☞ Sonora Gold Mining Company—Office No. 66 Beaver-st., New-York, room No. 4. Capital stock, $500,000—shares $100 each. The books of subscription for stock in this Company are now open at their office, where parties desirous of becoming interested may procure Stock, Pamphlets of Organization and By-Laws, and any information relative to the objects and prospects of the Company. This enterprise commends itself to the confidence of Capitalists, the Company having in possession one of the most valuable mines in California, located on Wood's Creek, near the City of Sonora, Tuolumne County, and having nearly complete an engine and stamp work of the first class, which will be shipped by a clipper vessel, at early day. It is the purpose of the Trustees to prosecute the work with vigor and a view to profit from the business of mining. It is deemed unnecessary to enter into a calculation of probable profits, it having been satisfactorily ascertained that companies already in operation with good machinery have been eminently successful.
The machinery now being made for this Company, is under the immediate supervision of R. S. KING, Esq., the builder of the "Gold Hill Quartz Mining Company's (known as Peck's) Mill," which has produced such astonishing results, and will be twice the size of that establishment. The employees in all responsible positions will be shareholders and selected with special regard to ability and integrity, and required to give bonds with sureties, in such sums as will be deemed sufficient to guard the interests of Shareholders.
Persons residing out of the city may obtain stock, pamphlets, or any information, by addressing the Treasurer, post-paid, by mail. D. W. INGERSOLL, President.

☞ A Home for All.—PHOENIX BUILDING ASSOCIATION.—This flourishing Association is incorporated and offers superior advantages to those desiring a Homestead, which they should at once embrace. "There is no place like home," is an old adage, but a true one; the force of which was never more fully felt than at the present day, when rents are so enormously high that it is almost impossible for a mechanic to pay them; besides, they grow higher from year to year. These facts are sufficiently important to induce every rent payer to secure a house of his own. As a Savings Institution, also, the benefits of this Association are peculiarly attractive.
Books for subscription, for both Ladies and Gentlemen, are open daily at the Secretary's Office, (Chambers Hall,) No. 65 Chatham-st.
Shares, $800; monthly dues, $3; entrance fee, $2. The usual interest allowed on dues paid in advance. All that is required to become a member is $2.

☞ Every Man his own Insurer.—BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.—Those persons who are about subscribing to the stock of this Company had better do so immediately, as about two-thirds of the shares are already taken, and the books will most likely be closed by the end of the week. This is the only opportunity that has ever been offered where a man of small means could take a few shares in an Insurance Company, and receive back in dividends the premium he pays on his insurance, making him in reality his own insurer.
From the business we have already to commence with, and calculations that have been made, it is anticipated that this Company will pay the largest dividend ever paid by any insurance company in the City of New-York, or in the United States.
The second installment of $2 50 per share will be due and payable on the 15th, at the Mercantile Bank, corner of Broadway and John sts.
Persons can subscribe on either of the Directors' books, or with the Commissioners. J. BRUCE, President.

☞ Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the CITIZENS' MUTUAL LOAN AND ACCUMULATING FUND ASSOCIATION have decided to allow an interest of 6 per cent on all moneys paid in advance over a period of six months; further, to limit the number of shares to 1,000, and positively close their subscription books at their next regular meeting. Those, therefore, who desire shares must subscribe before that time, as no opportunity will be given thereafter. A public meeting will be held at their rooms, No. 421 Broadway, on SATURDAY EVENING, March 13, at 8 o'clock, to give their present members an opportunity to increase their stock; also, to receive new subscriptions. Office hours from 9 to 5 daily, and Wednesday and Saturday evenings till 9 o'clock. Entrance Fee $2; Shares, $800; Dues, $3.

