New Private Hospital.—Doctors H. SCHWEIGH and T. HOENTER respectfully announce to the public that they have opened a HOSPITAL for the treatment of all diseases, at Nos. 277 and 279 Tenth-st., near Tompkins-square. The houses are of the first class, contain room for sixty patients, and are fitted up with the greatest neatness and comfort. They are lit throughout with gas, and are provided with warm, cold and shower baths. The Female Department is entirely separate from the Male. Large and most comfortably furnished rooms are set apart for convalescents, and an Apothecary's Department complete in all its details, is attached. To respectable persons, of either sex, residing in boarding-houses or hotels, and who cannot, without very heavy expense, procure there the requisite care—to strangers in the city—and, in fact, to all who seek, at a moderate expense, quiet, the best attention and all the comforts of a respectable home while sick, this institution presents unusual advantages. Separate rooms can be had by such as desire them. For terms, which will be found reasonable, apply at the Office, in the basement of No. 279.

200,000 COPIES OF OUR WORLD—A vividly written and effective Novel! Circulated in the Free States would so arouse the popular feeling against the encroachments of the "Peculiar Institution" as to
ABOLISH SLAVERY
In the District of Columbia—repeal
THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW,
Restore to Freedom the Territory treacherously wrested from it, and make
KANSAS AND OUR COUNTRY FREE!
From The Boston Evening Gazette.
"It is a work not to be read and thrown aside, but a work to be read and pondered over. It will be found of unflagging interest and full of excitement. Clotilda, the heroine, Anthony Romecore, the villain, Elder Pemberton Praiseworthy, the comic character, Ellen Juverne, the courtezan, Franconia and Marco Grasgnon, are all characters to be remembered. The Novel is a perfect melo-drama for startling situations and effects, and we have never read a fictitious story which so completely engrossed one's attention from commencement to close."
From The Philadelphia Daily News.
"We have no hesitation in pronouncing it one of the most remarkable and powerful original works ever published in America."
From The Southern Christian Advocate.
"John Wesley said the best tunes had long been in the service of the Devil. He thought it well to reclaim them for better purposes. The same is true of novels and romances—they have heretofore been almost exclusively devoted either to vice or to very questionable amusement. But the tide is turning. Fiction is beginning to serve the cause of virtue and humanity. Miller, Orton & Mulligan, have just brought out a new anti-Slavery story, entitled 'Our World,' which bids fair to equal anything that has gone before it. It argues well for anti-Slavery, when the first publishing houses in the nation—yes, in all nations—find it for their interest to publish such works as 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' and 'Our World.'"
From The Poughkeepsie Eagle.
"This book will have an immense sale. Coming at the time it does, when the Slave Power is rapidly encroaching on free soil, everything which shows the blackness of the stain upon our nation's fair, will be welcomed. This tale shows the deep and damning sin of Slavery in its true light, but at the same time gives all the good which can possibly accrue from the 'peculiar institution.' The author has taken a noble stand in the cause of freedom, and while sincere, is tolerant, and while just, is charitable. Every friend of freedom will read the work."
From The Buffalo Morning Express.
"Its style is engaging, its logic weighty, and its deductions natural. It does not content itself with abusing an evil from a distance, but grapples and wrestles with it right manfully. As a literary work it is superior to 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' and we shall be mistaken if it does not duplicate the popularity and influence of that remarkable book. So that as it may, Our World' will excite first attention, then admiration throughout the country, and take its place at the head of all recently published books."
For sale by all Booksellers, 600 pages price $1 25.

VARA; Or, THE CHILD OF ADOPTION.—The Fifth Thousand, with four new illustrations. 12mo.; $1.
"It is a deeply interesting story. We hope every novel-reading young lady will procure and attentively read it. She will be made wiser and better by so doing, and will find it contains all the interest of the wildest romance." [Phi. Herald.
"There has no volume fallen into our hands for years with which we have been more interested." [Sandy Hill Herald.
"The writer is equally at home amid the picturesque scenes of the Pacific Isles and the more familiar events of an American dwelling." [Southern Baptist.
"A charming story; we read it with unbounded satisfaction." [Lit. Standard.
"After perusing 'Vara,' the heart seems hallowed with a holy spirit." [Mercantile Guide.
"One of the most charming books we have read in a long time, written in a most attractive style, and inculcating valuable Christian lessons." [Religious Herald.
"It is not often we become so deeply absorbed in a volume as we did in this book." [St. Louis Presbyterian.
II.
JEANIE MORRISON; Or, THE DISCIPLINE OF LIFE. By the Author of the "Pastor's Family." Illustrated. 16mo.; 75 cents.
"The design and plan of this volume are excellent, and the execution graceful and fascinating. Portions of it are extremely touching. The character is charmed along its pages amid smiles and tears to its happy close. The wise training of a daughter, the strange vicissitudes of life, the beauty of youthful piety in life and death, the blessed rewards of doing good, the way in which God disciplines the soul for usefulness and Heaven—these are among the many beautiful lessons which the volume contains. Few books of rarer interest and attraction have appeared from a teeming press." [Telegraph.
"This beautiful story is fragrant with evangelical truth and piety. It shows how God's hand shapes our destiny, and how our character is molded by the innumerable influences that press upon us." [Puritan Recorder.
"Those who have read that charming little book, 'The Pastor's Family,' will great with lively satisfaction another production from the same pen." [Relig. Herald.
"This little book is written in a simple, familiar, and yet graceful style. * * * It is well adapted, by the interest that pertains to the story, as well as by the excellence of its teachings, and the tender and elevated Christian spirit which it breathes, to take a high place, in respect both to popularity and usefulness, in our juvenile religious literature." [Arcus.
