THE ROUTES LAID OUT

Plans For Free Mail Delivery.

WHOLE CITY INCLUDED

Twelve Carriers Will Handle the Postal Matter--Employes' Salaries Raised.

The Postoffice Department is gradually establishing the proposed boundaries for the free carrier system which Mr. M. M. Flint, the Postoffice Department inspector, expects to install here before fall. Louis Kenake has drawn the lines of the carrier district, commencing at Governor Dole's beach residence at the base of Diamond Head, Waikiki. Thence the line runs around the Moiliili road to Beretania street, thence up to Castle's residence in Manoa valley, thence along the base of the ridge around the slopes of Punchbowl, taking in the Portuguese colony.

From this point the line extends along the Pauoa road, where it cuts into Nuuanu street. The system will take in both sides of Nuuanu valley as far as the reservoir, thence down Wyllie street to Liliha street around the mauka side of Kapalama to the fertilizer works, thence to Iwilei and the entire waterfront from Iwilei to Diamond Head.

This is a comprehensive system for the free delivery of mail and one which the authorities here expect will answer for all purposes. Inspector Flint has already written to Washington asking that authority be sent here to appoint twelve mail carriers or give him authority to commence civil service examinations for the positions. The sooner he can get started on this project the better, he says, for as soon as the examinations are concluded the applicants who stand the highest will be given their districts and mail pouches and the door-to-door delivery will commence. The salaries attached to the position is $900 for the first year and $800 for the second year. Those carriers who have to use a horse and wagon will receive allowances, as also the men who use bicycles.

Since the advent of M. H. Flint, the Honolulu postoffice has undergone many changes—radical changes—in the operation of the mails. There is one feature of the change which Uncle Sam has inaugurated which appeals to the employes of the postoffice, and that is the rearrangement of their salaries. Mr. Flint is preparing the pay rolls for forwarding to Washington, and in many cases increases have been made. In no case has a salary been reduced. This is the most important change that the employes have noted.

TENNIS TOURNEY NEXT NOVEMBER.

Hawaiian Association Plans For the Games in the Fall.

A meeting of the Hawaiian Tennis Association was held yesterday afternoon, five delegates being present—two from the Pacifics and three from the Beretanias. After passing over routine matters it was decided to hold the Fall Tournament in November, commencing on Wednesday, the 7th.

There will be ladies' doubles and gentlemen's doubles, and four trophies will be offered by the Association, two for each event, to become the property of the couple winning them three times. These trophies, which will be cups of handsome design, will be purchased in San Francisco by Mr. G. P. Wilder who leaves for that city by the Australia.

It is certain there will be many spirited contests as most of the best players have already signified their intention to enter. Rumor has it that there will also be several entries of Coast players who will be sojourning here at that time, so local players are cautioned to look to their laurels.

W. F. Dillingham, who will be back from Harvard in about a fortnight, is also expected to enter, and will doubtless be able to show much of his old time brilliancy at the net. It is certain that the intervening months before the date set for the tournament will be ample time to allow of the players getting into good trim, and the cool and bracing air of the fall should be an extra incentive to good work. Announcement will be made very soon of the date of opening of the entries.

LOVES THE WATERFRONT.

Nine-Year-Old Paakaula Will not Attend to His Books.

Paakaula, a nine year refractory Hawaiian youth, was sent to the Reform School yesterday for six months. This is the second time the little fellow has "done time" in this school. He was released a short time ago after serving a year's probation therein, but has proven so unruly that his parents again applied to have him put back.

Paakaula loves the waterfront more than the school room and his mother stated she had no control whatever over the youngster. "Big" Jim Kupihea found the boy on the waterfront yesterday morning and brought him at once before the Judge.

CURE FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM—NEVER KNOWN TO FAIL.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—Mrs. Curtis Baker, Bookwalter, Ohio. In Honor of Judge Judd.

At 10 o'clock this morning the Supreme Court will meet in special session to receive the resolutions of respect to the memory of Chief Justice Judd that have been prepared by the Bar Association. They will be presented by Paul Neumann and several other prominent attorneys will also speak, so it is probable that there will be a large attendance of the legal lights of the city. A portrait of the late chief justice will probably be hung in the Supreme Court room.

ARCHBISHOP GIVES THE LIE.

Resents Imputation That His Church is Negative.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, June 27.—At a teachers' conference held here yesterday Dr. Saldana, a member of the Insular Board of Education, in an address remarked that the Catholic religion should be introduced into the public schools of Porto Rico.

