MANDEVILLE'S READING BOOKS, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6—Published by D. APPLETON & CO., 200 Broadway, N. Y. Read the following from the Bangor Whig & Courier, Me.

A Teacher's Institute has recently been held in the county of Kennebec, in the town of Greene, for the purpose of investigating Prof. Mandeville's system of reading and becoming acquainted with its merits. Very great interest was felt in the exercises as will always be the case where the truth is apparent and the unfolding of the subject is conclusive. The company of teachers, after becoming thoroughly acquainted with the system, declare as follows:

1. That Prof. Mandeville fully establishes the four fundamental principles of his System laid down in his Reading and Oratory, (page 35 new edition.)
2. That the System is admirably adapted to break up the dull, monotonous, and uninteresting manner of reading, so common in all our schools.
3. That by this System, scholars can acquire an easy, inflexible, and natural style of reading.
4. That this is the only System of reading that has ever fallen under our notice, worthy of the name of System.
5. That it is not as some have supposed, a System of a thousand and one rules; but the rules are few; founded on the structure of the language, and easy to be acquired; therefore,

Resolved, That it is the duty of teachers to acquaint themselves with this System, that they may teach reading on scientific principles; that they may have a standard of propriety tangible, and always at hand, by which they may not only correct errors in reading, but also give a reason for the correction.

Resolved, That Mandeville's Series of Reading Books is better adapted to the wants of the young than any other Series; and that it should be introduced into our schools.

This is testimony which ought not to be disregarded. It corresponds with the opinion of all persons we have ever met who have become acquainted with this admirable system, and accords with the results of the teachings of the system in the public schools in this city. A complete, thorough and most happy revolution has been effected in the department of reading in all our public schools, from the highest to the lowest. The pupils not only read better than ever before, but they can give a reason for the delivery of a sentence in a particular manner, from the structure of the sentence. We trust that the public mind will get right on this subject by and by, and the general good be promoted. a23 1tis

CHRISTIAN PARLOR MAGAZINE.—Prospectus for the new Volume commencing May, 1851—Devoted to Science, Literature and Religion, and embracing in its scope, Essays, Biographical and Critical Sketches of eminent Clergymen, Authors, Artists and Philanthropists; Episodes of History; Articles on the Useful Arts, the Fine Arts, and the Natural Sciences; Pictures of Travel; Glimpses of Society; Scripture Sketches; Poetry; Music; Moral Tales, &c. Illustrated with rich, appropriate and beautiful Engravings on steel and wood.
It is the avowed purpose of the CHRISTIAN PARLOR MAGAZINE, to serve to those intelligent Christian families who, in gratifying their taste and informing their minds, wish at the same time to consult their moral good, as the medium of a pure, elevating, and attractive literature. However, great may be the demand for what is termed "light reading," there is a large and increasing number who seek for something better, and who wish to cultivate the understanding without corrupting the heart; who desire for themselves and their children an order of literature of higher grade and more permanent value than love-tales and romance. It is to this class the CHRISTIAN PARLOR MAGAZINE addresses itself, and in whose increasing patronage it finds encouragement and success.
The publisher purposes, for the present volume, not only to preserve the high character the Magazine has already attained, but to render it still more useful, and creditable, and attractive, by introducing the productions of a larger and more eminent circle of writers. There are many writers of first-rate abilities, whose services have been promised, and plans have been laid which cannot fail of greatly enriching the pages of the Magazine. Among those whose contributions have already appeared, are some of the most eminent writers in the country—as Albert Barnes, Dr. Peabody, Dr. Sprague, Prof. Tappan, Dr. Cheever, Prof. Porter, K. H. Stoddard, Hon. H. B. Stanton, Mrs. Sigourney, Miss Sedgwick, Mrs. Stowe, Mrs. Doubleday, Miss Fuller, and others, from whom other articles are expected. No effort shall be spared to give it the ability and attractiveness suitable to the class for whom it undertakes to provide.
Great pains will be given to supply tasteful and meritorious Parlor Music. In the course of the volume, a series of Songs will be furnished, of unexceptionable character, which would cost at the Music Stores more than the price of the Magazine.
TERMS: $2, if strictly in advance; $2 50, if payment be not made within three months from date of subscription, or renewal.
PROPOSAL TO CLUBS: Three copies will be sent for $5 in advance. For $12 in advance, eight copies will be sent, together with one extra copy to the person getting up the Club.
PROPOSITION TO CLERGYMEN.—Desirous to secure the approbation and cooperation of the Clergy, the Publisher hereby offers a copy of the Magazine to every pastor of a Christian church, at $1 per annum, if paid in advance.

PERTH AMBOY SEMINARY, affording a thorough course of training for college or business, together with instruction in Modern Languages and Music, will commence its twenty-eighth session on Wednesday, May 7.
Extensive additions and improvements, made within the year past, have increased the facilities for improvement, the formation of habits of neatness, order and system, and cannot fail to add much to the comfort of pupils.
Pleasant retirement, ease of access, powerful healthfulness, the luxuries of the sea breeze and sea-bathing, a valuable philosophical and chemical apparatus, a reading-room, with library and periodicals, a bathing-room and gymnasium provided with reference to health and physical training, are some of the minor advantages of this Institution.
The Principal, possessed of the advantages of early devotion to his profession and large experience, pledges his best and most untiring efforts to make his Institution all that an enlightened Christian parent could desire for his son.
Terms, $75 per session of 22 weeks, for board and tuition, with use of books for English studies.
Circulars, containing further particulars, with numerous testimonials and references, may be had of CLARK & AUSTIN, 205 Broadway, or of the Principal.
