CRYSTAL PALACE.

GRAND MUSICAL CONGRESS
ON THURSDAY NEXT, JUNE 15.

"The President and Directors of "The Association for the Exhibition of the Industry of All Nations," have the gratification to announce that they have succeeded in organizing, on a scale of magnitude unprecedented in this country, one of those GREAT CHORAL and ORCHESTRAL MEETINGS which have taken place annually for the last fifty years in England, Germany and France, and which have contributed so much to the advancement of musical science and art.

The object of the Association in erecting the Crystal Palace was not only to provide a building in which the INVENTIVE SKILL, MECHANICAL GENIUS and PRODUCTIVE INDUSTRY of AMERICA and ALL OTHER NATIONS might be REPRESENTED and EXHIBITED, but also a Temple worthy of containing the world's chefs d'œuvre in the FINE ARTS, as has been shown by the collection of Sculpture, and by the arrangement of a large portion of the building as a Gallery for Paintings—such an appropriation for the latter art not having been made even in the great World's Fair in London.

Thus far the Directors feel that they have done all that laid in their power for Sculpture and Painting; but until now the opportunity has not presented itself of doing justice to the sister art of Music.

As there never has been at any period so many talented musical artists assembled at once in America, as we find here at the present moment, this seems to be the most propitious occasion for putting in execution the great design of uniting in one gigantic ensemble the élite of the INSTRUMENTAL CELEBRITIES of EUROPE with those of AMERICA, in addition to the great CHORAL SOCIETIES of the several large cities of the United States.

The Directors would state therefore that M. JULLIEN, to whom the French Government assigned the task of Directing the First grand "Congress Musicale" given at the gardens of the Tuileries in Paris on the first of May, 1837, and whose renown and ability in the direction of great musical masses stands unrivaled in England, and in fact throughout Europe, having been prevailed upon to DELAY his DEPARTURE for London and Paris—(with that of the eminent SOLO PERFORMERS, comprised in his orchestra)—the Directors have been fortunate enough to avail themselves of his valuable cooperation in the DIRECTION of this vast MUSICAL REUNION.

In this long-projected and difficult undertaking, the Directors are happy to add that their views have been met with readiness and enthusiasm by all those whose aid was necessary to the accomplishment of their project, on a scale of splendor and completeness worthy alike of the Divine art of Music, the building in which this vast Congress is to be held, and of the patronage of the American people.

"A brilliant tale of the West in Olden Time, sparkling with incident and with vivid descriptions of events that occurred during the glorious days of the Revolutionary War, by an author whose name itself is a guaranty of the interest of the work. Well written romances of the days of the Revolution, will always commend themselves to the attention of the American reader." [Dispatch.

"A thrilling narrative of the Revolutionary times, in which figure some of the most prominent heroes of the period. Among others the gallant Montgomery—whose name is enshrined in the hearts of all true patriots. The story abounds with incidents of the most romantic character." [Chronicle.

"A book that should find a place among the historical romances of the days that tried men's souls." [News.

10,000 COPIES printed as a first edition of MRS. MOODIE'S NEW WORK,
FLORA LINDSAY;
OR, PASSAGES IN AN EVENTFUL LIFE.
By the Author of "Roughing it in the Bush," "Mark Hurdlestone," &c.
PRICE, IN PAPER, FIFTY CENTS;
PRICE, IN CLOTH, SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS.

The publishers have the pleasure of announcing that by a special arrangement with Mrs. Moodie they have been enabled to bring out here this last work of hers as soon as it is published in England.

The Press as far as heard from speak of the work in the highest terms.

From The New-York Herald.

"Flora Lindsay is the title of another of those vigorously-drawn, graphic, and, in their general tone and treatment, almost masculine sketches of life which have won for Mrs Moodie such extensive popularity. She has the talent of seizing upon and throwing into bold relief all those minute shades of character which go to make up a broad and effective picture. Her tales of emigrant life are for that reason the most correct and humorous delineations of squatter manners and customs that have as yet been presented to us. There is so much truth and actuality about them that we almost feel, in reading them, as if we were themselves actors in the scenes described by Mrs. Moodie's present work, although possessing a different sort of interest, is fully equal in conception and execution to her previous efforts. The publishers are De Witt & Davenport."

From The Sunday Times.

"It is an autobiography, under an assumed name, and details the motives which induced the authoress to emigrate to Canada, and upon which change of residence was founded that entertaining work, "Roughing it in the Bush." The present volume is even more agreeable than her life in the Bush, and details in a spirited and charming manner the circumstances attending her emigration to America, and the scenes which came under her observation during that time. This is Mrs. Moodie's forte. If the publishers have not issued a large edition they will not be able to supply the demand."

From The New-York Day Book.

"The scenes are detailed with clearness and power; the descriptions are vivid and powerful, and through the whole there runs a quiet vein of humor which is a distinguishing feature in all of Mrs. Moodie's writings. We cannot recommend to our readers a more entertaining book—one so entirely unexceptionable in every respect, or one which will afford them more agreeable reading or amusement."

From The Patriot, Toronto, Canada.

"This new work of Mrs. Moodie's is a truly delightful one. * * * In the line of truthful and simple description Mrs. Moodie has no equal. * * * Mrs. M. is eminently a popular writer; racy and graphic in her style, and whatever comes from her pen is sought for with avidity. De Witt & Davenport, publishers, Nos. 160 and 162 Nassau-st."

From The Sunday Courier.

"Some of the episodes in this book are full of the tenderest pathos and most exquisite touches of nature; and we should be puzzled to name a work of fiction which contains so much vivacious writing, such marked contrasts of character, so much variety, liveliness and movement, as are contained in "Flora Lindsay." We have no intention of making any invidious or disparaging comparisons, but if this book does not have a more extended circulation than certain productions of literary ladies which have gone off like hot cakes, we shall be greatly disappointed, and be compelled to have a poorer opinion of public taste than we are willing to entertain at present."

From The Transcript, Portland, Me.

"The book is very fascinating."

"This work is characterized by the beautiful, simple and truthful style and quiet humor which made her previous volumes welcome. Her descriptive powers are fresh, and her characters natural; and her works will be seized with avidity by the lover of the instructive and amusing." [True Democrat, New-York.

"The book is full of thrilling passages." [Chenango Union, New-York.
