COTTON MARKET FINISHES STEADY

List Recovers in Last Hour and Final Bids Are 3 Points Down to 2 Up.

Irregularity followed a slight opening loss in yesterday's cotton market, but the list showed very little net change at the finish, final bids being 3 points lower to 2 higher. Local spot was unchanged at 12.90 cents. All in all the session presented no feature of interest. The market was off about 4 to 10 points at the outset due to pressure from local longs and the South. Liverpool cables were not up to expectations and circulation of May 30 notices was against the market's making headway upward. Nevertheless the market's undertone improved after the call and before the second hour had progressed far the list had advanced about 10 points or more from Monday's closing.

Bullish factors included the report of the New Orleans Times-Picayune placing the acreage reduction for the season at 30 per cent., early improvement in securities and foreign exchange and an unfavorable weather map, which showed lower temperatures over much of the western belt. Conditions east of the Mississippi were unsettled and cloudy with precipitation at several places. Liverpool cables were not up to expectations, the market being 11 to 13d. net higher at the time of our opening. Spot inquiry abroad was reported poor, sales amounting to only 3,000 bales.

Floor feeling was still mixed, most of the larger operators continuing their watchful waiting. Outside conditions again influenced the market. Political developments in Europe and the British labor situation are being followed more carefully than ever. The local market was under increased pressure early in the afternoon and lost all of its forenoon advance, dropping to 6 to 15 points less than Monday's finals. The list recovered in the last hour, however, and was officially "steady" at the finish.
