ASSOCIATION for the EXHIBITION of the INDUSTRY of ALL NATIONS.—A charter having been granted by the Legislature of this State for the purposes of an Industrial Exhibition and the Corporation of the City having, with great liberality, granted the use of Reservoir square for five years, the parties associated in the enterprise are now prepared to invite the cooperation of their fellow citizens. In doing this they think it proper to state, at some length, the motives which guide them, and the objects which they hope to attain. It is scarcely necessary to say that the idea was suggested by the brilliant success that attended the London Exhibition of last year.—That Exhibition, prompted by enlarged and liberal views, and carried out with energy and skill, was crowned with the most triumphant results; and a just pride authorizes us to assert that, in all that vast array of the triumphs of genius and industry, no nation gave more striking proofs of intellectual capacity and vigor, applied to the useful arts, than were manifested by our own people. It was, therefore, a natural suggestion, of patriotic and national feelings, that we should not only wish to see a like Exhibition in our own country, but that we should desire to reproduce, in it, the beneficial effects that had resulted from its great prototype. It is generally acknowledged that the London Exhibition marks an era in the progress of the world—an era of which the distinctive characteristics are the advance of those arts which increase the comforts and heighten the delights of life, the spread of amicable relations among rival countries, and above all, the elevation of labor to its proper dignity. The difficulties apparent at the outset of the enterprise have been overcome; the liberality of the English Government has been emulated by the respective authorities of our country; and a correct appreciation of the objects of the Association seems to be entertained by those to whom they have been communicated; and we are satisfied that the more generally these objects are made known, the more favorable will be their acceptation by our fellow citizens, whose sagacity can foresee, as their cooperative energy can achieve, the results at which we aim.—In an Edifice, which, of itself, will be a noble monument of skill, we hope to bring together the choicest productions of the Old World's Industry; thus not only opening a fair field for the competition of the productive intellect of America, but enlarging its scope and multiplying its aims; and at the same time, presenting to all classes of the community such rare and novel objects of attention, as cannot fail to widen the sphere of general knowledge. It is well known that in London a great portion of the Building was occupied by objects of but little interest, and that American Industry entered into the competition to a very small extent. It is believed that by a more careful selection of articles, and by a large introduction of our own products, the interest of the Exhibition, in these two essential particulars can be greatly increased. In a statement of this kind it is impossible to introduce full details, but we may say, in general terms, that we have such assurances, not only from England but from the principal countries of the Continent, as justify us in the expectation of bringing under the eyes of our fellow citizens not only such specimens of the industrial arts as shall generally interest the practical American mind, but such rare products of industry and skill as have never been seen among us. Some of these were among the choicest articles of the London Exhibition, and others are now being prepared abroad expressly for exhibition here. And, more than this, we hope to bring, within the reach of all, such wonders of the Fine Arts, as have hitherto been approached only by those of our countrymen who have been able to seek them abroad. The Corporation is authorized by its charter to award prizes among the exhibitors; and in discharging this part of their duty the Directors will hereafter invite the cooperation of the most eminent and capable of their fellow citizens. If we effect our object, we shall not only have imparted a fresh impetus to the career of our great Metropolis, but we shall have given an impulse to mechanical skill and manufacturing industry; we shall have raised higher the standard of taste; we shall have extended and diffused the knowledge of the various families of the world; and in so doing, we shall have strengthened the great bonds of Peace and Good-will. The Association is incorporated, by an act of the Legislature of the fifth March, 1852 for the term of five years. The Capital of the Company is $250,000, to be divided into shares of $50 each, and may be increased by the Directors to $500,000. The price of admission to the Exhibition is limited to Fifty Cents, and the cost of the Building is restricted by the Charter to $200,000. The act of incorporation provides, that for one day, at least, the children and scholars of the schools of the Public School Society, of the Ward Schools and of the Free Academy, of the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institutions, and of the Orphan Asylums in the City of New-York shall be admitted free of charge. It also provides that the net proceeds of one day's exhibition shall be appropriated and paid over to the Treasurers of the Fire Department Fund, for the benefit of Widows and Orphans of deceased Firemen in the cities of New-York and Brooklyn, and divided between them in the proportions of three-fourths to the former and one-fourth to the latter.

