The Latest Discovery.

Of more value than any Sliver Mine in Colorado, is German Catarrh Cure: a remedy prepared especially for the cure of Catarrh and Severe Colds in the head, that invariably lead to Catarrh, which are so common in this climate. Remember that Catarrh, if not checked promptly, goes to the lungs, and ends in Consumption. Each day's delay, lessens the chances of cure. Price only 50 cts. For Sale by Brown Med. Mfg. Co. and and all Western Druggists.

Since the creation, it is estimated that 27,000,000,000,000,000 have lived on the earth. This sum divided by 27,894,000 the number of square miles, gives 1,315,522,086 to a square rod, and 5 to a square foot. Suppose a square rod be divided into 11 graves, each grave would contain 160 persons.

Compulsory Education.

We quote the following from a speech by Emory A. Storrs, on this subject:

It is idle to point out a mischief, either in government or in morals, without at some way suggesting a remedy; and I think I am safe in saying that thoughtful men of all political parties are day by day reaching the conclusion that the State owes a duty to itself and to all its citizens to correct the evils which grow out of a large ignorant population, by its own action, and not to leave the question of the enlightenment and education of the youth of the country to the undisciplined and uncontrolled will of the parent, but to take the matter into its own hands, and by some method enforce compulsory education. The State can much better afford by taxation to pay for the education of all children within its borders than it can afford to pay for the punishment of crimes, the direct outgrowth and result of an ignorance which the State might in a great measure prevent. A school system of which all the children in the State might not only be permitted to avail themselves, but of which all should be compelled to avail themselves, would within the period of at least one generation work out an improvement which no appeals to individual pride or patriotism could possibly accomplish. There are in every community large numbers of men whom such appeals will not reach, and with whom arguments of such a character will have no force. The freedom of which we boast is not the freedom to shut our eyes against the light. The privilege of ignorance is not freedom, it is a license; and genuine liberty is not license, but it is that kind of liberty so regulated by law that the citizen enjoying it is protected in all his personal rights of life and property, is compelled to respect the enjoyment of all those rights in all other citizens, and is prohibited from pursuing any course which would impair the enjoyment of those rights in others. I think it may be safely assumed that if the State has the right to punish crime after it has once been committed, it has also the right to prevent the commission of crime altogether. If it could do this and if the education of our people, compulsory or otherwise, can be regarded as one of the means by which the commission of crime is to be prevented, it is not only the privilege, but it is the duty which the State owes to all its law-abiding citizens to employ these means.

There are three things that no man can keep—a point on a pencil, a pointed joke, and an appointment with the dentist. There are three things which all men borrow—postage stamps, cigarettes and car tickets! There are three things no woman can do—cross before a horse, hurry for a horse-car, and understand the difference between ten minutes and half an hour.

IRON IN THE ATMOSPHERE.—Observations of snow collected on mountain tops and within the Arctic circle far beyond the influence of factories and smoke, confirm the supposition that minute particles of iron float in the atmosphere, and in time fall to the earth. Some physicists believe that these floating particles of iron are concerned in the striking phenomena of the aurora. Gronemann, of Gottingen, holds that streams of the particles revolve around the sun, and that when passing the earth they are attracted to the poles, and then stretch forth as long filaments into space. But as they travel with planetary velocity they become ignited in our atmosphere, and thus produce the luminous appearance of aurora. In his recent voyages, Prof. Nordenskjold examined snow far in the north beyond Spitzbergen, and found therein exceedingly small particles of metallic iron, phosphorus and cobalt.

FRITSCH'S PRUSSIAN Cough Syrup

THE LATEST VICTORY OF MEDICAL SCIENCE.

The only existing remedy for every species of Acute or Chronic Disease of the Organs of Respiration, and an absolute

SPECIFIC FOR CONSUMPTION!

