SUPERIOR WHITE AND YELLOW GREASE, For Passenger and Freight Cars, Omnibuses, Wagons Cabs and Carriages.

THE UNDERSIGNED, having been appointed sole Agent for Hubrich & Tow's celebrated Greases, begs leave to call the attention of owners of omnibuses, drays and other vehicles, to the large amount they are now using.

These greases have been in use for years, and is the city for some time past, and are pronounced by all to be far superior to and much more durable than tallow and oil. We can, therefore, confidently recommend them as well worthy of notice, both for their durability and quality as well as for their low price.

We are at liberty to refer to Messrs. Hart, Thomas & Co., and Mr. Richard Condon, who now use no other kind of grease on their omnibuses and carriages.

CITY ITEMS.

THE WEATHER.—The weather for a few days past has been so warm as to revive mosquitoes and perspiration, with some hankering after the summer linen that has so recently been laid away. Yesterday the sunshine was particularly ardent while it lasted, and we noticed Beach's model fountain making away in real summer style. In the afternoon, however, the clouds commenced getting up a mass meeting. Up to a late hour last night, though they were contemplating a change, they had not decided what sort of a change to make.

SIXTH DISTRICT COURT.—The Alleged Contempt Case.—Col. Christy and Mr. Horton appeared yesterday before Judge Cotton, the former upon a citation, and the latter voluntarily, hearing that a citation had been issued. The Judge informed them that he had summoned them to answer for a contempt of court—briefly, in not obeying his mandamus on the previous day, and making the required return of the vote at the Seventh Precinct to the Sheriff; and, secondly, in using language in the response which they did make, derogatory to the standing and dignity of the Court.

Attorney General Morse, having been appealed to by Judge Cotton for his opinion in the matter, rose and delivered an opinion an hour and a half long. He said a good many things which we will be charitable enough not to report, as he evidently forgot that he was in a court of justice, and fancied himself addressing some public Democratic meeting. The culminating point of his language was, that the Commissioners had in the first place been doing terrible things, and had in the second place perpetrated a dreadful contempt of court, for all which they should be made an example of and punished, as a warning to the world and to posterity.

Col. Christy addressed the Court at some length in his defence—disclaiming all intention of disrespect to the court, but maintaining, with a full share of manly spirit and legal ability, the impotency of all the courts in christendom to compel him to make any other election return than the one he had made, or to swear to other people's facts.

The fact of Messrs. Christy and Horton's response, which the Judge considered "derogatory to the standing and dignity of the court," was this:

"It is assumed (no doubt through a misconception of the testimony) by his Honor the Judge of the Sixth District Court, that a certain number of votes had been counted and reported to the Commissioners. He says: 'They for all the votes in the box were counted, tallied, enumerated and made known.' The following extracts from the testimony shows this to be an error," etc., etc.

This difficulty turned out to bowing to a typographical error or omission, in the Delta newspaper. The Commissioners framed their response to the Judge's decision as they read it in the Delta, in which they could not but understand the Judge to say that the votes had been "announced and made known" to them. The Judge read from his written decision, and showed that after the words "made known" the Delta had omitted the words "to Mr. Locke and others," and stated that he did not hold himself responsible for the report in the papers. So this count to the charge was happily explained away.

Mr. L. Madison Day of the firm of Price & Day, next addressed the Court in behalf of Mr. Horton. He disclaimed the slightest intention of contempt on that gentleman's part, and argued, with much force, that the failure of the Commissioners to comply with the mandamus could not be construed into a contempt.

Col. Field followed, also in behalf of Mr. Horton, and placed the affair before the Court in a light different from that of his predecessors, but equally conclusive and convincing.

Judge Cotton stated that he would give his decision on Saturday, and, ordering the Commissioners to appear on that day, adjourned the Court.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Postponement of the Kendall Cases.—Yesterday morning, on the opening of this court, the jury in the Kendall case, who had been out since eight o'clock the previous evening, entered, and reported themselves unable to agree upon a verdict. They were thereupon discharged, and Mr. Kendall bonded to appear for another trial at the next term of the court, in April, 1856, at which time the other—the great "Marshall Hanson" case—will also be tried.

