Dyer's Healing Embrocation.—A well-established remedy like this hardly demands a word of praise; yet from personal experience, we can speak of the benefit derived from it. It admits both of external and internal application, and as a remedy for cuts, wounds or bruises, it is invaluable. No one should be without a package of this Embrocation in his house, for in case of accidents, it affords a speedy and sure relief. For the same reason, the traveler should, as a measure of precaution, carry one or two bottles, which are of convenient size, in his pocket. We have never known of an instance where those using this remedy have been not only satisfied with it, but have recommended it to their friends in the strongest terms. It performs all that is promised for it.

THE BOOK for the TIMES.

"Then the victor, Plu-ri-bus-tah,
Fastened Cuffee's hands behind him,
Tied his huge feet close together,
Put him in a top sail schooner,
Voted him way down the river,
Put him on his rice plantations,
Made him hoe, and dig, and grub there;
Told him if he did n't do it,
He'd come every day and thrash him.
Should you ask me, What's the reason:
I should answer, I should tell you,
In the words of Plu-ri-bus-tah,
In the words he spoke to Cuffee,
I am white, and I am stronger;
You are black, and you are weaker,
And, beside, you have no business
And no right to be a nigger."

MRS. STOWE'S NEW NOVEL!—On the 1st of September, we shall publish
DRED:
A TALE OF THE GREAT DISMAL SWAMP.
BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE,
Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," etc., etc.
In Two Volumes 12mo. Price $1 75.
No apology is necessary for the announcement of another ANTI-SLAVERY NOVEL, from the author whose former book made so profound an impression in this country, and whose fame is now coextensive with civilization.
The present work is pronounced, by those who have read it, superior to "Uncle Tom" in breadth of conception, in development of character and principles, and in the overwhelming power and interest of the story.
The contest between the institutions of Freedom and of Despotism is approaching a crisis; no man or woman can be indifferent as to the issue; and a work like this, which shows the legitimate fruits of American Slavery under the laws, cannot but excite great and universal interest.

We ask those who believe such a paper will be good to aid us in extending its circulation.

THE NEW-YORK INDEPENDENT
AND
THE WASHINGTON NATIONAL ERA.
GOOD ADVICE FROM THE RIGHT QUARTER.
Says the N. Y. Independent:
"Bigelow's Life of Fremont comprises the fullest and most complete account yet published of the life of this extraordinary man, and by its plain and irrefragable facts forestalls and silences the whole immense brood of malignant slanders with which the Pro-Slavery party are endeavoring to fill the public mind."
Says the National Era (Washington, D. C.):
"We refer to Mr. Bigelow's work not to disparage the labors of others on the same subject, but because it is prepared with excellent judgment by an intimate friend of Fremont, and is the only biography which contains an adequate account not only of the public services, but of the private history of our candidate. It is, therefore, a volume which no Republican should fail to possess. It will not only prove an efficient weapon in the present campaign, but a spirited narrative, worthy of permanent preservation, of one of the brilliant chapters in our country's history. Let our friends therefore arm themselves with Bigelow's Life of Fremont."
One large 12mo. volume of nearly 500 pages. Price $1. Containing 286 pages of matter not to be found in any other biography of Fremont, and illustrated with spirited engravings and an accurate Portrait on Steel.

A NEW WORK by J. T. HEADLEY. CHARLES SCRIBNER WILL PUBLISH on SATURDAY, the 23d inst.,
AN ILLUSTRATED LIFE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON. By J. T. Headley. 1 vol., 8vo., with 41 full page engravings, from original designs. Price $4.
FROM PREFACE—"My design is to popularize the Life of Washington, by confining myself to events and incidents intimately connected with him and his movements, and thus make the work less voluminous than it would be if it embraced a more detailed history of concurrent events. Recent collections of documents throwing new light on the War of the Revolution, make such a work desirable. All of Rufus Putnam's papers and correspondence and diary have also been put into my hands, which shed an entirely new light on some of the most interesting events of the Revolution and movements of Washington. The reader will therefore find a vast number of facts in this work which have never before appeared in any Life of Washington, but which add greatly to the interest which surrounds his character."

MRS. ARTHUR CLINE'S GREAT WORK.
THIRD EDITION NOW READY.
PAUL FERROLL. A Tale, by Mrs. Arthur Cline, author of "IX. Poems by V." From the 4th London edition. 12mo., cloth. $1.
"'Paul Ferroll,' the most remarkable novel produced in England during the last year, was written by Mrs. Arthur Cline."—N. Y. Tribune.
"REMARKABLE WORK OF FICTION.—Amid the literature of the present day, and the many good books that are set present emanating from the press, Paul Ferroll stands preeminent as a work of fiction. It appeared in this country almost unheralded, and from a comparatively unknown author; yet, by its own sterling merit and originality, has achieved a success almost unprecedented. For the few of the reading world who have not yet perused this wonderful book, there is a rich feast in store. The keenness of the language, the vigor and originality of the thoughts, the true delineations of character, and the absorbing interest of the plot, all render it a gem of rare brilliancy."
