American Widows' Relief Association of the City New-York—Designed principally to relieve famine-stricken families reduced from comfort, and, in many cases, from affluence to a state of terrible destitution.

During the last month, we have furnished food and clothing to many families whose sufferings are almost inconceivable. These families are destitute through want of work. That cause still continues. Many of them have lived all through the winter by pawning their clothes. They can live no longer—they have nothing more to pawn, and they cry to us for food. They cannot live without further aid, and their native American pride revolts against begging.

To save these women and fatherless children from such a fate we must have money. We also want Clothing, Dry Goods, Shoes, Stockings, Bedding, Provisions. Such donations may be sent to the Office of the Secretary, No 114 Greene-st. We appeal with confidence once more to a generous public. We know the object is one of the most worthy of all charities.

C. DINSMORE, No 240 Ninth-av.
R. M. SIBATTON, No 167 East Eighteenth-st.

It is with unusual reluctance that the Managers of the COLORED ORPHAN ASYLUM feel compelled, by urgent necessity, to appeal to their friends and the public for immediate relief. They had indulged a sanguine hope of cancelling every debt at the commencement of their current year, and were already feeling as if a new era had opened upon them. This they deemed especially propitious, on account of the unusual demands on public sympathy from the suffering Poor of our City; but at this juncture, and before the debts alluded to were really paid, assessment bills amounting to about $2,100, were demanded $1 250 of which having been due a considerable time, required immediate payment. This occurring when the prices of breadstuffs and some other important articles of subsistence were doubled in value, for the daily support of 230 children, besides the officers employed in the establishment, not only exhausted their ordinary resources, but called forth fresh exertions on the part of the Managers and their immediate friends. They are not inscrutable to the liberality they have already experienced and nothing but the actual wants of these destitute children would induce them at this time to urge their claims to the sympathy of that public which has hitherto kindly sustained them.

Donations may be sent to the undersigned, or to any of the Managers.

WHO IS FANNY FERN?
WHAT THE PRESS SAY OF THIS WORK:
"The Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern is a work that will create a sensation" [Boston Daily Times
"It is lively and racy to a degree [In addition to the biography, the volume contains the best collection of Fern Leaves that has yet been issued." [Boston True Flag
"It has kept the literary world on a qui vive for weeks." [Boston Bee.
"Fanny Fern's Biography, from her earliest childhood to the present time, is contained in the work, and we happen to know that the material for it is drawn from reliable sources. It is a volume of sterling interest, and we predict for it an immense sale" [Star Spangled Banner.
"Life and beauties of Fanny Fern has been received, and will no doubt command an immense sale. It gives a true biography of Fanny, with a collection of her most striking sketches and paragraphs, many of which have never appeared in any book" [Boston Herald.
"It is a work that will create a sensation" [Boston Daily Times.
"The Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern, an authentic Biography of the most original and exciting character, which, it is believed, will exceed in interest any biography of any living person heretofore published. Those who have read 'Fern Leaves' and 'Ruth Hall,' and who that reads has not? will eagerly seize the opportunity thus afforded them of obtaining a nearer introduction to the charming authoress of those works." [Waterbury American "Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern. Everything relating to Fanny Fern seems to be interesting and read with avidity" [Intelligencer, Paterson.
"Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern. Those who like Fanny's erratic, original and racy style, will be pleased with the book and will find it something more than merely readable." [Standard, Charleston
"All who have read 'Fern Leaves,' and 'Ruth Hall,' will, of course, procure an early copy of the Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern" [Courier, La Fayette
"The Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern. The mystery which has veiled the history of this celebrated lady, and which the public eye has vainly endeavored to penetrate, will now be unraveled, and Fanny will be displayed into the world in all the relations of social life. This book will be read with eager avidity, and it is predicted that its sale will be unprecedented" [St. Louis Herald.
"The Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern is a book that is destined to experience a sale equal to, if not larger than any work ever published in this country" [Buffalo Daily Republic.
