COMMERCIAL SUMMARY.

Foreign Markets.

[From Wright, Gandy & Co.'s Circular.]

LIVERPOOL, May 21....COTTON—Without any new feature characterizing the transactions, the market for this staple, since the departure of the Canada on Saturday last, has been void of all animation, and to-day in particular the tone of the market is decidedly depressed, buyers have the advantage of also in the more liberal selection holders have placed on the market, although no quotable change in prices can be noticed. The Asia's accounts, to hand on Saturday evening failed to produce any effect being more than counteracted by the renewed hostile attitude of politics between Russia and Turkey, and the unfavorable reports from India. Our import has also been very liberal this week, augmenting our stock to figures much in excess of corresponding period last year.

The sales for the past three days are estimated at—

	Bales.	Sales to Exp.	American.	Brazil.	Egyp.	Surat.
Saturday	7000	1000	5000	700	300	1000
Monday	7000	1000	5200	1000	300	1000
Tuesday	5000	500	3200	520	400	700

The import for same time is about 74,000 bales, principally American.

The Manchester cotton market wears a firm and healthy aspect for the past few days, indeed the sales have had no influence in the extent of new arrangements, and there is some diminution in the offers at the disposal of spinners, but generally speaking, they are engaged pretty well abroad, and consequently reject any overtures as to more favorable terms than the business they have lately undertaken.

GRAIN MARKET—Our Grain market has been well attended, and prices of all the leading articles have an advancing tendency. Fresh arrivals of Wheat and recent arrivals of Flour are in good demand, the former at 1d @ 2d ⅌ bu, and the latter at 6d ⅌ bbl higher rates than quotations ruling on Friday last, arising from the fear of hostilities between Russia and Turkey occurring, and a concerted combination of buyers in the Black Sea ports. Intelligence from any quarter of harvest prospects at home which are much improved by the recent rain and seasonable weather....Indian Corn is without change, and is only limited demand.

PROVISION MARKET—Large imports of Bacon cause buyers to hold back, expectinga decline....Shoulders are wanted....Cheese brisk....Beef and Pork very dull.... Lard and Tallow are steady.... In Cotton there are no transactions.... Rice is in request. BREADSTUFFS—There is more animation in the demand than for some weeks.... Wheats are 2d dearer, and Flour has advanced 6d ⅌ bbl, with only small parcels offering.... Indian Corn meets a quick sale at previous quotations.

[From Richardson Brothers' Circular.]

LIVERPOOL, May 21....GRAIN MARKET—At our market this morning we had the usual attendance of the town and local buyers for Flour and Wheat, but supplies from the interior towns there were very few. For the quantities of White and Red Wheat there was a fair inquiry, but as holders of such were demanding an advance of 1d@2d on the prices of Friday last, business was restricted thereby, and the sales made did not establish an advance over the former figure. Middling qualities were much neglected, and no improvement can be noted on such. Although our import list shows a good supply of Flour as having arrived in the week, no fresh offers were entered at the Custom-house only yesterday, and we had but a limited supply of samples. There was a fair retail demand, and the sales made mark an improvement of 6d ⅌ bbl on the currency of last week. Indian Corn and meal sale has had no change in value took place, due to moderate request at the prices of Friday last.... Oatmeal (low sale at former currency.... Egyptian Beans in limited request at the late demanded advance. English duty support their noted value.... Sales in retail reported in origin of Wheat or Corn. C P & L all being held above the views of buyers. The weather favorable for vegetation.

[From James McCorry's Circular.]

LIVERPOOL, May 21....CORN TRADE—Some uneasiness was beginning to be felt respecting the probable effect of a longer continuance of such weather as was experienced from nearly the commencement of the month up to Wednesday, the last days and cold nights being considered unfavorable to vegetation. The wind has since shifted to westward, and rather copious showers have fallen in different parts of the country. Under the combined influence of heat and moisture, the various crops have improved in appearance, and the reports from the agricultural districts are already of a more cheerful character, at the same time, the estimate of the probable result of the harvest are not by any means sanguine. The extreme shortness of the breadth of land under Wheat, renders it very improbable that the produce of that Grain can, under almost any circumstances, prove large, and the late period to which the sowing of Spring Corn has unavoidably delayed, is certainly against an early or productive year. Still with an auspicious summer, the result might be better than anticipated, and our merchants having profited by past experience are not likely to be tempted into speculative investments on the chance of a possible deficiency after harvest. We are, therefore, not inclined to attribute the somewhat firmer tone which the trade has assumed within the last week or two, to any effect produced on the minds of our leading operators by the crop. Indeed the character of the demand has not been of a nature to lead to such a conclusion; buyers have in general confined their operations to small quantities—just sufficient to provide for immediate wants—there have been no large purchases to speak of, and that has been taken has passed into consumption almost as soon as secured. Stocks of foreign are relatively much lighter at the ports on the coasts than in London, and notwithstanding the liberal character of the imports into the United Kingdom for months past, no accumulation of importance has taken place anywhere but in the London warehouses. That the weather we may experience will have a material influence on the future course of prices is probable enough; but the supply of the foreign supplies will be more directly felt; if these should fall off—which from the tone of advices from abroad is very likely to be the case—and the consumption of Bread continue as great as it has hitherto been, the value of Wheat would probably improve, even if nothing should come from now to harvest to give rise to apprehensions as to the crops. The sale of Wheat continues to advance on the Continent, and it really would appear that the large shipments made to England have had the effect of reducing into an unusually small compass at many of the principal foreign ports. The only place in the Baltic where any quantity of Wheat of importance should is Dantzic. Prices are, nevertheless, higher there than in this country. At the most continental ports, the tendency of prices has been upward.

Domestic Markets.

NEW YORK, June 13....COTTON—The market is dull with a sale of 800 bales at a decline of ⅛ cent.... FLOUR—Firm with sales of 6000 bbls at $4 75@$4 87½ for State, and $4 50@$4 62½ for Ohio.... Brandywine is in fair demand, with sales of 1500 bbls at $4 87½@5 00.... WHEAT—Buoyant, with sales of 30,000 bushels Western White at 126@129.... PHILADELPHIA, June 13, P. M.... BREADSTUFFS—The steamer's news has had a favorable effect on the market generally, especially on Breadstuffs. Sales of 3000 bushels Wheat at 117c.

BALTIMORE, June 13, 5 P. M.... FLOUR—The steamer's news has not materially affected the market. We note sales to-day of some 500 bbls straight brands fresh ground dowrard street Flour at $4 62½. There is nothing doing in City Mills Flour.... WHEAT—There is nothing doing in Wheat. Some small parcels were sold to-day at 100@103c for Reds, and 105@110c for Whites.... CORN—About 24,000 bushels of Corn were offered to-day at the Corn Exchange. Early in the morning there were sales of White at 55c, but the price could not be obtained afterwards, and the sales were made at 54c. Yellow sold freely at 56@57c.... OATS—Sales of Virginia and Maryland Oats at 39@37c, and of Pennsylvania at 42@43 cents.... PROVISIONS—The Provision market remains very quiet. Some small sales are making in the retail way of Bacon at our last quotations.... Lard is in request, and there were sales to-day of 1500 kegs Western at 10½@11 cents.... WHISKY—In good demand, with sales of bbls at 22½@23c, and of hhds at 22c.

Prices ranged from $5 75@6 75 on the hoof, equal to $7 50@9 25 net, and averaging $4 12½ gross.... HOGS—Are in good supply, and we quote nominally for live Hogs $6 50@7.