THIS all-powerful vegetable preparation expels from the lungs and air passages, the mucus and muco-pus produced by pulmonary inflammation, heals the irritated membranes, and renovates every organ which utilizes the breath of Life. It contains no stupefying poison, and is in all respects a healthful medicine. The rapidity and certainty with which it is astonishing. Its effects go deeper than the mere symptoms of pulmonary disease and discharges the cause from the system. Free and painless expectoration is the mode by which it relieves the lungs, chest and throat from the burdens which oppress them; thus arresting Consumption and Bronchitis in the germ before they reach the more dangerous stages. The emaciated sufferer

ANNIHILATES A COUGH

BATTLING FOR LIFE

with the most terrible scourge of our climate will find Fritsch's Prussian Cough Syrup a potent ally, and will assuredly win the fight by adhering strictly to this great medicine. The

in which it has been administered with entire success as a remedy for every variety of malady which affects the Respiratory Functions, amount to more than at the present date, and yet the preparation is only in the infancy of its usefulness. The great defect of all Cough Remedies hitherto introduced is that they are simply expletory. Hence they are useless; for unless the causes of the acrid secretions which are coughed up are removed, and the ruptured, inflamed or maturated surfaces healed and restored to their natural tone, a cure is impossible. Fritsch's Prussian Cough Syrup accomplishes these objects. The mucus and muco-pus which are the consequence of Lung Disease, are thrown off by it, while at the same time it soothes and invigorates the weakened tissues.

"LIFE FOR THE LUNGS."

For coughs, colds, influenza, bronchial Difficulties, tickling of the chest, hoarseness, sore throat, trachitis, inflammation of the lungs, difficulty of breathing, pleurisy and all disorders of a pulmonary nature, it has never been equalled.

Vegetable acids cool and dilute the blood, and generally refresh the system. All fruits contain acids and salts, which exercise a cooling and invigorating influence. Apricots, peaches, apples, pears, gooseberries and currants contain malic acid. Lemons, raspberries, grapes and pineapples contain citric acid. The skins of grapes and plums contain tannic acid, which has a bitter taste.

THE TIDE.—The return of the tide twice every day is owing to the attractive influence which the body of the moon exerts upon the earth, and especially upon its great moveable fluid, the ocean. What a mysterious page of nature does this fact seem, when we thus behold ourselves linked, as it were, by an invisible chain to a distant world.

Obstinacy and Ignorance.

The obstinate man is generally an ignorant one, and a slave to his opinions. His belief is proof against any reason. The slighter and more inconsistent his opinions are the faster he holds to them, otherwise they would fall asunder of themselves; for opinions that are false ought to be held with more strictness and assurance than those which are true, otherwise they will be apt to betray their owners before they are aware. He delights most of all to differ in things indifferent; no matter how frivolous they are, they are weighty enough in proportion to his weak judgment; and he will rather suffer self martyrdom than part with the least scruple of his freehold; for it is impossible to dye his dark ignorance into any lighter color. He is resolved to understand no man's reason but his own, because he finds no man can understand his but himself. To try to reason with such a man is labor wasted.

Facts About the Human Body.

Every adult man has 1,400 square feet of lungs; or, rather, the mucous membrane lining the air cells of his lungs, if spread upon a smooth, plane surface, would cover an extent of 1,400 square feet.

About two-thirds of a pint of air is inhaled at each breath in ordinary respiration.

A man breathes eighteen times a minute and uses 3,000 cubic feet or about 372 hogsheads, of air per hour.

The weight of the heart is from eight to twelve ounces. It beats 100,000 times in 24 hours.

The stomach daily produces about nine pounds of gastric juice for the digestion of the food; its capacity is about five pints.

An amount of blood equal to the whole quantity of the body passes through the heart every minute.

Is your life worth 25 cents? If it is do not neglect a Cough or Cold. Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup at once and be cured by that never failing remedy

Copperas-Water and Tomato Plants.

A writer says: "In Erie, I bought six tomato plants for early use. I set them out near the house. When they began to grow nicely, I watered four plants with a solution of sulphate of iron, commonly called copperas, three times. I took a forty gallon cask and filled it with water, and in this I dissolved five pounds of copperas. Now for the result. The plants watered with the solution were two weeks earlier than the others. My diary says: October 9th, 1877. Picked tomatoes of second growth, and third crop growing, and vines still blooming. The two vines unwatered with the solution were at the time dead.

I tried it again this year, 1878, with the same remarkable results—two crops, early and late. The tomatoes of both crops were nice and large and delicious. As my cask sat in the garden, the rose bushes and other flowering plants got occasional contributions of it, and flowers produced were extraordinarily fine."

