The style is clear, the spirit is kind, the reasoning careful, and the argument conclusive; and although RELIGIOUS they are not SECTARIAN, but are such that would induce many persons to attend places of worship. We are persuaded that this book will render more good than any book of Sermons or Lectures that have been published in this Nineteenth Century."

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE, 1859.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE, now more than eighteen years old, which was the first journal in the world that appeared regularly on an imperial eight-page sheet at so low a price as two cents, and which has attained the unparalleled aggregate of more than 200,000 subscriptions, respectfully solicits a share of patronage which the Metropolitan Press is hereforeth to receive. It asks especially the patronage and active favor of REPUBLICANS—of those who hate all forms of oppression, and desire that every human being shall be free to employ his faculties in such innocent manner as he shall deem best—of those who would extend Liberty and limit Slavery; but it further appeals likewise to all who look and labor for the return of National thrift, plenty, prosperity, through the Protection of American Industry by wisely discriminating duties on Imports—all who favor National Progress through internal development and melioration rather than by external aggression and extension—all who would rather have the National resources devoted to the construction of a railroad to the Pacific than to the purchase or conquest of Mexico, Nicaragua or Cuba—all who would retrench radically our present inordinate Federal expenditures by abolishing or immediately reducing the Army and Navy, and expending the money thus saved on works of beneficence which will endure to bless our children—all who profoundly realize that "RIGHTEOUSNESS EXALTETH A NATION," and that no real advantage can ever accrue to any person or community from acquisitions or successes achieved by means which contravene the laws of Eternal Right. The free allotment of limited portions of the Public Lands to Actual Settlers thereon, and every hopeful plan intended to diminish the sum of human misery from dearth of employment of inadequate recompense—every scheme especially that seems to help the unfortunate by enabling and teaching them to help themselves—must command our earnest sympathy and cooperation.

During the past year, THE TRIBUNE has provided itself with a new and faster Press, at a cost of $20,000, merely that some of our subscribers may receive their papers a mail earlier than they otherwise might do. With correspondents at the most important points throughout the civilized world, and a staff of writers chosen from among the best in the country, we believe that even those who dislike the political tone of our sheet concede to it frankness in avowing its convictions and ability in maintaining them. We appeal, then, to those who believe that an increased circulation of THE TRIBUNE would conduce to the political, intellectual and moral well-being of the Republic, to aid us in effecting such increase. As we employ no traveling solicitors of subscriptions, we ask our present patrons in every locality to speak to their neighbors and friends in our behalf; we shall gladly receive from any friend lists of those who would receive and read a specimen copy of one of our editions, and shall be particularly grateful to those who may send us such names from post-offices at which we have now no subscribers. Whatever additions may thus be made to our circulation shall be paralleled by increased efforts and expenditures to make our issues more valuable and useful than they have hitherto been.

We employ no traveling agents. All that it is necessary for you to do in order to become a subscriber to THE TRIBUNE is to inclose the money to us, and forward it through the Post Office. Friends who cherish the principles we advocate, and who desire to have full and reliable intelligence from all parts of the world, will act as our agents in getting up clubs and forwarding subscriptions.

When you order THE TRIBUNE, be careful to give the name of the Post-Office, County and State, to which you wish the paper sent. And when you change your residence, and desire your paper changed accordingly, state the name of both Post-Offices—that where you have been receiving it, and that whereto you wish it sent in future.

When convenient, send a draft or check, made payable to our order, in preference to sending bills, as it will prevent the possibility of the loss of money by mail. Notes or bills, however, may be sent at our risk, when you preserve a description of the bills and take a Postmaster's receipt to show that the money has been mailed.