Dr. Campos Valladaros, a Portuguese Presbyterian Superintendent of Public Instruction in Brazil, took exception to these remarks, and, turning to Bishop Block, the Archbishop of Porto Rico, said in substance that the Roman Catholic Church had been negative in results in all the South American countries, asserting that the illiteracy prevailing there was due entirely to the church's influence. This remark caused great excitement.

Bishop Block jumped to his feet, and, striking the table with his closed fist, shouted: "It is a lie. I will not sit quietly and hear the church of which I am the representative in Porto Rico traduced in such language!"

After a painful silence by a common impulse the adherents of the Bishop shouted as with one voice: "Long live Catholicism!" and the incident was closed, although it aroused much feeling.

THE NEWS FROM NOME

Gambling, Suicides, Murders, Good Times and Shipwrecks.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—There are hard times ahead for the gold hunters at Cape Nome, according to news brought by the Zealandia, which returned from Nome yesterday. The night the Zealandia reached Nome 1500 men walked the streets looking for a bed and could not find one. "Bunk-houses" were making from $800 to $1000 a day. Restaurants were coining money. The gambling places were doing a thriving business. Suicides were of daily occurrence. Every man from Nome to York was afflicted with what is known as the "Sitka cough." The smallest coin in circulation was a two-bit piece. Little or no mining has been done, as the gold hunters have been afraid to leave their town lots for fear they would be jumped. Shooting scrapes were frequent and might was right. The women have become better shots than the men and they keep the larder supplied while their husbands guard the claims. So far all the lightering at the gold fields has been done by the Pacific Steam Whaling Company. The other concerns had not succeeded in getting their plants in operation when the Zealandia was there, and in consequence the entire welfare of the camp depended upon the whaling company.

A private letter which came down on the Zealandia from Captain Humphries of the whaling company describes the situation as follows:

NOME, Alaska, June 15, 1900.—Since writing you my last letter, which was sent out on the Portland, this great (?) city of Nome has grown to alarming proportions. The Oregon has arrived with some 600 passengers, the St. Paul with 500, San Blas with 500, Oregon 480, George W. Elder with 400 and the Tacoma with 300. The Alliance, South Portland, Ranier and Signal, the barge Dewey, in tow of the Luella, and the schooner Seven Sisters, also the steamship Sadie and Annie M. Fay from St. Michael have arrived.

The Sadie reports that the Thrasher arrived at St. Michael a few hours before she sailed and will leave immediately for Nome, with a full load of passengers, and it is reported there are 4000 passengers at St. Michael waiting for a chance to reach this place.

NUMEROUS ACCIDENTS.

Reports of accidents, and serious ones, arrive daily. To-day I have the report of the loss of the brig Pitcairn, which was crushed in the ice off St. Lawrence. The steamer Ranier picked up some passengers in an open launch at sea off St. Lawrence and reports the total loss of the bark Hunter, which was crushed in the ice near St. Lawrence Island. The Nome City, which was in company with the Ranier, returned to St. Lawrence Island for the wrecked passengers. The schooner Eclipse was also crushed in the ice and the whereabouts of the crew is not known. The bark Hunter, which was without food, boarded the schooner and took her stores previous to the time of her being wrecked. The steamer Grace Dollar was stove in the ice and is now beached near Sledge Island. These are the reports of the day and, on the whole, can be relied upon.

The streets are full of people at all hours of the day and night and the beach is strewn with tents, so that it is impossible to land cargo from the steamers which I am discharging. The steamship Senator has arrived, or did arrive yesterday, and has discharged her passengers and baggage, but today a heavy surf is running and it is impossible to do anything. I also discharged the steamship San Blas, which sailed this morning, June 15, for St. Michael. Also discharging the George W. Elder. I also discharged the steamship Portland, which sailed for San Francisco, and steamship Dora, which sailed for St. Michael. The harbor is full of shipping, the city is crowded with people and suicides are of common occurrence. Thousands of people have ventured here with the same old idea in their minds that they could pick up gold in the streets, only to be sadly disappointed.

The steamship Ohio arrived yesterday with 680 passengers and smallpox on board. Lieutenant Jarvis took the matter in hand and has ordered the Ohio into quarantine at St. Michael.

As I think I have stated the beach is strewn with tents and it is impossible at the present time to get room enough to land the cargo on the beach. I have seen the commissioner and asked him if he could not clear that beach and give me a chance to land the cargo of these steamers and he has appealed to the lieutenant in charge of the military, who has refused to assist him, but he is trying to accomplish something at all events.
