An Old German Commits Suicide.

HE HUNG FROM A GAS FIXTURE.

The Washouts on the Railroads Being Rapidly Repaired—Other Interesting Items.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Coroner Meredith held an inquest upon the body of George Hiltenan, alias Schleigh, a German about 50 years of age who committed suicide by hanging himself earlier in the day. From the testimony it was learned that Hiltenan, who had roomed at Mrs. Regina Ziegenfuss' lodging house at No. 159 South Los Angeles street for several months during the summer, returned there on Tuesday last and was assigned to room No. 24. Although out of work he was apparently in good spirits and health, but he was not a very communicative man and very little was known of his private affairs. Yesterday morning he arose early and went out, but returned again unnoticed by the inmates of the lodging-house. At noon Mrs. Ziegenfuss went upstairs, brush and dust-pan in hand, to clean up the rooms and make the beds, but on opening the door of room No. 24 she saw the lodger hanging and screamed for assistance. One of her roomers, a railroad man named P. B. Moran, was on the stairway at the time. On hearing his landlady's scream he rushed up the stairs, and she managed to gasp out the account of what she had seen, and he stepped into the room. Hiltenan's body was suspended by the neck from a gas-pipe in the room by a piece of clothes-line. His neck was broken and the body was cold, as if it had been there for some time.

The Coroner and police were notified as soon as possible, and Officer Houston was dispatched to the house to cut the body down. An investigation of the room showed that Hiltenan must have cut a piece of rope sufficiently long for the purpose from a coil which was found in the drawer of the washstand. From marks upon the table it was evident that he had drawn it from its place under the gaspipe, stood upon it, and hitched his rope securely by a couple of half hitches, close to the ceiling, leaving the noose hanging loose. Getting down again, he had returned the table to its place, drawn a chair under the noose, stood upon it, placed the noose around his neck, drawn it tightly under his left ear, and jumped into the great "beyond." Death must have been instantaneous, as the cervical vertebræ was dislocated.

Two German laborers, named C. W. Kriebs and John Braun, testified that they had known him for over six years past, and that he was nicknamed "Gray Horse" among his companions because of his gray hairs. His name, they said, was Schleigh, and he had worked as a cement sidewalk paver and finisher for some time past, but of late had been out of work. They last saw him on Monday night at a saloon on Main street, at which time he was sober and apparently in good spirits. He had worked for Mr. Moulitor, on Adams street.

J. W. Wescott, the proprietor of a little grocery store next door to the lodging house, stated that on Sunday last Hiltenan bought a 5-cent loaf from him and asked permission to eat it in the store, as he was hungry and too proud to eat it on the street. Permission was accorded him and the grocer's wife gave him a glass of milk and a piece of cheese, for which he appeared to be very grateful. On passing the store yesterday morning at sunrise he spoke to the grocer and remarked that it was a fine morning and a "lovely one for old people."

The jury, on hearing the facts as stated above, returned a verdict of suicide by hanging.

Mr. A. Geiger, a cement-sidewalk contractor, called at the HERALD office last night and stated that Hiltenan had worked for him for several years, and, being a skilled mechanic, had always given him satisfaction. Owing to the decline of business he had not employed him lately, but had promised him work at the beginning of the new year. Mr. Geiger scouted the idea that Hiltenan had committed suicide on account of poverty, as he knew that he had money, and even should he be without ready cash, he had plenty of friends who would have advanced it to him at his request. He was of the opinion that Hiltenan was temporarily deranged, and in support of this theory stated that about four weeks ago Hiltenan was sandbagged and robbed out on Adams street, at which time he received two nasty blows on the head. He has never been the same man since the robbery, and his friends are confident that these blows were the cause of the mental aberration which caused him to take his own life.

THE WASHOUTS.

Mail and Express Coming in—Lines Open Tomorrow.

The Santa Fe Railway Company now formally announces that all its lines will be open and in running order by Thursday of this week, and that it will receive freight for all points on that day. With a few transfers, all the lines in this system will be open today.

Yesterday trains ran on the Santa Fe between San Bernardino and San Diego by the Temecula route, and between San Bernardino and South Pasadena. Seven tons of mail, local and overland, of the last three days got into Pasadena yesterday. It was the intention of the company to send out wagons after the mail and the fifty-five pieces of baggage which came in at the same time, but as the roads are still bad, and as it was learned that the bridge over the river is now about completed, it was decided to let things remain as they are until today, when a train can be run in from Pasadena.

A great many people visited the river yesterday to see how the work on the bridges was progressing. The gang of men who are cribbing at the Santa Fe bridge above Buena Vista street had a large crowd of spectators. By nightfall the piers were completed, and a track will be laid across this morning. A train will be run out in the course of the day. As soon as the pile driver, which has been at work repairing the Ballona bridge, can be dispensed with there it will be brought down to start in on the work of rebuilding the bridge across the river in a permanent fashion. The cribbing is satisfactory for temporary use, but should a violent storm come on it would all be swept away. If the rain will hold off a few days more permanent repairs can be effected.

A train will probably get through the Cajon from the East today. Yesterday passengers were transferred through, having to walk only a short distance. These were the members of the eastbound party which left here last Tuesday and got only as far as San Bernardino.

Omnibus loads of passengers were sent to Pasadena yesterday to go East on the afternoon train.

The San Diego line will be open today with a transfer at Rivera. The 250 passengers from the East who were caught the other side of the Cajon last Monday, got into East Los Angeles yesterday afternoon and were brought over in omnibuses. They completed the distance into Los Angeles at about 6 o'clock—a week later than they had expected when they left Kansas City. With them came a quantity of mail which had collected at Barstow during the three days that they waited there before starting back to Albuquerque.

By Wednesday noon the Southern Pacific will be in operation in all its branches. Number 18 will leave for San Francisco at 1:40 p. m., and No. 19 will leave San Francisco for this city today at the usual time of 6 p. m., and will arrive here Wednesday afternoon at 4:10—barring unexpected delays, or set-backs in the work of repairs.

A regular through train from the East got into East Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific yesterday at 4:30, the Monte bridge having been completed and all the washouts repaired. The bridge over the river completing this connection was finished late last night—a temporary structure over which trains can move. The pile drivers having finished work on the upper bridge will begin work here today.

A force of 100 men has been sent down to the Santa Ana branch and it is hoped to have that open tomorrow or next day.

An east-bound train left East Los Angeles yesterday afternoon at 6, and an accommodation train will run up to Saugus this morning. The Santa Barbara division is still in a bad way and no trains can run for a day or two.

The Scott-Marble Franchise Revoked—Other Matters.

The City Council yesterday took action on the franchise granted about a year ago to L. F. Scott and J. M. C. Marble, as agents for the Los Angeles, Salt Lake and Atlantic railroad, for a right of way through this city. The agreement entered into involved, on the part of the city, the placing of deeds to certain pieces of property in escrow, and on the part of the company the paying for the construction of a part of the approaches to the bridges under which the track was to pass, the putting in of a levee on the east side of the river, and the beginning of work on the line within a year.

It appears that the city failed to fulfill its part of the contract, for the deeds for the property were never placed in escrow. It therefore becomes a matter of doubt whether the city can call upon the holders of the franchise to fulfill their part of the contract, and in default of their doing so revoke the franchise. This appears to be the view of the case taken by the holders of the franchise. Messrs. Scott and Marble were seen yesterday, but they declined to make any comment on the action of the Council. It is quite evident, however, from the unconc