☞ "Figures Can't Lie."—BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS TRIUMPHANT.—An unusual effort having been made in certain quarters to mislead the public mind in reference to BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS, the thousands who are interested in the matter are informed that The Sunday Courier of March 14 will contain a plain, practical, and undisputable refutation of all the fallacious misstatements that have been made in various papers respecting the principles of Building Associations, and the management of the many Companies now in existence in this City.
Mechanics, laborers, working men, and the industrious of all departments who aim at honorable independence are deeply interested in this subject, and should not fail to make themselves thoroughly acquainted with the beneficent principles on which Building Associations are founded and conducted.

MEN OF CHARACTER. By Douglas Jerrold.
JOB PIPPINS, the Man who could not Help it. By Douglas Jerrold, author of "Titus Trumps," "Isaac Cheek," "Man Made of Money," &c., &c.
Nothing can equal the buoyant, unctuous and overflowing humor which characterizes the sketches of "Men of Character," from the pen of the great English humorist, Douglas Jerrold. The oddest and most laugh provoking characters are grouped together, and comic situations follow each other rapidly, and are so irresistibly funny, odd, and laughable, that the most cynical are betrayed into merriment. There is no resisting Jerrold's humor. It takes you by storm; and when once you have commenced the perusal of his pages, you follow him with delight, as line after line unfolds his quaint thoughts, and the rich adventures, plights and predicaments of his heroes. "Job Pippins, the Man who could not Help it," is one of the best of the series of "Men of Character," and all who have read the preceding numbers of "Titus Trumps" and "Isaac Cheek," will know how to value the appearance of a third of the series. Price 12½c.

"THE GREATEST of MODERN FICTIONS"—COUNT MONTE-LEONE, or The Spy in Society.—Second edition now ready. Elegantly illustrated. Price 50 cents.
"This powerfully written and admirably conceived tale may stand comparison with the famous 'Monte-Cristo' of Dumas, or the renowned 'Wandering Jew,' by Sue, for it partakes of the deeply thrilling political character of the one, and the vivid and brilliant writing of the other. The scenes are alternately laid in Naples and in Paris, and the story is one of intense and varied interest, chiefly growing out of the adventures of Count Monte Leone, who is a chief of the Carbonari. The work originally appeared as a serial in the pages of The International Magazine, and its popularity induced the publishers to reproduce it in pamphlet form. It will become one of the most successful books of the season." [Home Journal.
"This spirited romance has appeared serially in The International Magazine. It is now published in separate form, with the addition of numerous illustrations. It has been carefully translated from the French, and will be found equal if not superior to Dumas' most popular productions." [Commercial Advertiser.
"The scene of this exciting romance is laid in France and Italy, and in the stirring times that immediately succeeded, or rather witnessed, the downfall of the Bonaparte dynasty in France, Spain, Naples, and wherever else Napoleon had thought fit to place upon the head of a member of his family a despot's crown. Intrigue and martial adventure, love, conspiracy, crime and vengeance all accordant, however, in their main features, with historical fact, crowd the pages of this highly dramatic and powerfully written work. It will compare, we think, with the most popular stories and legends of Dumas, and may well be termed the 'counterpart of Monte-Cristo.' The translation is admirable, and we have no doubt that the book will have a tremendous run." [Morning Star.

JUST PUBLISHED, in a neat pamphlet form, price 12½ cents, Archbishop Hughes's Lecture.
THE CATHOLIC CHAPTER IN THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES—A Lecture, delivered in Metropolitan Hall, on Monday Evening, March 8, 1852, for the benefit of the House of Protection, under the charge of the Sisters of Mercy. By the Most Rev. John Hughes, D. D., Archbishop of New-York.
This last Lecture of the Most Rev. Archbishop furnishes at one view a History of the Colonies from the earliest period, and exhibits the various religious influences which were involved in the Revolutionary contest, and give it a peculiar value to those who would truly understand the history of our country.
In this discourse, the Most Rev. Archbishop has proved beyond cavil, not only by force of argument, but by a powerful, convincing and undisputable array of facts, the indebtedness of the United States to Catholic Powers and Catholic Influence for their Liberty; and that Religious Liberty was not a boon, but entirely a matter of necessity.
