Wing's Celebrated Farina Crackers.

In the preparation of the material, and the manufacture of these Crackers, the natural and healthful properties of the grain are retained in their greatest purity and strength. The result is that WING'S CRACKERS contain in the same weight double the nourishment of bread as it is usually baked.

No other production from wheat has ever been discovered, which has proved so valuable as an article of food, or is so suitable generally for the stomach's healthful requirements. The youthful, as well as those in the meridian of life, and even aged people and young children, find them pleasant to eat.

They do not necessarily require masticating like other food, but merely breaking and moistening in the mouth gradually, or soaking in water or milk, by this means separating into tender flakes, in which state the stomach may receive them.

These flakes are composed of particles of farina, in which the life-supporting principle of the grain remains, not deadened or injured, as in flour, by too close grinding, but retaining its most active properties, so necessary to digestion, and the energizing force with which it imparts to the body a healthful growth, or renewed vigor and strength.

WING'S FARINA CRACKERS have an agreeable taste, act kindly upon the stomach, and are a valuable article for dyspeptic as well as sedentary and delicate persons generally, and they are peculiarly pleasant for children.

All those who may wish to procure these valuable Crackers, should understand that there are no genuine Farina Crackers made but by Mr. Wing; all these are stamped with the name "WING." Allow no person therefore to persuade you to buy any Crackers for Farina but WING'S.

This caution has become necessary in consequence of an attempt by designing persons to sell the ordinary kind of Crackers under the idea, or by conveying the impression, that they are like WING'S FARINA. Such attempts at deception should be understood by all.

WING'S FARINA CRACKERS may be procured of the best family Grocers generally, by whom they are extensively sold in different portions of the United States.

They may be had at Wholesale only of A. N. THOMPSON & Co., Nos. 221 and 223 Fulton-st., New-York.

MISS SEWELL'S NEW WORK.
D. APPLETON & Co., Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway,
WILL PUBLISH IN A FEW DAYS,
URSULA:
A TALE OF COUNTRY LIFE.
BY MISS SEWELL,
Author of "Amy Herbert."
2 Vols. 12mo. Cloth.
From The Athenæum.
"'Ursula' is written in Miss Sewell's best manner. The characters are drawn with truth to nature, and they give a color and turn to the circumstances and incidents of the story, rather than the circumstances to them—which is as it should be; for in real life the same incidents played by different characters would lead to widely different results. Of course, the aim and end of 'Ursula' is didactic; but, though we take exception to some of the points inculcated, the book is genial and kindly, and the impression left on the mind is pleasant. . . . Careful workmanship and conscientious painstaking are evident on every page."

A CARD—TO THE PUBLIC.—
OFFICE OF FRANK LESLIE'S ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER, No. 13 Frankfort-st., N. Y. May 14, 1858.
I was attracted this morning by a very imposing placard, extensively posted in our thoroughfares, calling attention to a magnificent view of UTAH, which was described as being the best representation of that city ever published. I naturally bought a copy of Harper's Weekly Journal of Civilization, to see how far this picture excelled one of the same place published by me, nearly two years ago, in No. 37 of my illustrated paper. What was my astonishment to find it was an exact copy, or transfer of the very same engraving published by me, August 23, 1856, secured by me at a heavy expense, and which had also been transferred from my columns to the Illustrated Zeitung of Leipsic, in their issue of Jan. 16, 1858.
I have no particular objection to the Messrs. Harpers copying my illustrations if they will only acknowledge the source from whence they come, but I, like themselves when any one trespasses upon their copyright, naturally feel disinclined to pay for the best cuts in their journal, without, at least, the bare compliment of an acknowledgment. Had this been the first time I should not have called public attention to it, but as this has occurred before, I am not willing they should adopt it as a system. I accept the involuntary homage they pay my paper, when they say it is the finest view of Utah ever presented to the American public—although it strikes me as somewhat extraordinary that during the two last years the Mormons have been so fast asleep as not to have built a single house, cow-shed or shanty of the meanest description, and I cannot perceive in their picture a single additional house to those already given in my view. As a proof of the popularity of the picture, I may name that I republished it in my Christmas Pictorial, as well as in my German Illustrite Zeitung.
In fashion is certainly the most delicate of all compliments, but it may be carried a little too far as in the present case of appropriation without the slightest credit. FRANK LESLIE.
