THE BIRTH OF WASHINGTON.
When fame sought for her favorite son,
And wreath'd her brightest bay's for him.
She found the infant Washington,
And bade the chaplet ne'er grow dim.

Her trumpet to the winds she gave,
And put into his trusty hand,
The sword, worn only by the brave,
To guard his loved, his native land.

The gift's of freedom ne'er grow old,
But glitter yet in bright array,
At RANNEY'S store of jeweled gold,

NOW READY.
CHARLES DICKENS'S
HOUSEHOLD WORDS,
For MARCH.
Read what the Press says of it:
"The 'Household Words' in many respects stands alone among periodicals, filling an enviable place at the firesides and in the affections of the people that no magazine dare attempt. The very name of Dickens, so largely identified with the publication, is a force in itself not to be rivaled." [Baltimore Patriot.
"A fair criterion of the ability of a magazine, is the proportion of its contents copied into the newspapers of the day. Judged by this standard, 'Household Words' ranks first among the monthlies, native or foreign. Whenever we find a particularly readable waif, circulating without credit among our exchanges, we with little hesitation fix its paternity upon our favorite, and we are generally right." [Columbia (Pa.) Spy.

A CASE OF COURTESY!!
A carelessly prepared and imperfect translation of this famous novel, has, we understand, been offered to several prominent Publishers in this city, who have declined issuing it, as our edition had been announced long ago. The Translator, however, at last found a publishing house, which is hastily issuing this feeble translation in cheap paper parts—thus notoriously violating trade etiquette. The reader, therefore, who desires a faithful and vigorous translation of this great author, by an accomplished Italian scholar, should be particular to buy only the edition translated by LUIGI MONTI, and with the sanction of Harvard University, as it is the only genuine legitimate edition in the English language.
Sold by all the Booksellers in the United States. This book will be sent by mail, postage paid, to any part of the United States, on receipt of price in stamps, $1 25.

Price of Pocket Edition, $1. On Rollers, $3.
Over 4,20 distinct lines, comprising more than 20,000 miles of completed road, upward of 1,500 miles in progress, and 12,000 in contemplation, are laid down upon it, making a total of nearly 40,000 miles of railroad in operation, progress or projected in the United States. These lines are distinctly and correctly laid down. It is also a County Map, showing the location as well as course, through each county town and place. Every city or town upon the line of each road is also given, thus making it useful to the traveler, as well as the capitalist and financier.
No proper idea can be obtained of any road unless a person has before him a good Map to illustrate its position and relations.
