BLUE AND GRAY DEFEATED PENN

Brilliant Fielding Blanked Quaker Team.

CAPTAIN MORGAN THE STAR

Larry Drennan Pitched Steady Game for Georgetown — Cariss Pennsylvania's Star—The Score.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—In the final big game of the Northern trip Georgetown blanked Pennsylvania on Franklin Field yesterday. Score 2 to 0. Ever since 1899, when the Quakers were the only big college team in the country beat the Blue and Gray, the Washingtonians have gone down with such regularity that grave doubts were entertained over the probable outcome of yesterday's game.

Fast Fielding.

The contest was replete with fast fielding and was the finest exhibition between college teams seen here this season. Captain Morgan, at third, and Larkin, at first, carried off the honors for Georgetown, while Captain Cariss was Penn's star. Although he was charged with two misplays the Blue and Gray leader played a brilliant fielding game, besides getting two hits. Larkin dug up several low throws, thereby saving his teammates several errors that would have been costly had the wildly thrown balls gotten past first base.

For the Red and Blue Cariss accepted every one of his seven chances and banged out two clean singles. Weekes in center made four pretty running catches.

Drennan Steady.

Larry Drennan, who was on the rubber for the visitors, was steady throughout, and while he was touched up for seven hits he was accorded such brilliant support that in only one inning, the fourth, was Penn near scoring.

Fennell held Georgetown to six hits, but these came two at a time in the third, sixth, and ninth innings.

Neither team scored in the first two innings, but in the third a base on balls to Drennan, Keane's single, and Morgan's double gave Georgetown one. In the sixth Keane led off with a clean bingle to right; he scurried to third on Morgan's smash to left. Then came Martell with a slow hopper to short, and before Minford could get the ball home Keane had counted. This ended the run getting.

EXCITEMENT PROMISED AT TEMPLAR BALL GAME

If you are looking for excitement and want to forget that tired feeling, go to see the baseball game tomorrow at Marshall Hall between Orient and Columbia Commanderies of Knights Templar. Dave Wolfe is to umpire. So far he has ordered an arsenal, a gun-proof conning tower, and a cyclone cellar. His life insurance has been canceled by the companies and his family has laid in a stock of mourning. Sympathizing friends will be allowed to call and bid him adieu tonight.

Those who will commit the slaughter are:

COLUMBIAS PUSHED THE BLANKS HARD

The Blanks barely squeezed out a victory over the tailend Columbias in the Government Printing Office League yesterday afternoon, by 11 to 10.

ST. MARTIN BEATEN.

St. Paul kept up its winning streak in the Marquette League yesterday afternoon, by defeating the St. Martin team by 9 to 8. The game was close at all times, St. Martin holding the advantage by 8 to 6 up to the eighth inning, when St. Paul pushed three tallies over the plate.

The score:

St. Paul	0	2	0	0	2	2	0	3	x	9	7	5
St. Martin	4	0	0	0	0	1	3	0	0	8	13	10

Frank O'Brien, Yale's shortstop, will captain next year's baseball team. He entered Yale from Andover, where he played shortstop for two years and captained the team in his senior year. He is a native of Plattsburg, N. Y. It is said Tot Murphy is the only Eli who ever excelled him at short.

Nationals at Home Ready for Business

Stahled Off Last Place by Defeating Athletics. Anderson Encourages Team—Lack of Concert—Long Series.

Still out of last place!

This happy state of the Nationals is due to the activity and energy they displayed yesterday, when they came to life in Philadelphia, held a swatfest and brought home a victory, by 6 to 4. After losing three straight games there was a general impression that the Nationals would do some small deed of valor, and they did not disappoint their friends.

Baseball is queer, in that it is absolutely impossible to tell what a team will do. Our Nationals had been fooling along for three games in Philadelphia, and not making enough hits to beat a high school nine. And when they did hit it was in isolated spots which had little to do with the score. Yesterday they had a complete reversal of form, batted hard, and got the ball away safely just when the doctor prescribed such treatment. On the other hand, the Athletics made more hits than their opponents, but upon several occasions failed to connect when a blow would have meant a run.

