CERTIFICATES.

New Orleans, March 9th, 1855.

During the year 1854, the furnace of the Mint, Department of the U. S. Branch Mint, in Philadelphia, have it been constructed of the Celebrated Fire-brick. These bricks have been daily manufactured for us, from a composition of 50 clay, to 2 200 clay, and have been, and continue to be, in the furnace, in good condition, without repairs, and are yet in use. I consider the Celebrated Fire-Brick superior to any manufactured in the United States, and equal to most of the celebrated brands imported from foreign countries. I remain, respectfully, Master and Builder, U. S. Branch Mint, New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 9th, 1855.

In the summer of 1853, I used Burnham's Celebrated Fire Brick, partly the English and Pittsburg, in constructing a furnace in a steam sugar house, in Fairview plantation in the parish of St. Charles, to the following dimensions: Fire-place, 3 feet 6 inches in depth, 3 feet 6 inches in width; the Cockeyes and partly the English Brick. The furnace, during the two grinding seasons was subject to intense heat continuously night and day, and I can safely say, that the Celebrated Brick, and hence is quite as well as the English and far better than the Pittsburg.
