RELIABLE PROTECTION AT SMALL COST THOUSANDS—YES HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS INSURED BY THE OUTLAY OF FIFTY-FIVE DOLLARS AND UPWARDS.

COURTHOUSES, Notaries, Jewelers, Brokers, Merchants, Capitalists, Planters, Retailers, Mechanics, Steamers, Families and others desirous of insuring the ages of fire and burglars, books, papers, money and other small but valuable articles, which are never covered by a policy of insurance, are invited to examine the subscriber's assortment of HALL'S PATENT CONCRETE FIRE-PROOF SAFES, including some with a new style of Lock, the key of which is as rigid as a solid bar, and closes like a pole-bolt.

The fire-defying character of this article is unsurpassed by that of any other kind of safe yet known, as can be shown to the satisfaction of purchasers, and the above patent has larger proof properties will be strikingly apparent to those who may inspect the cement, which is between the outside and the inner popular sides of other descriptions.

The outside of the safe is made of wrought iron, and the interior has a plate-metal interior box, and the latter one of wood, which will any time burn, but the former has weight and the latter cost iron corner bands, so that the former is made more securely riveted than the latter. The subscriber is prepared to demonstrate this contract by any experiments as none can gainsay, and will be glad to hear from the thoughtful.

☞ The covering process of Mr. Concrete Safe will eminently recommend it to the minds of those who have so seriously suffered by the dampness incurred by from the Salamander Safe, when kept generally closed. This difficulty is very important to hotels, tavern and dealers in fine fabrics, since delicate articles are generally injured by the steam always generated in Salamander Safes which expose to fire. The following are among several testimonials ready to be furnished to those who will visit or address the undersigned, who has not yet moved, as many imagine, and does not intend moving, but remains at his old stand, No. 21 Magazine street, next door the corner of Gravier.

New Orleans, April 26, 1854.

Mr. Isaac Bridge: Sir—As you have been the agent of Hall's Patent Concrete Fire-proof Safes, we may, perhaps, serve your interest by stating that one of the above safes from your manufactory saved all of our valuable papers and a portion (all that were in it) of our books from the fire of March 10th, 1854, on Magazine street.

The fire burned the store in which we were filled with wooden ware, the safe was put to a most severe test; and notwithstanding the intense heat to which it was subjected, no harm or being taken from the ruins, when sufficiently cooled, (about an hour after the fire,) we found the papers, which were about two hundred dollars in bank bills, were found to be in a state of perfect preservation. As regards the safe, we have no longer hesitation in recommending it to the public, as a safe and bright proof qualities we know of. Respectfully, yours, H. H. BARLOW & CO.

Dominick Hall, Esq., Agent.

Those noting the old styles of iron chests are so subject to loss to those who have none, since such styles are invariably felt to pieces when exposed to fire, and offer but slight resistance to the attempts of burglars.

The subscriber has size for sale second hand Salamander Safes, cheap iron Chests, Powder Proof Bank and Store Locks, Fire Proof Paint, Balances and Scales.
