England's Last Scandal.

Col. Hughes-Hallett, who is accused by the Pall Mall Gazette of having maintained improper relations with Miss Beatrice Selwyn, states that he did not see much of the lady until the past summer, when she, being free of all control by her relatives, lived alone in London, and he accompanied her to many English watering places. It is stated that she and Henry Smith, a barrister and deputy lord lieutenant of Norfolk, were appointed guardians of his (Hughes-Hallett's) children by Lady Selwyn. Mr. Smith invited Col. Hughes Hallett and Beatrice to visit him at his home, and while they were there Mr. Smith's suspicions were aroused by their actions. On Aug. 15 he went to Col. Hughes-Hallett's bedroom and found it vacant. He then went to the room occupied by Beatrice, but the door was locked and he could not gain admission. Mr. Smith then called the housekeeper, two housemaids, a lady's maid and other servants, and directed the coachman to burst open the door. Colonel Hughes Hallett, who was in the room, was taken completely by surprise, and while dressing was subjected to a torrent of abuse from Mr. Smith and every body present, while he (Hughes Hallett) kept perfectly quiet. As soon as Colonel Hughes-Hallett was dressed, Mr. Smith sent him to the railway station, and subsequently informed his friends everywhere of his conduct. He also telegraphed a statement to Colonel Hughes-Hallett's wife, who condoned the offense. Two days later Col. Hughes-Hallett received a letter from a lawyer demanding the return of £5,000 belonging to Beatrice. The money was paid over directly on receipt of the letter. Colonel Hughes-Hallett then called on Captain Selwyn, Beatrice's brother, and offered to fight a duel with him, but the offer was not accepted. Colonel Hughes Hallett then offered to elope with Beatrice, and thus enable his wife to obtain a divorce, after which, he said, he would marry Beatrice. Captain Selwyn also declined to accept this offer. Colonel Hughes Hallett is extremely bitter against Mr. Smith, whom he describes as pompous and vain, and who, while himself separated from his wife, lives not entirely free from feminine control.

MR. DAVITT SAILS FOR AMERICA.—Mr. Michael Davitt sailed from Queenstown yesterday for New York in the White Star line steamer Britannic. He will sail from New York on his return journey on October 16. Previous to his departure he stated to a reporter that his visit to America was in the interest of his health, and that he would not make any public appearances in the United States. "I want as much rest as I can possibly get," he continued. "Upon my return to Ireland I will have enough to face. The order for the suppression of the Irish National League will neither intimidate its members nor in the least degree set back the popular movement. It is simply impossible now to crush the movement. That would mean to put in prison three fourths of the people of Ireland. The immediate outlook is gloomy in the extreme. I look with anxiety upon the coming winter, believing as I do that the action of the government will provoke widespread disorder. We must fight; we must make sacrifices for the principle of self-government. I have already served nine years in prison. On returning to Ireland I have a good prospect of putting in more years in prison. I believe that every earnest nationalist is ready to do the same. It would be infinitely more agreeable if we were enabled to continue the struggle in a peaceful, constitutional manner. But the tory government will not let us. A policy of deliberate exasperation has been determined upon by the Salisbury ministry. Upon them rests the responsibility for coming events."

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN.—A prominent office-holder arrived in Parkersburg, W. Va., Wednesday, from Washington upon a rare mission. His name is withheld purposely. Some years ago he held a prominent position as collector and bookkeeper for a large mercantile firm at Parkersburg. The confidence of his employers was almost absolute in him, and his accounts were rarely inspected, and then only in a cursory manner. Every year this young man collected tens of thousands of dollars. After four years' service he suddenly announced his intention of leaving, and all efforts to dissuade him were futile. Soon after he had gone the books were put in other hands, and inspection showed that false entries had been made for a number of years, and that the firm had been swindled out of a large amount. The whereabouts of the young man not being known, and his father's family connection, prevented any efforts being made to arrest him, and the money was counted as lost. Imagine the surprise when Wednesday this young man stepped into the counting-room of the firm, acknowledged his guilt, and repaid with interest every cent he had taken. He stated that his conscience prevented work by day or sleep by night, and he could stand it no longer. Having paid some other little debts which his hurried departure left uncanceled, he quietly returned to Washington city, where he is comfortably cared for at the nation's expense.

The capital stock of this company is $625,000, divided into 625,000 shares of $1 each.
The company is incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, and the stock is non-assessable, and carries with it no personal liability to the holder.
THE GOLD MINING COMPANY (location, Music Mountains, A. T.) is as sound a mining enterprise as was ever placed on the market, and its possibilities have never been exceeded. Every share should double in value within a year, and they may quadruple, as they are based on property that would ordinarily have been capitalized ten (10) times as great on account of its known richness and promise.
The shares are made small so that any one can invest. Subscriptions for five shares are as welcome as those for hundreds.
Every dollar of earnings will go to the stockholders in dividends, as there is nothing else that they can be used for.
A Wisewell mill, capacity 20 tons per day, with powerful machinery, has been purchased and will be on the ground ready for erection at the mine within the next thirty days.
The solid basis upon which the company is founded and the practical proofs of the richness of the mine have already secured the confidence of the public, and the stock has steadily advanced in selling value. Within the last few days bona fide sales have been made AT PAR.
There is no better stock on the market for a permanent investment.
For full information in regard to this Mine apply to the
