Special Notices.

G. Vandenhoff's Evenings with Sheridan, LYRIQUE HALL, No. 765 BROADWAY.
The character of this entertainment may be gathered from the following brief notice extracted from The Washington National Intelligencer:
"G. VANDENHOFF'S 'EVENINGS WITH SHERIDAN.'—This highly-amusing and elegant entertainment is destined to be very attractive. The audience on Monday night gave the most unequivocal proofs of satisfaction, and Vandenhoff's admirable dramatic reading of the 'Rivals' sent his hearers weeping to their beds—but weeping with excessive laughter. Vandenhoff was a whole company in himself, and played Mrs. Malaprop, Sir Anthony, Bob Acres, Sir Lucius, &c., as if he were half a dozen people."

BIOGRAPHICAL HISTORY.—
MASON BROTHERS
Have in preparation a series of Histories of
THE MONARCHIES OF CONTINENTAL EUROPE.
By JOHN S. C. ABBOTT,
Author of "History of Napoleon Bonaparte," "French Revolution of 1789," &c.

The plan and method of these books are novel, and eminently adapted to enhance their permanent value, as well as their immediate attractiveness. The sovereign and court are necessarily the center, about which the popular life revolves. So that while the selection of REIGNING DYNASTIES, as the main topic, gives clearness to the narrative, it also links together the minuter occurrences of national progress. The directness of biography is added to the fullness of history. The series will comprise five or more volumes, each of which will be complete, and independent of the others.
To the preeminent qualifications of Mr. Abbott for such a task, the publishers feel it unnecessary to allude. His own words, in the preface to the first volume, we say, however, be quoted:
"The studies of the author of this work, for the last ten years, in writing the 'HISTORY OF NAPOLEON BONAPARTE,' and the 'FRENCH REVOLUTION OF 1789,' have necessarily made him quite familiar with the monarchies of Europe. He has met with so much that was strange and romantic in their career, that he has been interested to undertake, as it were, a Biography of the Monarchies of Continental Europe, their birth, education, exploits, and present condition. He has commenced with Austria."

On the 19th February we shall publish;
THE EMPIRE OF AUSTRIA:
ITS RISE AND PRESENT POWER.
By JOHN S. C. ABBOTT.
One vol., crown 8vo. Cloth. Price $1 50.

"There are abundant materials for this work. The life of Austria embraces all that is wild and wonderful in history; her early struggles for aggrandizement; the fierce strife with the Turks, as wave after wave of Moslem invasion rolled up the Danube; the long conflict and bloody persecutions of the Reformation; the thirty years' religious war; the meteoric career of Gustavus Adolphus, and Charles XII., shooting athwart the lurid storms of battle; the intrigues of Popes, the enormous pride, power, and encroachments of Louis XIV.; the warfare of the Spanish succession, and the Polish dismemberment; all these events combine in a sublime tragedy, which fiction may in vain attempt to parallel."—Author's Preface.

Tee next volume, containing
THE EMPIRE OF RUSSIA,
will follow in the Summer, to be succeeded by SPAIN, FRANCE, GERMANY, etc., each in a volume of between 500 and 600 pages, crown 8vo., cloth, at the uniform price of $1 50. The series will be of elegant appearance, and in durable and convenient style.
The publishers confidently promise these new works of Mr. Abbott, as presenting history in a fresher, livelier, and more effective manner than the majority of similar books, and believe they will prove an indispensable addition to Family, School, and Social Libraries. MASON BROTHERS, Publishers,
No. 46 Walker-st., New-York.

DERBY & JACKSON'S
BRITISH CLASSICS.
I.
DEAN SWIFT'S COMPLETE WORKS.
FIRST AMERICAN EDITION.
In Six Volumes. Cloth $7 50; sheep, library style, $9; half calf, extra, $15; half calf, antique, $15.

"Altogether, Dean Swift's merits appear to be more unique and inimitable than those of any of his contemporaries; and as his works are connected in many parts with historical events which it must always be of importance to understand, we conceive that there are none of which a new and careful edition is so likely to be acceptable to the public—in humor and irony—we join with all the world in thinking the Dean of St. Patrick without a rival."—[Lord Jeffrey.
"For the qualities of sheer wit and humor, Swift had no superior, ancient or modern. * * * When Swift was at his best, who was so lively, so entertaining, so original? He has been said to be indebted to this and that classic, and to this and that Frenchman; to Lucian, to Rabelais, and to Cyrano de Bergerac; but though he was acquainted with all these writers, their thoughts had evidently been thought by himself, their quaint fancy of things had passed through his own mind, and they ended in results quite masterly and his own."—Leigh Hunt.
"No author in the British language has enjoyed the extensive popularity of the celebrated Dean of St. Patrick's. The vivid and original power of his genius has supported him in the general opinion, to an extent only equaled by his friend Pope, and far surpassing any other of those geniuses who flourished in the Augustan age of Queen Anne."—[Sir Walter Scott.
II.
BOSWELL'S
LIFE OF JOHNSON.
FIRST COMPLETE AMERICAN EDITION,
Including a Journal of his Tour to the Hebrides; a new edition, with numerous additions by John Wilson Croker, M. P., and Notes by various hands. Complete in 4 vols., 12mo., cloth, $5; library sheep, $6; half calf, extra, $9; half calf, antique, $9; half Turkey, extra, $9.
That the uninitiated may form some idea of the entertaining character of BOSWELL'S LIFE OF JOHNSON, critical opinions of the work from the pens of two of our greatest living writers, viz: Macaulay and Carlyle, are subjoined.
Mr. Macaulay thus expresses himself:
"The Life of Johnson is assuredly a great, very great work. Homer is not more decidedly the first of dramatists, Demosthenes is not more decidedly the first of orators, than Boswell is the first of Biographers. He has no second. He has distanced all his competitors so decidedly that it is not worth while to place them. Eclipse is first, and the rest nowhere.
"We are not sure that there is in the whole history of the human intellect so strange a phenomenon as this book. Many of the greatest men that ever lived have written biography. Boswell was one of the smallest men that ever lived, and he has beaten them all. * * * He has in an important department of literature, immeasurably surpassed such writers as Tacitus, Clarendon, Alfieri, and his own idol—Johnson." * * *
Speaking of Boswell's Life of Johnson, Mr. Carlyle says:
"How the babbling Bozzy, inspired only by love, and the recognition and vision which love can lend, epitomizes nightly the words of wisdom, the deeds and aspects of wisdom, and so, by little and little, unconsciously works together for us a whole Johnsonied; a more free, perfect, sunlit and spirit-speaking likeness than for many centuries had been drawn by man of man. Scarcely since the days of Homer has the feat been equaled; indeed in many senses, this also is a kind of heroic poem. The fit Odyssey of our unheroic age was to be written, not sung; of a Thinker, not a Fighter; and (for want of a Homer) by the first open soul that might offer—looked such even through the organ of a Boswell. * *
"In worth as a book we have rated it beyond any other product of the eighteenth century."

Fifty volumes, uniform with above, now ready, viz:

IN PRESS—
A Translation of LA AMOUR.
By MICHELET.
"Marriage, in its purest and most Christian sense, is the subject of this volume. How to make a home happy; how to perpetuate the honeymoon; how to mount the hill, and go down the valley of life hand-in-hand together,—all this is told with infinite and most touching tenderness and subtlety in this eccentric and sincere book. Full as it is of wise and happy thought, always brilliant, and often profound, it seeks to restore the sanctity of the natural affections, and to make love, in its purity and fidelity, the religion of the heart.—[The Continental Review.
