LACKAWANNA COAL WILL DIVIDE MELON

Stock Dividend of 75 P. C. Common Is Proposed by Its Directors.

PLAN CAPITAL INCREASE

Addition Will Be $13,200,000 and $4,943,025 New Stock Is to Be Issued.

A dividend of 75 per cent., payable in new common stock, was proposed to stockholders yesterday by the directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company. A special meeting of stockholders will be held in Hoboken on December 21 to vote on an increase in the corporation's capital stock from $6,800,000 to $20,000,000. There will be issued $4,943,025 of the new common stock to holders of the present outstanding $6,590,700.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company is the sales organization, formed in 1909, and the stock was distributed to stockholders of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad. There is no corporate relation between the railroad and the coal company and the plan to distribute a 75 per cent dividend will have no connection with the announced intention of the railroad company to part with its coal properties.

The coal company has paid 10 per cent. dividends in cash regularly since 1910. Extra dividends in cash and Liberty bonds have been paid as follows: Twenty per cent. in cash in 1913, 10 per cent. in cash in 1914, 50 per cent. in cash in 1915, 10 per cent. in cash and 40 per cent. in British notes and Liberty bonds at par in 1917 and 30 per cent. in Liberty bonds in 1918.

COTTON.

The cotton market of yesterday was without feature and moved idly within a few points of Thursday's closing for the most part, showing a net gain of 1 to 7 points at its finish. There was distinctly a pre-holiday atmosphere in the market, which was due to the proximity of the Government crop estimate and the general uncertainty of textile and business conditions. It was evident that most large operators were biding their time until the first of the year. The market's range was a narrow one. Following a higher opening, the list encountered increased selling, mostly Southern hedging, and slipped off steadily until a loss of 20 to 32 points had been recorded. Movements were very much in sympathy with those in the local stock market. The late rally there was accompanied by a rally in contract prices. All in all, the tone was steady.

Bull arguments included firmness of Liverpool cables, against which the bears matched the discouraging textile advices, a stagnant Fall River print cloth market, a decline in the price of Egyptian and poor advices from the Chicago dry goods trade. Sales in the Fall River market for the week were not more than 10,000 pieces. That a serious situation may result from the proposed cut in the wages of New England and New York cotton mill operatives is the general belief here, but reports of a conference between representatives of workers and employers gave rise to some optimism.

All options except December were higher at the opening, the range being 5 to 20 points up, with December off 2 points, due to the circulation of about five notices of delivery. The market's trend showed irregularity for a while, following the call, but on Southern hedge selling and a little Wall Street liquidation the list slowly slipped back until prices were off about ¼ cent from Thursday's finals. Japanese interests, it was believed, were buyers on a scale down, and there was also a little scattered covering, rallies from the bottom taking place. The final tone was steady. Local spot held unchanged, at 16.25 cents.

"MODERN MILLER'S" OUTLOOK.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—According to the Modern Miller, "climatic conditions have been satisfactory for progress of winter wheat and the yield an acre promises to be greater than at this time last year and tends to offset the decrease in the area seeded. Weather has been mild for the season and root growth is generally strong and stand is fairly even. Further beneficial rains have fallen in various sections of the belt."