CANAL STREET.—This avenue and its chief tributaries are now, as they have been for some days past, in full shopping glory. The attendance of the ladies is regulated chiefly by the appearance of things overhead, and when rain does not threaten, Canal street, we should think, resembles a garden walk in Paradise. We have been pleased to observe, since Monday last, a cessation of the grievances to which we alluded in Tuesday's paper. Of course, there have been, as there are at all times, a humdrum of idle young gentlemen to be seen on that street; but we have not witnessed any portion of them making Shanghais of themselves, as they did on Monday last, by standing in front of the drygoods windows, to the annoyance of the ladies passing by. We give them credit for their reform—we mean those to whom we particularly alluded—and pledge ourselves never to say Shanghai, only when we catch them acting Shanghai, So, hurrah for Canal street, and the ladies!

ARRIVED.—The man with the lung-tester has arrived. He stacked his machine at the entrance of Commercial alley last evening, and numerous persons proved to admiring crowds, by blowing into the fellow's chest, they will never die of consumption. The microscopic man, with his louse and flea and drop of water full of nightmares, is daily expected. As soon as the moon ripens a little more, the telescopic man may also be looked for. The conspiracy against loose pleasures is coming to a head.

THE RECORDERS' COURTS.—We had a fruitless time of it in pursuit of items, yesterday so far as the Recorders' Courts were concerned. A scarcity of subjects, other than the usual whisky cases, was one cause, and the session of the Police Board was another cause. The Board was at usual gravely occupied in rehearsing a local version of "Much Ado about Nothing," in which the different performers are now pretty well up in their parts. Numerous American policemen were hauled over the coals—what for, we did not take the trouble to inquire. It is questionable whether the policemen themselves could tell.

GOOD LUCK.—It is not every man that gets beneath drunk and tumbles down in the street with a thousand dollars in cash about him, that gets sober without losing that cash. A man in the Fourth District, however, did the thing on Wednesday night, and did not lose by it. He was found lying on the banquette, drunk, and being taken to the police office, was found to have $1000 bill secreted in his cravat, and nearly $100 in change in his pockets.

A CHANGE.—Three poor devils were found sleeping in a stiff under one of the Second District wharves, on Wednesday night. Yesterday Recorder Hanson sent them to the Work-house. From sending on the boram of the deep, they are now breaking rock in the Work-house.

COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

New Orleans Money Market.

CRESCENT OFFICE, No. 70 CAMP STREET, Thursday Evening, November 15, 1855.

In the general state of trade to-day there was not that animation we have before observed, when we are favored with such favorable weather as now prevails. The levee, steamboat landing and streets thereto are fully crowded; the arrivals from the West continue large, and we have much gratification in remarking that a steady increase to the shipping occurs daily, and that from the number of vessels on the way hither, there need not be any apprehensions but what there will be abundant facilities for the transportation of the heavy quantities of produce, at reasonable rates, to foreign countries, which may seek our city as the outlet.

There was something doing in Cotton to-day, though our merchants are likely to be deprived of their foreign letters by the Asia for some days to come. In the meantime advices per Pacific are expected by telegraph, but Cotton does not arrive in those large quantities that it has for five or six weeks past, and the receipts are yet below the quantity of 1852 and 1853, judging from this that there is much probability the figures of 3,150,000 bales will be the maximum. The Yazoo River has been in a medium stage of navigation all the fall, and Cotton has been coming out, it may be said in driblets, but those driblets have been so numerous that the aggregate at the time comes up very respectable, and rather imposing in figures when placed in juxtaposition with the expected quantity which is to come to market from that section, or that tributary of the Mississippi.

There is no change to note in the general feature of the Money market; a sparse supply of paper appears on the market; A 1 of all kinds is readily negotiated at 6½ to 7 for sixty and ninety days, and 8 to 8½ for four and six months, with higher rates, according to the views held by leaders of the responsibility of the makers.

The Exchange market to-day was decidedly under a better feeling, particularly for domestic funds. Some drawers were indifferent about making more bills at 2 per ct. discount for sixty days on New York. The Banks have been free buyers for sight at ⅜ to 1 cent dis.; Sterling, with bills lading, were taken at 6¾ and 6¾, and clear bills rule at our quotations. Francs were taken at 5 25, and in all our inquiries we do not discern anything appertaining to the expected pressure which has so freely been predicted in Exchange operations. We quote this evening:

|---|---|
| Sixty days on London, clear bills | 6¼@6½ ⅌ ct. prem |
| Sixty days on London, with bills lading | 6¼@6¾ ⅌ cent. prem |
| Sixty days on Paris | 5 25@5 20 ⅌ francs |
| Sixty days on New York, bankers' bills | ¼@½ ⅌ cent. dis |
| Sixty days on New York, prime bills | ½@¾ ⅌ cent. dis |
| Ten and fifteen days on do New York, good mercantile | ¾@1 ⅌ cent. dis |
| Sight on New York | ⅜@½ ⅌ cent. dis |
| Checks on New York, bank notes | ⅜@½ ⅌ cent. dis |

We did not learn of any sales of Stock to-day, though 6¾ has been offered for Jackson Railroad. It is useless to think the question this and the Opelousas road are bound to go through some way or another, and our property holders and Bank Managers can either use their means or not, and receive the merit, credit and renown as great benefactors.

