These plates contain upward of 12,000 engravings, many of which are again composed of a number of figures, or have collateral sketches of details. These plates are engraved by the most skillful artists of Germany, and are unequaled in beauty by the illustrations of any other general work. Thirty-six artists have been engaged during from ten to twelve years in their delineation and engraving, at an expense exceeding $250,000. They are in themselves an ornament for any collection of engravings, independent of the scientific value which they derive from their connection with the text.
The above work can be had at the Bookstores of Messrs. APPLETON & Co., No. 200 Broadway, EVANS & BRITTAN, No. 697 Broadway, Agents, and of the Publishers,
GARRIGUE & CHRISTERN, Foreign Booksellers, No. 2 Barclay-st., (Astor House) New-York.
