able to give entire satisfaction to all that may favor them with a call.

Their Table

Will be spread with every thing that is calculated to allay the appetite of a hungry man, and to encourage those that are none timid.

Their stabling is convenient and comfortable and ALWAYS filled with a hale some provender of every variety for the horse kind, and attended by careful ostlers. Persons wishing to travel north, will find this the most desirable point to start from, either by stage or otherwise, as there is a tri weekly line that leaves this place for Indianapolis.

To the wagoning custom we need only say that they can be accommodated as heretofore, and to the former customers of the House, we say to you give us a call once at least.

O YES! O YES! O YES!

THE subscriber having been again re-appointed auctioneer by the City Council of Indianapolis, would respectfully inform his friends, and the public at large, that he still carries on the Auction and Commission business in all its branches, on the most favorable terms. He is always ready and willing to do all that can be done for the interests of those who employ him. He will attend any sales in the city at the shortest notice. He has stabling for horses, and will keep and sell them whenever desired. Members of the legislature can have horses attended to faithfully and well kept, at a reasonable rate. He hopes, that, by his customary attention to all business entrusted to his care, to give the same universal satisfaction which has attended his efforts heretofore. Just call and see WILLIAM BIDDLE.