Henley was chased to the woods after the sixth inning and Coakley took his place, but the new man also had a hard row to tarvel. He was banged three times in the three innings, and two of these were for doubles. Case Patten deserved the confidence reposed in him by winning his game, but more than enough hits were allowed by him to lose any ordinary contest.

Henley gave a lifelike representation of a young man throwing away his own game when he lined Mullen's sneaker over Davis' head and far into right in the sixth session. Lord had been playing a passive part up to that time, and just to show he was of some consequence he threw the ball badly to second, allowing Huelsman to score from first. Cassidy was next up, and drove one to Knight, who twisted himself into a pretzel and did other cute and amusing tricks, but did not accept the chance, thereby allowing Mullen to get home. These were the two extra runs which may be said to have been due to the strong arm work of the twirler.

Why Jones should have been given an error in the eighth inning is hard to understand, as are a number of other points in some of the Philadelphia score books. Hoffman was on first and Lord doubled to center. Jones had to think and act quickly. He figured he might have a chance to land Hoffman at the plate and whisked the ball to the center of the diamond. There it was greeted by an impressive gather of in and outfielders (there is a possibility of a pun here, but none is intended), who gave it a kindly greeting and salaamed low as it went scooting by. Two of them even extended it a friendly handshake, but none could buttonhole it for a heart-to-heart talk. The ball hurried to the grandstand. Hoffman scored and Lord went to third. The problem is why a ball thrown cleanly to the diamond where there were four or five agile and high-salaried athletes to receive it should go as an error to the outfielder. There was a chance to get Hoffman, and Lord certainly could have been prevented from going to third, but the Quaker City scorers solemnly announced that Jones had been a bad boy in making a wild throw and should be spanked with an error.

It must be admitted that every now and then confusion in handling quick and complicated situations is noticeable in the ranks of Washington, and it has cost games. There are times when the infielders do not seem to realize that they have other responsibilities than those attached to the particular lot of ground to which they are assigned, and fail to take part in plays which develop elsewhere on the field. Any player is apt to make a mistake in judgment, and such breaks are easily forgiven, but to remain rooted while another man is entirely unsupported, and is badly in need of some one to help him, is hardly what might be expected in a major league team, and it behooves the Nationals to take a tumble.

However, allowance must be made for the fact that for the last month the team has been on the road, with only two days at home, and one of them had a morning game. The lack of morning practice, especially with a new team composed almost exclusively of youngsters, is a serious matter, and it is probably a safe bet that Manager Stahl will drill some of the finer points of the sport into his henchmen before they are through with the twenty games at home which begin today.

John Anderson was not able to do much with the stick yesterday, but nobody expects him to keep such a pace. The general comment on all sides in Philadelphia was that Stahl did a splendid stroke of business when he landed the big fielder. It was predicted that his slugging powers will figure in more than one victory. The effect of these cheering words on the team itself was noticeable. The men are more enthusiastic than they have been for some time, and Anderson's arrival has in a large measure restored its confidence.

Stahl explained his purchase of Anderson by saying that he had a talk with Clark Griffith in the spring, and in order to help Washington out he promised he would give it the first pick of any of the men he might decide to let go. For a long time it was a toss up between Anderson and Fultz, and Stahl was eager to get either. Finally Griffith decided that Fultz's dinky legs were all right again and that he could spare Washington's new man, hence the purchase.

Today the Detroit Tigers begin a series of four games with the Nationals. After them come Chicago, Cleveland and St. Louis, in the order named. Following them will be four games with Philadelphia, and then a jump to Boston. On their own stamping ground, with plenty of morning practice, and all the pitchers in first-class condition, the Nationals might reasonably be counted upon to win a fair proportion of games and depart for the West well beyond last place. Detroit and St. Louis are both likely to find hard sledding in the East, while the Cleveland team has been known to get its wallops on the road. Chicago looks good, and from the way it played against the Nationals, should be able to hold its own at home and abroad.

