THE GREAT BOOK by DOESTICKS. DOESTICKS. DOESTICKS. DOESTICKS. (His last and verily his best.) NOTHING TO SAY: Being A Poetic Satire on Snobbery, which has "NOTHING TO DO," with "NOTHING TO WEAR," SPLENDIDLY ILLUSTRATED, and printed on tinted paper from the finest designs ever made by McLenan, whose fame as comic designer, is unequaled. Price, elegantly bound in cloth, uniform with "NOTHING TO WEAR," 50 cents.
THE GREAT RACE for the authorship of "NOTHING TO WEAR" not yet being decided, the stakeholders, Messrs. RUDD & CARLTON, have determined, during the pendency of this important contest, to place once more upon the course the two tried nags and popular favorites, DOESTICKS and McLENAN, who will run one more heat on the Literary Track, for A PURSE OF $50,000, which it is hoped will be made up for their benefit by the disinterested public. Full particulars of this exciting affair will be published in a superb pictorial volume, entitled "NOTHING TO SAY," written on a bet, in an hour and three quarters, with his boots off, his feet in a pail of warm water, and one hand tied over his head, by the immortal DOESTICKS, P. B.
Embellished with a quantity of ELEGANT ILLUSTRATIONS, by JOHN MCLENAN, did by that comic artist in eighty minutes, during the intervals of jumping eleven rail fences, with a fish-pole in each hand, and a string of trout hanging from the back of his neck.
INTRODUCTION.
I.—Q. K. P. Doesticks—of No-Hall, No where, No Castle, No Villa, No Place, Court or Terrace; Who did'nt write "Junius," or "Nothing to Wear," Who never have visited London or Paris; Who am not a phantom, a myth, or a mystery, But a Jonas as solid as any of history. As real as Anthony, Cæsar, or Brutus, A wide-awake Yankee, so "tarnation cute" as To always write Nothings, while Nothings will pay, Am the author of this Nothing—Nothing to Say.
* * * * * * *
Miss Prue I've a favor to ask—if 'tis true That "Nothing to Wear," and "Nothing to Do," And "Nothing to Eat," were all written by you— Let these three Nothings content you I pray, Say nothing yourself—leave me "Nothing to Say."

BERANGER'S LYRICS.—D. APPLETON & Co., Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, PUBLISH THIS DAY: TWO HUNDRED LYRICAL POEMS OF PIERRE JEAN DE BERANGER. DONE INTO ENGLISH VERSE, BY WILLIAM YOUNG. One volume, 12mo, 460 pages. Price, $1 25. The recent death of Béranger has revived among foreigners that interest in his written works which has absorbed his own countrymen during about half a century. The first edition, therefore, of this attempt to render a large portion of his masterpieces into our tongue being exhausted, it has been thought opportune to put forward another. To the accompanying sketch of Béranger's life, published seven years ago, there is scarcely a line to be added. Singing no more, and resolutely turning his face from notoriety, the old age—which from a very early period he had delighted to feign—overtook him not before his time. If physical malady tried him severely at the end, his mind preserved its equable tone to the last. He died at Paris in an humble lodging on the 16th of July, and on the following day his remains were hurried into the grave at the Cemetery of Pere la Chaise. The haste was indecent, but was caused perhaps by State necessity. Long ago, in one of his lighter lyrics, the Poet had anticipated the occasion, and sung of his own funeral. Could he have foreseen that, when the event actually occurred, the Government which he mistrusted would officially supply the chief mourners, and the People, with whom he loved to identify himself, would be kept aloof by bayonets, he would have touched the subject less playfully. But, after all, his death and burial will in no degree affect his fame. Frenchmen, lettered and unlettered, long ago awarded to Pierre Jean de Béranger a foremost place in their esteem, nor does the world of lookers-on appear to question his preeminence. As a lyric poet he has never been surpassed. [Preface to Second Edition.

Watches, Jewelry, &c.

AMERICAN WATCHES—To the TRADE.—These Watches are made by the aid of new and original machinery and tools expressly designed to secure with a low price a fine, substantial and correct time-keeper. The movements are new, simple and beautiful in plan and construction, remarkably easy of repair, and have been pronounced by the ablest chronometer and watch-makers to be faultless in principle and quality, and by all who have used them to be reliable in performance. Each one is engraved "Appleton, Tracy & Co., Waltham, Mass.," and is accompanied by a certificate of genuineness and perpetual warranty over our written signature.
We ask no man to buy these Watches merely because they are of American manufacture. We ask only that this fact shall not be permitted to exclude them from consideration. We claim that Watches equal in quality and merit cannot be obtained so cheap in Europe; and we ask our countrymen to give these a trial under our warranty.
Orders or inquiries may be addressed to us directly, or to any of the under-mentioned firms, who are agents for the sale of our goods in New York, viz:
Messrs. COOPER & FELLOWS, No. 11 Maiden-lane,
Messrs. FELLOWS & Co., No. 17 Maiden-lane,
