Special Notices.

Albany-street—Where's the Difference?—The London Times in commenting on the religious establishment of Turkey, says: "The Mosques and religious foundations of the Ottoman Empire form important spiritual corporations. The Ulemas (Priests) or masters of the Law and the Koran, are the sole possessors of the wealth belonging to these foundations and at the same time, as expounders of the faith and fundamental laws of Islam, they enjoy an authority to which the highest personages in the State have been compelled to bow." This is a form of a richly endowed Hierarchy in CONSTANTINOPLE. How is it in NEW-YORK?

For forty years the Civil Government have been endeavoring to relieve an important part of the city from its retrogressive position, but a "richly endowed Hierarchy" has interposed and exercised its influence to keep it—as to necessary means of communications with other parts of the city—in the same situation it was a century ago. They have hitherto succeeded, and are at this moment paralyzing the authority of the City Government on the same subject.

The ULEMAS of Turkey govern by the abuse of their spiritual authority and of the dogmas of their faith with the masses. Some of the CLERGY of a particular denomination in New-York are found in the same manner abusing the principles of common sense and philosophy by exciting the prejudices and inflaming the passions of their flocks to resist a sanitary measure, a sanitarian dogma of their own, which has long been abandoned by all enlighted minds. Even the provisional Head of this Hierarchy has recently been found in the Halls of City Legislation supported by his "Ulemas," to oversee the action of the Civil Government; and denunciations are hurled from the pulpit, the press and in private, against all who venture to controvert their authority. It is time for us to know whether Church or State rules in New-York, and it is hoped the Board of Aldermen will soon solve the question.

A certain lay member of the Hierarchy, whom accidental circumstances made a member of the Reform Committee—who acts as a paneer to the prejudices of the body—who is constantly found lobbying for the votes of the Aldermen, and who serves as Grand Marshal of their mass meetings, may shortly receive a raise which may not gratify his pragmatic vanity. Among other matters, he may be asked whether he has or has not threatened "political death" to any member of the Board who votes in opposition to Episcopal views in respect to the extension of Albany-st. The proceedings of other lay members of the Church may also be canvassed. Enough for the present. Where's the difference? ALPHA.

New-York Young Men's Christian Association.—The active members of this Association will meet at the rooms, Stuyvesant Institute, No 659 Broadway, in the following order, for the purpose of nominating Vice-Presidents to represent their respective denominations for the ensuing year:

JOHN QUA, Pres.

Park Services.—To avoid giving the Police extra labors on the Sabbath, and to extend the "right of speech" to any desiring it, we propose, instead of the former afternoon arrangement "conversation" between the hours of 4 and 6 and would suggest "Heathenism" as a proper theme for mutual consideration. J. ALLEN, S. C. MOSES.

The Sixty-eighth Anniversary of the New-York ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY will be celebrated by the usual Dinner at the Astor House, on MONDAY next, the 24th inst. The political state of Europe, in which our country is so deeply interested, and the very general sympathy felt and expressed respecting it, will render this a meeting of peculiar interest. We therefore particularly invite the British residents of this country and others visiting the city to attend. Tickets can be procured at the Astor House, from either of the Officers of the Society, or from the Stewards.
MILFORD B. BURNETT, No. 109 Water-st.

VOL. XIV.....No. 4,060. NEW-YORK, SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1854. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Ladies' Boots.

A little glove stirs up my heart, as tides stir up the ocean,
And snow white muslin when it fits wakes many a curious notion;
A leaflet of lady Eulina thrill my feelings, as they'd orter,
But little female gaiter-boots are death, and nothing shorter!

And just to put you on your guard,
I'll give you short and brief,
A small hotel experience,
Which filled my heart with grief:
Last summer at the Clarendon,
I stopped a week or more,
And marked two "bottine" every morn
Before my neighbor's door;
Two boots with patent leather tips—
Two boots which seemed to say
"An angel trote around in us"—
They stole my heart away.
And often in my nightly dreams
They swept before my face,
A lady growling out of them,
As flowers grow from a vase.
But, ah! one morn I saw a sight
Which struck me like a stone—
Some other name was on the book;
Those boots were not alone!
A great tall pair of other boots
Were standing by their side,
And off they waxed that afternoon,
And with them wicked—a bride!

Ladies comment is unnecessary. Those Gaiter Boots came from J. B. MILLER & Co's. No. 134 Canal-st.

Emigrant Intelligence Office and Labor Exchange, Nos 25 and 27 Canal-st., New-York.—The office is established by the Commissioners of Emigration, where can always be found large numbers of Laborers and Servants at very low rates of wages, and persons can have their orders filled by writing to the Superintendent and sending the amount necessary to pay the passage of the parties required. MRS. PARTINGTON'S CARPET BAG OF FUN, illustrated with over
One Hundred and Fifty of the most
LAUGHABLE ENGRAVINGS ever designed—from Drawings by Darley, McLenan, Leech, Phiz, Henning, Hine, Tenniel, Crowquill, Cruikshank, Meadows, Boyle, Ganer and others; and a collection of over
One Thousand
of the most comical stories, amusing adventures, side-splitting jokes, cheek-extending poetry, funny conundrums, queer sayings of Mrs. Partington, heart-rending puns, witty repartees, &c.; the whole illustrated by One Hundred and Fifty Comic Wood Cuts.

This entertaining book is well printed on fine white paper, with an ornamental cover, designed by McLenan, at the amazingly low price of FIFTY CENTS; bound in cloth, gilt, with tinted frontispiece by Darley, SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS.

In offering this new book to the public, we must caution all weakly and nervous people against buying it. It is only intended for those hearty and robust persons who can laugh long and loud, and grow fat, being a perfect encyclopedia of wit and witty sayings. To those fond of fun it will be a treasure.

VARA; Or, THE CHILD OF ADOPTION. 12mo. $1.
From The Newark Daily.
"The incidents of the volume are not remarkable; and yet, with all its simplicity, and with the almost inevitable ending before him, the reader is led on to the close without any flagging of the excitement. Vara is the Fleda or the Eva, whose purity and goodness charms and bewitches, and the interest is heightened by the contemplation of a lovely character.
"As a work of art we place it high—far above 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' or the 'Wide, Wide World.' Independently of any aim of plot, the language is both chaste and ornate, frequently pathetic, often humorous. The characters are drawn with great skill, and we can find originals in our mind who seem to be here carefully pictured. Here are men of the world thinking like these worldly men and aptly speaking their language; Yankees with their nasality; young ladies discussing fashions and follies; bucks strutting and boasting; no daguerreotype has portrayed the features more strongly.
"The book, we think, a remarkable one. It is, indeed, written with an aim—the intent to show the self-abnegation of the missionary, to correct some wide-spread calumnies against his saintly character, to interest all in the cause of missions; but, although this is the thread which runs through the whole, it is invisible to the careless, while its influence is felt.
"We predict for it an immense sale, and venture to announce the author as a worthy addition to the few distinguished American authors."