Rothgeb, the University of Illinois outfielder, reported to Manager Stahl at National Park this morning and did a number of practice stunts. He is a big fellow, who hits the ball hard, but as he has had no major league experience it is hard to tell what he will do. If he can hit consistently he will be pretty apt to get a job, although his chances are not as good now as they were before Anderson joined the team.

In a game punctuated with almost every kind of misplay, the Postoffice team easily defeated the Justice bunch yesterday.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR CRESCENTS

The Crescents lost their second game of the season yesterday, when the Rocklands defeated them by 8 to 5. Though the Rocklands are considerably out of the Crescent's class, the smaller players have defeated them once, and held them hard on this occasion. Wooden was wild and received poor support at critical moments, but on several occasions he caused the heaviest hitters to fan. Hands played a fast game at third, and led at bat with two home runs.

The score:

Crescents	2	0	0	0	0	2	0	1	—5
Rocklands	0	0	3	2	1	1	1	0	—8

The Sudwarth Printing Company defeated the strong Atlantic nine Sunday in an eleven-inning contest by 12 to 11. The features were a one-hand running catch by Captain Lear, of Sudwarth, and T. McCarthy's long home run drive to deep center.

CENTRAL TEAM LEADS IN RACE

Did Not Lose Game in High School Series.

Eastern High School stood as much chance against Central yesterday as a plow horse against a blue ribbon winner at a horse show. The Capitol Hill boys were walloped by 14 to 2.

Central is the High School champion, having won all of its four games. Yesterday's game was the last of the series, and Eastern did not cop out a victory.

Hit the Ball Hard.

Central clouted the leather to all corners of the lot, while Eastern could sneak but four hits past the Central fielders. McCathren was in his best form, and struck out thirteen Easterns.

Linthicum did not like Tom Brown's decision in calling him out at first base, and told the umpire so. For his too freely expressed opinion he was chased to the bench. His vacancy necessitated many changes, and by the time Captain Oyster got through switching his men from place to place the line-up looked like a checker board.

ST. MARTIN JUNIORS BAFFLED BY TWIRLER

In a swiftly played and exciting game the strong St. Martin, Jrs., were defeated by the Bloomingdale Athletic Club, by 3 to 0.

Inability to hit the Bloomingdale pitcher at critical stages and the fine fielding of the club boys were responsible for the defeat of the churchmen.

Turner's unassisted double play in the last inning, with the bases full, was the feature, preventing St. Martin's from scoring.

MALARIA A Poison Breathed into the System

The air arising from low, marshy places, damp cellars, stagnant ponds and pools and from decaying vegetable matter, as well as the gases from sewers, is loaded with germs of malarial poison. The water we drink, that has not been properly filtered and purified, is also full of these germs and microbes, and as we daily breathe and drink millions of these into the system, to be absorbed by the blood, the entire body begins to feel the effects of the poison. The most common form of Malaria is "chills and fever," but when the blood is thoroughly saturated with the poison it becomes so weak and polluted that abscesses, carbuncles, boils, sores, ulcers and other skin diseases result. Malaria also affects the liver, kidneys, bowels and stomach, producing a chronic state of biliousness that often results in jaundice or some malignant fever. In cases of Malaria the blood must be purified before the body can regain its natural health. S. S. S. contains purifying and tonic properties possessed by no other blood medicine, and is the ideal remedy for the treatment of Malaria. It destroys the germs of the disease and builds up the weakened, polluted circulation. It enters into the blood and forces out every particle of poison and waste matter and adds strength and activity to it. S. S. S. improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the entire system by its alterative and purifying action, and Malaria, with all its bad effects, is permanently driven from the system. Book on the blood and any medical advice, without charge.

MALARIA IN HIS SYSTEM FOR YEARS.

For several years I suffered with Chills and Fever, caused by Malaria in my system, and each summer for several years I would have a relapse. Finally my physician prescribed S. S. S. It entirely cured me; I have never been troubled since. 913 W. Market St., Louisville, Ky. I. SHAPOFF.