Mr. A. NEIGER, Taylorville, Pa. writes:

My mother, an old lady of 60 years, suffered for 30 years with Rheumatism, to such an ext nt that she was at times entirely lame. We procured from Messrs. Ludwig & Co., Druggists in Scranton, Pa., a bottle of St. Jacobs OIL, used it according to directions, and saw our efforts crowned with perfect success. Mother was relieved.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptione and Eruptive diseases of the skin, Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and Uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives—Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock—with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known for the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skillfully combined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.

MAYFIELD
WATER ELEVATOR AND PURIFIER.

(Patented September 26, 1871.)

It is the simplest structure for raising water on the American continent.

It is Easily Adapted to any Well or Cistern. Any person can put one up in a few minutes, as it has no attachments to lay part of the well below the plat form.

Every Chick is Tested. The buckets bear no strain, except the weight of the water in them. The solid, one piece and tock to bear galvanized iron construction, it never gets out.

It Works Easily. The chain balances itself, so the only resistance to overcome is the weight of the water in the buckets; hence, it is the only structure that will raise water from deep wells without a corresponding increase of friction.

It will Never Freeze. It is thoroughly tube, and in the coldest weather it will not freeze.

It Purifies the Water. The motion of the water in the buckets, as it is the only structure that will raise water from deep wells without a corresponding increase of friction.

It will Never Freeze. It is thoroughly tube, and in the coldest weather it will not freeze.

As the inverted cups pass around the wheel suspended in the chain at the bottom of the well or cistern, they are constantly dipping up through the water from the bottom to the top. This not only thoroughly agitates the water, but it forces a large surplus of oxygen from the air into the water, and the surplus oxygen is sufficient to consume all impurities or organic matter in the foulest well or cistern.

Advice to Girls.

Just a few words, girls, and don't get mad. Go slow on getting acquainted with every stranger that stops a day in town. Men are on the look-out for young women to flirt with. Don't try to be the first to catch a commercial traveler or receive his company at your homes, or go with him to social gatherings. This class of men make fun of you to your friends. Don't "snub" the young men you know to gain the momentary attention of strangers. It never pays. You may mean all right, but an unjust public is sure to hint many wicked things about you. Many young ladies fall out of notice, socially, by being ruled by a desire to flirt with strangers. Take the advice we offer and see how much happier you will be when you settle down in homes of your own.

Alcohol and Fowls.

A French doctor has experimented on the influence of alcoholic drinks on fowls. He administered to them brandy and absinthe, and found one and all to take so kindly to their unwonted stimulants that he was forced to give each bird a limited daily allowance. There was extraordinary development of cocks' crests, and a rapid and general loss of flesh. The experiments were continued until it appeared that two months' absinthe drinking sufficed to kill the strongest cock or hen, while the brandy-drinkers lived four and a half months, and the wine-bibbers held on for ten months before they died the drunkard's death.

Carlyle says that one cannot move a step without meeting a duty, and that the fact of mutual happiness is proved by the very fact of one's existence. No man liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.

A TABLE ORNAMENT.—Sew coarse flannel around a goblet with a stem broken off; put this shapely dome upon a saucer of water; wet the flannel and sprinkle over as much flax seed as will adhere to it. The flannel will absorb the water from the saucer, which should often be replenished. In about two weeks the flannel will be concealed in a beautiful verdure, which will vie with any table ornament.

Whoever is honest, generous, courteous and cheerful, is a gentleman, whether he be learned or unlearned, rich or poor.

It is better to wear out than to rust out. We must not only strike the iron while it is hot, but strike till it is made hot.

Benefit your friends, that they may love you still more dearly; benefit your enemies that they may become your friends.

If you would be pungent, be brief; for it is with words as with sunbeams, the more they are condensed the deeper they burn.

Good words do more than hard speeches; as the sunbeams, without any noise, will make the traveler cast off his cloak, which all the blustering wind could not do, but only make him bind it closer to him.

The richer one is in moral excellence the nobler should he appear so kind consideration for all around him. Peurriousness and selfishness would fade all his virtues, as rust will destroy the luster of the most brilliant metal.
