With a whoop and a yell, and with flourishing weapons, the Indians from Spokane, headed by their leaders, Williams and Stanley, swooped down upon us last night and remarked that they had come down here to add a few pale face scalps to their already pretty loudly decorated belts.

The first battle of a series of five, is on at Walker's battle grounds this afternoon, and if the leaders of each faction are to be believed, then each has prepared an ambush for the other, and the slaughter will be great. It will be remembered that Reilly's men were badly used up in the last setto with the Redskins, and the white men are now out for revenge, and they are determined to have it.

The ammunition is all in place and the local warriors are sure they will make the Redskins bite the dust before the week is ended. Reilly intended going on a scouting expedition to Los Angeles, but decided to remain with his faithful band until the wants of the Indians had been attended to. He will probably leave on Saturday or Sunday, as he believes that by that time the enemy will be beaten to a pulp. While in Los Angeles he will look around for some good men, as he is determined to strengthen his aggregation, no matter at what cost. He is out to win, and says the campaign has only just begun, and that there is no reason for alarm on the part of local fans. Reilly says he will not be away more than a week unless something unforeseen happens, and that he will return as soon as possible. He says when he comes back he will "show" some of the Missourians hereabouts a few things that will surprise them and give them something to consider that will make their thought factories work overtime.

At Ogden this afternoon the league season opens with a game between the Lobsters and the Fruitpickers. A record-breaking crowd is looked for, as the game has been well advertised and the Ogden fans are somewhat enthusiastic, as you perhaps know. After we get through with the Indians, or they get through with us, Boise will come here for a series of five games.

At Walker's this afternoon, the teams will line up in the following order of battle:

Salt Lake.	Spokane.
Stickney, r. f.	Raymond, s.s.

SALT LAKE TEAM WON.

In Match Bowling Contest by Wire With Los Angeles Players.

The match game by wire between bowling teams of Salt Lake and Los Angeles, resulted in a big victory for the local players, and it indicated that the home bunch is about the best there is in the western country when it comes to knocking over the ten pins.

The final score was 3,145 to 2,701 in favor of Salt Lake. Capt. Smith of the local team played with Los Angeles, but despite that fact the California team could not even come close to winning. The Los Angeles bowlers are now convinced that Salt Lake has the goods in this line of sport, and they are eager for the western tournament to be held here. The scores follow:

AMERICAN MEATS FOR THE AMERICAN ARMY.

Denver, May 16.—In a bulletin issued today, which is addressed, "To All Livestock Organizations," the National Livestock association makes the following announcements:

"The national association has already commenced the work in the direction of needed amendments to the interstate commerce law, providing for just and reasonable railway rates and service, by representations made before the interstate commerce committee of the senate in February and May and by arguments individually with a majority of the senators of the United States.

"About Feb. 1, the representative of this association secured through Senator Proctor of Vermont the passage of a resolution of inquiry directed to the secretary of war, asking for the amount and cost of supplying our army in the Philippines with meat, and why the same was obtained from foreign sources instead of from the United States. This action is to be followed by the introduction of a joint resolution at the coming session of Congress requesting that the American army shall be supplied with American meats, as has always been the policy of this country heretofore, and which in the Philippines has amounted approximately to 40,000,000 pounds annually.

"This association has started an agitation in favor of broader and greater export business, and for a readjustment of our commercial relations with continental countries, especially in behalf of freer admission of our meat products into their markets. This movement has been taken up by a large number of our industrial organizations.

"Our vice president and general manager acted as chairman of the committee on organization of the National Association of Exporters, which has issued a call for a general meeting to be held in Chicago the latter part of June, and which will be represented before the National Association of Manufacturers, which is to meet in Atlanta, Ga. A large number of representative meetings are being arranged for throughout the country, especially directed to this end.

"It is desirable that the most intimate relations be established and maintained with the department of agriculture, the department of the interior and the department of commerce and labor, to the end of making known the wishes of the western cattlemen on the subject of ranges, forest reserves, sanitary inspection of all sorts, a more complete, reliable and frequent census, and the development in every possible way of the industry by the governmental agencies indicated.

"It is absolutely essential that the great livestock industry of the country shall have a truly national representation. We therefore urge upon you to secure the consideration of this letter by your executive committee, and at the earliest possible time obtain favorable action by the body of your organization. J. H. GWINN,
"Secretary."

FIGHT ON A STEAMER.

Occurred on the Centennial, Some Men Injured, Some Drowned.

Tacoma, Wash., May 17.—A desperate battle occurred on the decks of the steamer Centennial tonight in which several men were slightly injured and three are thought to have been drowned. The Centennial from San Francisco via Seattle brought from the latter port a gang of 18 men to work the ship's cargo here. Owing to existing trouble between the Sailors' union and the Longshoremen's union, Capt. Pierce had been threatened with a boycott by the sailors if he employed Tacoma longshoremen and hence had hired a crew at Seattle.

