SALES SHRINK; TONE STILL FIRM

Prices Well Maintained in Face of Decline in Demand for Stocks.

MARKET QUIET AND STRONG

Industrial Department Continued Relatively Conspicuous—The Closing Irregular.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Aggregate sales at the Stock Exchange fell off to-day, but notwithstanding the decline in activity, marking a shrinkage in the active demand for stocks, prices were well maintained. The market is best defined as quiet and strong. The causes of the falling off in business were not very clear. The fact of a broken week ahead on account of the Thanksgiving holiday, may have been a motive. There were some intimations that the expectation of an immediate decision of the Northern Securities suit might be disappointed. Wall Street clings to a conviction that the decision of that suit is to be the signal for some important announcement affecting the trans-continental railroad situation and the prospect of its delay discouraged some operations. Union Pacific was noticeably strong, however, as were St. Paul and the bonds in any way related to the Northern Securities adjustment. A consideration of the diminishing supplies in the money market may have admonished some of the speculative element against excess of commitments, but such a consideration fails to explain the strength of the duller trading.

The industrial department of the market continued relatively conspicuous and there was an occasional movement in that department on the part of stocks a long time dormant, previous quotations running back over a year in some of these. The more active industrials were strong. The United States Steel stocks and the railroad equipment stocks reflected the good rports from trade circles. The day's small changes in leading stocks comport with the narrowing of the dimensions of the market and the closing was irregular and below the best.

Bonds were firm; total sales, par value, $10,380,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The total sales of stocks were 1,173,400 shares.

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline to 2@6 points in response to liquidation, following a couple of local estimates of the crop. One of these put the probable yield at 11,684,000 bales. The other estimated it at 11,800,000 bales. Cables were fairly steady and early advices from the South indicated a good demand for spot cotton with holders willing to sell at present prices, but unwilling to make any further concessions. Local shorts showed a disposition to cover at the initial break, and prices were soon rallied to about closing figures of the previous night, after which they ruled about steady and were quite steady at a net advance of 3@6 points. Sales were estimated at 200,000 bales. It had been anticipated by some that the first instalment of the ginners' rport, giving the amount of cotton ginned to November 14th, would be issued to-day. There was no sign of it, however, and no official announcement as to when it may be expected.

Estimated receipts at the ports to-day were 48,000 bales against 71,736 last week and 59,737 last year. For the week 375,000 bales against 381,058 bales last week and 377,693 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans were 14,254 bales against 16,641 last year, and at Houston 11,969 bales against 27,329 last year.

Cotton futures opened easy and closed steady:

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Nov. 21.—COTTON—Spot cotton quiet and weak. Sales 3,750 bales, including 1,300 to arrive. Quotations 1-16c. lower.

Futures opened steady with a decline of 1@3 points on a decidedly unfavorable weather map. Soon after the opening on large buying orders from profit-taking shorts prices were sent up well above Saturday's closing. The bear faction has lost much of their courage of the past week and are apparently relinquishing their hold on the local market. The marketing received little encouragement from the bulls. The trading was moderately active throughout the session. December opened down 3 points at 9.29, declined a point and then sold up to 9.49, but finally lost points to 9.47. The market closed steady with net gains of 4@9 points.

Cotton futures steady: November, 9.47 bid; December, 9.47@9.48; January, 9.56@9.57; February, 9.65@9.67; March, 9.74@9.75; April, 9.81@9.83; May, 9.88@9.89.

CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 21.—Under heavy profit-taking December wheat to-day broke an even three cents from high point of the day's quotations. A large part of the selling was said to have been done by Eastern capitalists who were anxious to get out of the grain market. The market regained part of the loss on covering by shorts, but at the close the December delivrey showed a net loss of 1⅛c., as compared with Saturday's final figures. May is down ⅝c.; corn is up ⅜c.; oats show a gain of a shade; provisions are off 2½@7½c.
