MEMPHIS
Navy Yard Grounds
TO BE LEASED!

ON THE FOURTH MONDAY, being the 26th day of November, 1855, will be offered to the public, on a lease of the grounds formerly owned by the Government of the United States, known as the Navy Yard in the city of Memphis, and containing about 50 acres.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS,

These grounds have a front on the Mississippi and Wolfe rivers of three thousand feet on the West, and a front of nearly twelve hundred feet on Chickasaw street on the East, and are divided into three square sections by Commerce and Navy Yard streets, running through from North to South.

The station which fronts upon Chickasaw and Commerce streets, will be subdivided as near as may be, into lots of 50 by 175 feet, comprising nine of the most eligible residence lots in the city.

The ground West of Commerce street, and fronting the river, has seven large and substantially constructed buildings, built of brick and stone, covered with slate, and extending from the Hope Walk, or line regulated in all respects with the finest collection of machinery in the South. All the buildings are finely adapted to Foundries, Machine Shops and Manufactories of every description, and the extensive river front is reported as the most favorable of any upon the Mississippi or its tributaries for the establishment of a boat-building and repairing yard.

The immediate vicinity of the timber in our vicinity, convenience to iron, copper, coal, and all the material necessary for the purpose, the demand for locomotives and cars for the twelve hundred miles of railroad now progressing to completion—for engines, thresh-ers, hoes, bagging and rope, and baggage—and the undisputed health of the place, have induced the lessees of Mill, most eminently fitted to the great purposes named. Memphis is almost above all other cities in infinity, is at the head of unincumbered navigation, and may be regarded as the great point of the great Mississippi Valley. Inducements are now offered to capitalists, mechanics, manufacturers, such as have never before been presented, for safe and profitable investment.

Proposals for leases upon the property will be received and noted upon at any time until the 25th day of November, at which time the whole will be publicly leased, unless otherwise disposed of before that time.

For further information, address the undersigned.

A. H. DOUGLASS, Mayor.

ST. CHARLES INSTITUTE,
Situated at Carrollton, near Carrollton, Jefferson Parish, La., conducted by Madame M. MAGE.

THIS INSTITUTION, already favorably known to the public, having attained to great and a great of popularity, Madame MAGE has found it necessary, in order to extend the accommodations and carry out improvements so needful for the acquisition of a establishment of the order, to purchase the beautiful premises which she has now occupied for two years. In pursuance of this object, spacious school rooms, large, lofty, and airy dormitories, with other essential additions to the former buildings, have just been erected, and the entire construction the most scientific regard has been directed to the health, comfort and convenience of the pupils.

These extensive improvements, the delightful and salubrious location of the residence, sufficiently remote from the city to be free from its noise and agitation, together with the advantages afforded by the daily attendance of the most eminent Professors, furnish unrivalled security for successful study at the St. Charles Institute. The course of instruction embraces all the various branches requisite for a complete English and French Education, and it is pursued under the superintendence of Madame and Mr. Mage, aided by most able and competent Teachers, native from France and the North, who reside permanently in the Institution.

The English department is under the experienced and talented direction of Mr. MELVILLE, who is a native of Massachusetts.

To facilitate the acquirement of both languages in equal perfection, the exercises are performed every day in English and French, and there being assistants among American as there are French, they are thus enabled to converse in each language. For the development of Music, distinguished Professors are engaged, and every effort is made to insure excellence in this branch of polishment.

Information respecting terms and all particulars may be obtained from the prospectus to be procured at the office of this paper, or at the Institution. Reverse and gentlemen are invited to visit the establishment on Saturdays and Sundays, in order to satisfy themselves as to the internal arrangements.