After thorough test in Europe and the United States, has been found to retain its beauty and protective qualities longer than any other paint. For whiteness and brilliancy it is unrivaled; it is free from all poisonous properties so common and dangerous in other pigments; will cover—equal weight—from 40 to 100 per cent. more space than lead, and is, therefore, much cheaper to the consumer. As an inside paint, it will not turn yellow, even when exposed to the sulphurous gases of coal fires or the foul air of ships. Their White Zinc ground in varnish produces the porcelain finish. Their

Another Scientific Wonder.
GREAT CURE for DYSPEPSIA—Dr. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN—The true DIGESTIVE FLUID, or GASTRIC JUICE, prepared from Rennet, or the fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M.D., Philadelphia, Pa. $200,000 BOURBON, FAYETTE AND MASON COUNTY AND CITY OF MAYSVILLE (KENTUCKY) BONDS.—Messrs. Gilbert & Johnson, Insurance Buildings, William st., offer for sale Two Hundred Thousand Dollars of the Six per Cent. Bonds of the above Counties and City, with interest coupons, payable semi-annually, in the City of New-York.
The Bonds are for $1,000 each, the principal reimbursable in 1881, in the City of New-York.
These Bonds were issued to the Maysville and Lexington Railroad Company, in payment of stock subscriptions to that road, made by the above Counties and City by authority of a vote of the people, unanimously in the City of Maysville, and by heavy majorities in the Counties.
The Road to which the Bonds are issued is sixty eight miles long and connects the Cities of Maysville on the Ohio River, and Lexington in Fayette County. The estimated cost of the work is $1,440,000, and the stock subscriptions are already $1,033,511.
The Counties of Bourbon, Fayette and Mason, are all populous and wealthy. The soil is unsurpassed in fertility in any country, and the population is intelligent, industrious and substantial. The Auditor's Report for 1851, exhibits the following statistics of wealth and population:

	Taxable Property.	Population.
Bourbon	$11,941,797	17,904
Fayette	17,756,785	25,173
Mason	9,154,648	24,383

The above Counties are entirely out of debt, excepting for their recent Railroad subscriptions, amounting to $1,220,000, for which they hold an equal amount of Railroad stock. The city of Maysville has a population of about 5,000, and taxable property to the amount of $1,600,000. It is the point, on the Ohio River, in the County of Mason, of transhipment for the whole north eastern section of Kentucky, of merchandise and produce going inward and outward—and under the influence of the system of roads now converging upon it, and forming connections with all the rich central regions of Kentucky, and with the principal lines of Railway running south and north, the city must rapidly rise in business, population and wealth. Maysville owes now a debt of $70,000, but has means to the amount of $79,000, and a revenue of $22,000, exclusive of the tax for Railroad purposes. This indebtedness is based on a capital of $40,453,220, as exhibited by the Assessor's books, which does not give more than two-thirds of the actual value.
The Constitutionality of the issue of these Bonds has been affirmed by the Circuit Court and Court of Appeals of the State of Kentucky, which forever settles that question. The Court of Appeals decided that their collection can be enforced by writ of mandamus, and the individual property of every citizen subjected to the payment.
The Kentucky members of Congress certify to the perfect security of these Bonds, and Mr. Clay adds his testimony to their value. He says:
These three counties are among the richest, I believe; excluding Jefferson, they are the three richest in that State. The Bonds are executed under the authority of the Legislature, and its power to grant that authority has been recently affirmed by the highest judicial tribunal in Kentucky. I entertain no doubt that the principal and interest of the Bonds, respectively, will be punctually paid as they become due. Such is my confidence in the safety of investment in these Bonds, that if my property were all converted into them, I should feel perfectly secure.
I am, with high respect, your obedient servant,
H. CLAY.
A full printed exhibit may be had at the office of the undersigned.
These Bonds offer one of the best perfectly safe avenues of investment now before the public.