The mercantile letters from Paris continue to describe an absence of any serious distrust. Various reports were in circulation regarding the intentions and proceedings of the Bank of France; among which was one that they have arranged for a loan in silver of 20,000,000 gulders (about $1,600,000) from the Bank of Amsterdam. It was not thought true, but at the same time there were some circumstances to countenance it. The Bank of France has lately been endeavoring to obtain silver from all parts of the continent, and the supply in the Bank of Amsterdam at the present moment is very large. The resolution adopted by that establishment a few days back to discontinue their practice of selling it to any persons who would give a certain fixed price daight, however, be construed either as an indication that they are arranged to part with a large quantity in the manner described, or that they wished to take timely measures against an artificial drain in any shape.

We also annex an extract of a review of the Havre market and the Bourse at Paris:

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The late measures taken by the Bank are of depressing influence on our commerce; yet, nevertheless our manufacturers are doing a good business. Large orders have been received from the United States. Spanish houses are also buying. The Banks after having caused the rate of discount to be the highest, legal standard of 6 per cent., is charging at the same time a commission, thus increasing the rate actually to 8 per cent., and does not discount any paper above 60 days. The Bank of Amsterdam, Bank of Brussels has again been obeyed by large arrivals at Havre of specie, specially from the United States and the Danube. Exchanges—London, 90 days, 24.95; Frankfort do, 212; Amsterdam do, 21 12.

HAVRE, Oct. 20.—(Weekly Report.)—Cotton.—The week opened with regular demand. On Monday and Tuesday, under the influence of more favorable news from England, 4,000 bales were sold at a partial advance of 1 franc. Later, the market became quiet, and the closing stead. The total sales of the week, 8,200 bales, against 1,180 bales, arrived. Stock, 35,700 bales, (of which 33,810 were American.) We quote:

| | Fair. | Mid. | Fair. | F. O. | O. | N. O. | F. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New Orleans | 76 | 87 | 93 | 101 | 106 | 108 | 111 |
| Mobile | 76 | 86 | 95 | 98 | 101 | 105 | |
| Georgia | 76 | 85 | 90 | 93 | 98 | | |

The following extract, from a money circular, was forwarded from New York by the steamer for Liverpool on the 7th:

With a Stock market devoid of animation, prices were maintained with steadiness during the three days which succeeded our advices of 30th ult. Yesterday, on the arrival of the Liverpool steamer to 21st of same month we made the signal of a heavy decline, more especially on such stocks as were largely held on speculation, and among which we may name as conspicuous the shares of the Erie and of the Reading Railroads. The rapid depression of some of the securities affected by sympathy in a lesser degree most of the Stocks. Considering the tone of the news from London and Paris, the calmness of which might have been expected rather to impart more confidence, it is difficult to account for the demoralization which, for a while, took possession of the Stock Exchange. In the hands of the substantial proprietary of commerce, and of a money market which, in spite of the heavy drain towards more demand, gives no sign of serious stringency outside of the circle of Stock operators. It is an evidence of the excessive sensitiveness of our Stock market, in consequence of a combination of specie export, and of the gradual contraction which, as a measure of precaution our Banks are obliged to follow up. The enormous fluctuations which have taken place in many cases, have been, in a great measure, the result of forced sales to liquidate contracts. It may be remarked, however, that the European demand for American Stocks is almost entirely suspended, whilst the last steamer brought some few purchs for sale. Missouri 6s are the only State Stocks which were actively dealt in, and, under the accurate presenting on the market, they declined 2½ per ct. With but very limited business, we quote a decline of 1½ on Tennessee 6s, and of 1½ on Virginia 6s, and 1 per ct. on North Carolina 6s. The other State Stocks the quotations were not very important. Money rather in better demand, at 7 per ct. for short loans and 9 to 12 per ct. for paper, according to class and maturity. Time contracts on Stocks are made at differences of from 12 to 18 per ct. Exchanges on Europe are firmer. Prime bills on London, 108 to 108¾; Paris, 5.20 to 5.18¾.
