New York Stock Market

New York, May 13.—Idleness and neglect eclipsed all signs of interest in the stock market to-day. The traditional midsummer dullness rarely finds a parallel for the long waits for single transactions, which were the rule to-day. Some of the lighter-minded of the trading fraternity found no better explanation for the abstention from the market than the fact that it was Friday, the 13th. The imminence of a two-days' holiday interval in London furnished a more radical explanation. The influence by the London situation on speculative sentiment was increased by the evidence of a hardening money market at that centre. The action of the Bank of England in maintaining its official discount rate yesterday in face of an extraordinary strength of condition attracted increased attention to-day, and furthered the supposition that its control of he open money market would be asserted to maintain money rates. This assumption set afloat some conjecture over possible motives for this attitude.

The foreign exchange market was rather disordered, and fluctuated with violence at recoveries from the recent low points. The more authoritative reports of the large volume of American bonds being placed abroad were without influence in the exchange market. It was said that this was due to provision for deferred payments of some of these subscriptions, and consequent postponement of the offerings of exchange bills against the payments. Highly speculative conditions have grown up in the foreign exchange market in New York in common with practically every other salable commodity, and the present strength of exchange is attributed to an uncovered short interest which sought to take advantage of the expected supplies growing out of the bond sales. The strength of exchange, however, served to heighten the effect of the hardening tendency reported in the London money market.

Preliminary estimates pointed to another large gain in cash for the week by the clearing-house banks, the movement from the interior having been supplemented by gains on Subtreasury operations. The money market showed no change in conditions.

Wide movements in a few individual stocks supplied the only features of interest in the market. Only rumors could be pointed to as explanation. The sharp rise in Canadian Pacific was coupled with reports that a disbursement of profits out of land sales was intended. The Wabashes were affected again by revived reports of control passing to the Rock Island interests. Texas and Pacific land trust certificates were run upon a few transactions for no other reason than a report that they were being bought by the trustees.

The halt in the speculation was due partly to the inconclusiveness of crop conditions. Reports of insect damage to winter wheat and the low temperatures in the Northwest were noted. The week's exports of wheat expanded more than 1,000,000 bushels over those of the week before. The bulge in the Canadian group pulled prices up in the latter part of the day, but the movement was inconclusive, and the day's net changes were mostly trivial.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,843,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales for the day, 340,300 shares.

New York, May 13.—Money on call steady, 3 1-2@4 per cent.; ruling rate, 3 3-4; closing bid, 3 7-8; offered at 3 3-4. Time money firm; sixty days, 3 1-2@3 3-4; ninety days, 4@4 1-4; six months, 4@4 1-4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4 1-2@5 per cent. Sterling exchange strong, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8370@$4.8385 for sixty-day bills, and at $4.8685 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83@$4.83 1-2. Bar silver, 53 3-4. COTTON MARKETS.

New York, May 13.—A very sharp further advance in the cotton market was followed by a considerable reaction late to-day, and the close was barely steady, net 1 point lower to 15 points higher, generally speaking, 7@15 points higher on the old crop and 1 lower to 2 higher on the new. The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points on May, but generally 1@8 points higher in response to steady cables and large English spot sales, May, which was influenced by a little realizing at the start, quickly firmed up with the rest of the list, and the whole market advanced rapidly during the morning on the talk of an improved spot demand, reports of firmer interior markets, continued dry weather in the Southwest, numerous private crop advices of a bullish character, suggesting a bullish bureau on June 2, bull support and covering. Wall Street and foreign houses were active buyers on the advance, presumably to cover shorts or undo straddles, while there appeared to be a broadening demand for the new crop, both from shorts and fresh buyers. The demand slackened around 13.89 for May, 15.79 for July and 13.16 for October, or 18@25 points above the closing figures of the previous day, and in the case of the old crop, 180@187 points above the low level of last month, but while operations for a reaction were at first restricted by apprehensions of renewed covering, the market gradually became easier during the afternoon under heavy realizing with the new crop losing practically all its gain on private reports of beneficial showers in the Southwest. Spot markets officially reported were ⅝@¾c. higher. Private cables reported a good trade demand in Liverpool, and said that a good business was doing in Manchester. Leading bull operators are credited with having taken large profits on the advance, but they appeared to be giving the market a good deal of support on the late decline.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 8,078 bales against 7,603 last week and 18,079 last year. For the week 46,006 bales against 52,978 last week and 99,119 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 3,467 bales against 8,263 last year.

Cotton futures opened steady and closed barely steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, May 13.—Frightened over the idea that the market had been oversold on recent declines, operators who were short grabbed all the wheat in sight during the final hour to-day. Review of Trade.

New York, May 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say:

"Little new business has developed in pig iron, although in certain directions more inquiries are noted. Specifications on finished products are heavier, with a considerable inquiry from the railroads, yet actual orders are not large.

"Quietness pervades the dry goods markets, orders being of a hand-to-mouth character all along the line, but anticipation of deliveries on some lines of fall cottons is noted, the advance business booked by jobbers being exceptionally good. Cotton goods show fractional advances in some lines for converting and printing, but manufacturers complain that orders are being booked before the current cost of production. Export trade is light. Woolens and worsteds are quiet. Yarns show a little more movement at a sacrifice on costs.

"Immediate trading in boots and shoes is quiet, but the business now placed shows a decided gain over several months back, and shipments continue to increase. Most kinds of sole leather are firm."