When the steamer arrived in port about 200 longshoremen boarded her armed with clubs, billies, pistols and other weapons. The Seattle men were beaten wherever found and some 30 shots were fired before order was restored.

A CONVICTED CHINAMAN.

U. S. Judge Issues Order Allowing Him to Retain His Queue.

St. Louis, Mo., Ma 17.—Judge Rogers of the United States district court, has issued an order allowing N. G. Jung, a Chinaman, convicted and sentenced to a term of 90 days in the Missouri penitentiary for passing a raised $10 bill, to retain his queue while serving his sentence. Jung told Judge Rogers that the retention of his queue was a matter of religion, and he will be the first prisoner who has been confined in the state penitentiary who has not first been shorn.

THE ELPHANT'S FRIEND.

A True Circus Story.

Prof. John H. Andrews, the zoologist with the Great Floto shows, gives a most interesting lecture on the habits and characteristics of the many rare specimens which are caried with the show. Two lion cubs a few months old and a couple of 1-year-old Bengal tigers are features of the menagerie exhibit. He tells many interesting stories of circus life.

"One day the circus and menagerie had come to town in the early morning and the men set up the tent in a big vacant lot, and were at work getting things ready for the afternoon performance. A good many men and boys, and some little girls, too, were in the lot nearly all forenoon, watching what was going on, but they were particularly interested in an elephant and a bear that were chained each to a stake outside the tent and not very far apart. While they stood about looking at the beast a girl 8 or 9 years of age came out of the tent and, approaching the elephant, began to play with him. She took a whisp of straw out to him, and when he thrust his trunk toward it she would jerk it away and jump back out of his reach.

"Then she would run all around him and he would touch her with his trunk, in a gentle way, as if he enjoyed the sport as much as she did. People expected to see the little girl killed, but they found out she was the daughter of one of the managers, who allowed her to play with the elephants whenever she pleased.

"Meanwhile the big black bear was watching them, and soon began to show signs of not liking the play. He was evidently in a bad humor, but the girl was so full of her fun with her friend, the elephant, that she paid no attention to the bear.

"Presently, in jumping back to get out of the way of the elephant's trunk, she got within reach of the bear, and he seized her with his paw and would no doubt have killed her, but the elephant saw him and struck him a blow with his trunk that laid him on the ground severely injured.

"Then there was great excitement; men yelled and boys and girls screamed, and a dozen circus men came running to see what was the matter. They found the little girl only slightly hurt, while the old elephant rocked himself to and fro in unmistakable delight over what he had done."

NATAL DAY CELEBRATION

That Given in Honor of Father Tanner A Most Pleasant Affair.

Friends of the aged and honored veteran, Father Nathan Tanner, whose ninetieth birthday occurred on Sunday last, but which was celebrated on the Saturday evening previous at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. F. S. Richards, are still talking of the affair as being one of the most pleasant in their recollection. Father Tanner, too, they declare is one of the best preserved men of his age in all the country.

About fifty guests were present, among them being Presidents Smith and Lund. Hon. F. S. Richards presided, and Bishop O. F. Whitney read letters and telegrams of regret and congratulation from members of the family who were unable to be present, and Mrs. E. B. Wells read an original poem dedicated to Father Tanner. Remarks were also made by President Smith and Bishop McRae of Granger ward. A pleasing feature was the singing of Miss Emily Richards, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Richards, who rendered with a voice that gives much promise, several songs of her brother F. Dewey Richards, the well known composer and song writer, now a resident of New York. Mrs. Well's poem, which the lady herself read, is as follows:

The "Guest of Honor" in our midst today,
Has fought life's battles valiantly and long;
Has wrestled mightily on life's highway
'Gainst error, prejudice and grievous wrong.

Friend of the Prophet in his early youth—
Enlisting in the cause of righteousness,
Bearing aloft the banner of the truth,
Proclaiming principles of Godliness.

This aged veteran of ninety years—
Was a young stalwart in those early days
When Zion's Camp with many doubts and fears
Took that long journey over unknown ways.

He did not know, when called to leave his home,
And travel westward into a strange land,
What it would mean to him in days to come,
He could not then the mission understand.

But through obedience the pathway lay,
And thus the blessing came to thee and thine;
A Prophet was the Captain on the way,
And thou wert faithful to the will divine.

To be with Joseph, Prophet of the Lord,
To travel with him, and to hear him pray,
To listen to his teachings of the Word,
Reveal'd from heaven in this the "Latter-day."

We count this honor thus vouchsafed to thee,
One to abide with thee forevermore;
And when at length you've gained the victory,
You'll meet the Prophet on that "other shore."

In looking backward is it like a dream?
When you recall the scenes of long ago?
Tell us assembled here how these things seem,
For some of us are growing old, you know!

But Zion's young, her standard bearers strong,
And there are Prophets still, and Temples, too;
And many stalwart men battling against wrong,
And tens of thousands in the ranks are true.

And we salute the Rev'rend Patriarch here,
Yea, in this goodly company today,
Prophets, Apostles and his kindred dear,
Thank God in youth he chose the "better way."
